Hitler Puts O. K. On Jewish Boycott

VICTIMS APPEAL TO HINDENBURG TO CURB NAZIS

Drive Under Way; Shops Raided.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 29.—Chancellor Hitler today put his seal of approval on the proposed National Socialist boycott of Jews in Germany, which is scheduled to begin officially at 10 a. m. Saturday. At a meeting of the cabinet the Nazi chieftain declared:

"The Jews of the world must recognize that the campaign they are waging against Germany in foreign countries has hit the German Jews themselves."

He indicated that the Jews in Germany have virtually become hostages whose ability to earn a living will depend on the government's interpretation of the attitude of foreign countries. The premier told the cabinet that it was necessary to make this an organized effort because otherwise the people would have resorted to their own devices, which might have assumed an undesirable form. By organising the campaign, he said, acts of violence can be avoided.

Jewish Press Backs Hitler.

While the boycott hung like a sword of Damocles over 600,000 Jews and hundreds of thousands of half-Jews in Germany, the Jewish press sought to appease the government by indorsing its attitude. The Jewish Berliner Tageblatt and the Frankfurter Zeitung said that foreign countries are organizing an anti-German campaign for the sake of "weary business men who fear German competition" and are camouflaging it behind a supposedly pro-Jewish campaign.

The Jewish Vossische Zeitung reminded the government that the Jews had served the fatherland in peace and in war and painted a black picture of the annihilation which threatens Jews if the boycott is enforced.

The Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, a Nationalist organ, said the boycott would hit innocent and guilty alike and urged the government to withdraw it should the "campaign against Germany have abated by Friday." It reminded the government that 12,000,000 Germans living in foreign countries might suffer from the reaction.

Appeal to Von Hindenburg.

The National Association of German Jews appealed to President von Hindenburg, pointing out that Jews fought for Germany in the world war and lost 12,000 dead out of a population of 500,000. The association protested that German Jews have done everything in their power to combat the anti-German propaganda in foreign countries. The appeal said:

"German Jewry is deeply convulsed by the boycott proclamation of the National Socialist party. Because of the misdeeds of a few, for which we are not responsible, it is now proposed to expose to economic ruin those German Jews who with all their hearts feel themselves bound up with the fatherland.

"The reproach that we have injured the interests of the German people deeply wounds our honor. We solemnly enter a protest against this charge and trust the president and the government of the reich will undertake such steps as will further insure us our right to a livelihood in our German fatherland."

Nazis Smash Shop Windows.

Meanwhile, the boycott has already begun in many parts of Germany. Jewish shop windows were smashed by Nazis in Emden, Goettingen and Muenster. This evoked an official warning that such losses would not fall on the Jewish owners of the shops but on the German insurance companies, "thus wantonly destroying German national wealth." A Woolworth store at Muenster was not molested after it hung out a placard announcing that Woolworth is not Jewish and does not work with Jewish capital.

Thousands of Nazis demonstrated outside the courthouse in Goerlitz, demanding the removal of Jewish judges and lawyers. Several of these judges and lawyers were placed under "protective arrest." At Wernigerode storm troopers closed Jewish stores, while at Eberswalde tar was smeared on Jewish shop windows.

Four Jewish lawyers were arrested at Frankfort-on-Main. They included Prof. Hugo Sinzheimer of Frankfort university, former police president of

THE FIGHT FOR REAL TEMPERANCE

Two men were found guilty of the murder of policemen by separate juries in the Criminal court last night and the punishment of each was fixed at life imprisonment. The verdicts were returned an hour apart. They were hailed by prosecutors as a warning to gunmen against the killing of policemen.

The men convicted are Arthur Lavac, 40 years old, of 1535 Elmwood avenue, Berwyn, father of three children, and Harry Severino, 21 years old, of 1532 South Kilbourn avenue. The state had asked death in the electric chair for both men.

Lavac Convicted First.

Lavac was found guilty first. He was tried before Judge Rudolph Desort for the slaying of Policeman Frank Svec of Berwyn last Dec. 12. Lavac shot Svec and Policeman Edgar Chatterton when they sought to arrest him in his home for keeping his children away from school. Chatterton, like Svec, died of his wounds. An indictment is pending against Lavac for Chatterton's murder.

Lavac's 11 year old daughter, Marian, testified in his defense. She asserted that Policemen Chatterton and Svec fired first at her father. She also declared they had not identified themselves as policemen and that her father in shooting had merely defended himself. The jury debated for three hours before reaching its verdict. The prosecutor in the case was Assistant State's Attorney James A. Brown.

The Case of Severino.

Severino was tried before Judge James F. Fardy for the murder of Policeman Martin Knudson of the Austin station. Knudson was slain while resisting the robbery of a newspaper circulation depot at 878 North Trumbull avenue on Feb. 5, 1932. One of the bandits, James J. Stewart, was killed by the policeman.

Severino was arrested later in New York. On the witness stand he denied that he knew his companions intended to rob the depot.

Assistant State's Attorneys John L. Murphy and Thomas Dillon argued that Severino was a robber. The jury returned its verdict after four hours.

A third man accused of killing a policeman is now on trial before Judge Harry A. Lewis in the Criminal court. He is Jerry Kane, 31 years old, charged with the murder of Policeman Frank J. Cunningham of the Maxwell street station during the holdup of a speakeasy at 2025 Laflin street last July 4. Kane's case is expected to go to the jury today.

DRUG STORE ON N. SIDE WRECKED BY BOMB BLAST

A dynamite bomb explosion wrecked the front and interior of Elmer and Edward Tischer's drug store at 3601 Broadway shortly before 3 o'clock this morning. The entire area near the store was rocked by the blast.

Police of the Town Hall station, which is a block away from the scene, said that apparently the bomb had been thrown through the front window to a spot near the center of the store and exploded by a long fuse. A woman was found who heard a crash of glass a short time before the blast. A hole 6 inches in diameter was blown through the cement floor which is 6 inches thick. The damage was estimated at $5,000.

5 Bandits Take Stand in Street; Rob 3 in Succession

Five armed men last night established a robbery headquarters on the sidewalk at Lorel avenue and Fulton street. They first held up O. S. Johnson, 236 North Lorel avenue, and took $1.50 from him. Next to come along was Dr. Harry Horner of the Central Plaza hotel at 321 North Central avenue, who was relieved of $100. A third victim was Miss Grace Haley, 4736 West End avenue, who gave up $2. Then, leaving the robbed trio to condole among themselves, the bandits drove away in an automobile.

Pirates Raid Ship in China; Nab 4 Britons

NEWCHWANG, Manchuria, March 29.—(AP)—In one of the most daring raids in recent history, Chinese buccaneers kidnaped four British officers today from the British merchantman Nanchang while the vessel was waiting for the high tide at the Newchwang bar.

J. R. Robinson, skipper of the Nanchang, immediately turned the vessel about to pursue the pirates, at the same time sending out an alarm by wireless. The pirate junks, however, escaped in the shallow waters.

British gunboats at once started a search for the pirates and the victims —W. E. Hargraves, A. D. Blue, F. L. Pears, and Charles Johnson.

Recalls Mrs. Pawley Abduction.

The kidnaping recalled the recent abductions by Chinese bandits of Mrs. Kenneth Pawley and Charles Cockran, also British subjects. They were captured last fall and arrived in Newchwang on Oct. 20 after having been in the custody of the kidnapers for 44 days.

Fourteen pirates on two small junks boarded the Nanchang and, firing their rifles and pistols wildly, ordered the Chinese crew to show them the officers' cabins. From the cabins the buccaneers drove their four victims at the point of their guns.

Then the officers were bound and thrown over the side into the waiting junks, which are large vessels having lug sails. Meanwhile the pirates looted all the cabins on the Nanchang and wounded two of the Chinese crew in so doing.

Escape in Shallows.

Before Capt. Robinson and the chief engineer were able to restore order and get their vessel under way the pirates had a head start, which enabled them to reach the shallows where the Nanchang could not follow.

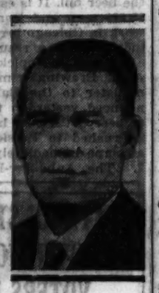
The British vice consul, D. H. Clarke, who was in charge of the negotiations regarding Mrs. Pawley and Cockran, left Mukden for Newchwang.

[Newchwang is 25 miles north of Yingkow. The ransom paid for the release of Mrs. Pawley and Cockran was about $32,500, 250 pounds of opium, and a supply of winter clothing. The original ransom demand was much higher. Their release was affected by a captain of the Japanese gendarmerie and a Japanese patriotic association called the Seigidan.]

COURT FORBIDS OFFICIALS TO ENFORCE LAW

Night Session Gives the Decision.

Edwardsville, Ill., March 29.—[Special.]—Circuit Judge Jesse Brown of Alton tonight issued a temporary injunction restraining state officials from the collection of the state sales tax passed by the present session of the Illinois general assembly.



JUDGE JESSE BROWN.

The order is directed at Joseph J. Rice, the state director of finance, State Treasurer Martin, and State Auditor Barrett. It enjoins them not only from the spending of money in collection but also from all efforts to make merchants pay the tax. The state's attorney, sheriff, and superintendent of schools of Madison county are instructed not to receive any funds raised through the sales tax, which was scheduled to go into effect April 1.

The application for an injunction was made in the name of Irving Winters, president of the H. L. Winters Lumber and Planing Mill company of Alton. He also is head of an association of merchants opposed to the sales tax. Representing him were Frank G. Thompson of Mount Vernon, former state's attorney of Jefferson county, and State Representative I. H. Streeper III. of Alton.

Argument Made in Hotel.

Appearing before the judge in a room at the Vanzo hotel here, the two attorneys argued briefly that the law as passed was unconstitutional, and the judge issued his order. He set a hearing for arguments to make the injunction permanent for April 8.

Associated with Attorneys Thompson and Streeper were State Representative Leroy M. Green of Rockford and Roscoe Forth, former state's attorney of Wayne county, who were not present. The application for injunction was filed at about 11 p. m. with the clerk of Judge Brown's court, and the action on it was taken a few minutes later.

What Petition Alleges.

It alleges the tax law "deprives man of the necessities and the liberties of life" and does "not comply with the constitutionality of the collection of revenues as set forth by the statutes of Illinois."

The taxes provided by the law are excessive and are not uniform, the petition set forth.

Mr. Streeper said that the injunction was statewide in its application and that a strong effort would be made to have it made permanent. No bond was required of the applicant.

The attack on the constitutionality of the measure, which had the approval of opponents of the tax all over the state, has been particularly pushed in twenty-eight southern counties.

It is understood that the present injunction, designed to beat the tax if possible, was rushed through with the intention of forestalling a friendly injunction proceeding which state officials were preparing to push through quickly for an early determination of the validity of the law by the state supreme court.

To Impound Money Paid.

State officials, it is understood at Springfield, are reluctant to talk about what they will do on April 1 in view of the action by Judge Brown. It was indicated, however, that they would probably require that merchants collec the tax as ordered by the law and impound the proceeds.

Money would thus be collected for the tax and held by the merchants. In the event the state should win out it could then collect. In the event that the Winters plea of unconstitutionality should be upheld the collected tax money would have to be returned to the taxpayers.

MERCHANTS DEVISE PLANS

Two general plans of collecting the 3 per cent state sales tax have been adopted by merchants of Chicago. These are the price revising plan and the bracket system, first announced by the State street stores, whereby 1, 2 or 3 cents is added to the purchase price, according to the price bracket.

The State street bracket plan calls for the collection of 1 cent on pur-

Reforest Bill Passes House Amid Storm

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 29.—[Special.]—Steam roller tactics were required late today to pass President Roosevelt's reforestation bill over warring Republican house members bent on putting the Democratic house leadership on the legislative spot.

A point of order forced the Democrats to take a recess to rally their harassed ranks. They went to their safely controlled rules committee for an ironclad special rule by which the bill could be jammed through.

Passed Without Roll Call.

With the rule in force and the steam roller full steam ahead the bill was pushed to a final passage without the formality of a roll call.

It has passed the senate, but returns to that body because of a few minor differences. When these have been reconciled the measure will go to the President. His signature will give him power to use some 150 million dollars, out of unexpended appropriations for federal construction work, to give an estimated 250,000 idle men employment in the country's forests.

It was the first time that an administration measure had been brought up without the precaution of a rule to limit debate and keep the Republicans respectfully silent and in order. It turned out to be the first time that an administration bill had met so intensive an opposition.

The rancor of the Republicans aimed itself not so much at the bill and its provisions as at the Democratic leadership which heretofore has ruthlessly ruled the house.

Amendments Quickly Beaten.

The session started in orderly fashion. For a time it appeared that there would be no trouble. Amendments to the bill were offered only to be knocked down with clocklike regularity. But the chance to make their voice heard in a house populated two to one by Democrats was too good for the Republicans to pass up.

It was Representative Carrol Beedy [Rep., Me.] who started the trouble with a point of order against section 4 of the bill authorizing the President to use unexpended public works funds for his reforestation program. Armed with precedent and argument, Mr. Beedy protested that an appropriation could not be authorized by the house labor committee, which had jurisdiction over the relief bill.

Representative Ralph F. Lozier [Dem., Mo.] was in the chair, but the force of Mr. Beedy's precedent and argument left him no alternative. He was forced to sustain the point of order, which had the effect of removing the most important section of the bill—that providing money.

During the confusion Democratic leaders called first for a recess until tomorrow, then suddenly changed their minds and yelled to their followers not to leave the chamber. A ten minute recess was taken and the rules committee assembled.

When the house again came to order Representative William B. Bankhead [Dem., Ala.], chairman of the rules committee, brought up a special rule which held the objectionable section of the bill was in order and that all points of order against it and amendments to it were waived. Beaten, the Republicans let it go at that.

As a net result of the day's session the President's reforestation bill goes to a conference with the senate. There two amendments, inserted by the house, either will be removed or accepted.

Allows Buying of Realty.

One of these, offered by Majority Floor Leader Joseph W. Byrns [Dem., Tenn.] with the statement that he did so at the express request of the President, strikes out the Couzens amendment adopted in the senate. It gives the President power to purchase real property at his discretion, instead of limiting him, as in the Couzens amendment, to the purchase of property contiguous to land already owned by the government.

The other house amendment provides that in giving reforestation jobs to the unemployed there shall be no discrimination as to race, color, or creed. This amendment was sponsored by Oscar De Priest [Rep., Ill.], the only Negro member of congress.

AND LEFT BEHIND WERE 2 SCARED HALF TO DEATH

Pana, Ill., March 29.—[Special.]—An automobile nosed onto a New York Central crossing near here today just as a passenger train traveling 70 miles an hour arrived at the same place. The train stopped a mile down the track. The crew lifted an auto radiator and two wheels off the locomotive pilot and started back toward the crossing looking for bodies. There they found the remainder of the automobile, upright, its windows and windshield unbroken, but the radiator and wheels cut off as cleanly as with a knife. Inside were Thomas Rezinans and James Kirel of Shelbyville, unscratched and unbruised, but still speechless from fright.

PUSH BILL AHEAD TO LET COUNCIL APPOINT MAYOR

Democrats Win in Party Vote.

BY PARKE BROWN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 29.—[Special.]—Brighter prospects for the Chicago mayoralty bill, which was taken to a trimming yesterday, were pictured today after a second trial of strength in the Illinois house of representatives.

That trial came on the Graham bill, which was passed in the senate yesterday and was called up on second reading in the house. Its provisions are identical with those of the Adamowski house bill, which failed yesterday to show passing strength and was postponed. As a matter of tactics, the Democratic leaders decided that their next move should be to try the senate measure, which already had a flying start.

Each of the bills authorizes the Chicago city council to elect a mayor from within its membership or outside its ranks with all the powers of the office.

Hope for Emergency Strength.

A two hour battle over the Graham bill indicated that it had a minimum of 78 votes, one more than the majority required for its passage with effectiveness on July 1. But it did not show the two-thirds vote strength required for immediate effectiveness. But the 78 votes meant a gain of seven over the total cast for the Adamowski bill yesterday and the Democrats were much cheered. They predicted a final total tomorrow of two-thirds, or 102, out of the total house vote of 153.

This second vote was cast strictly on party lines. It came on a motion by Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski to table an amendment by Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg, Republican minority leader. The amendment was designed to require a popular election to fill the Chicago mayoralty chair, that election to be held not less than six months and not more than sixteen months after the death of Mayor Cermak.

Democrat Majority Lines Up.

The Democratic majority, broken up yesterday, solidified and cast 78 of its 80 votes against the Schnackenberg proposal, two of its members not voting. Anthony Pintozzi was absent and Sidney Parker was "somewhere out in the hall."

Similarly the Republicans, some of whom split away from their party ranks yesterday, voted en masse with Schnackenberg. They cast 69 votes for his amendment, only four short of their total, and those four were said to be absent.

This was far different from the situation on the Adamowski bill, which it was sought to kill with the silent treatment. At least fifty members, Republicans and downstaters of both parties, sat silently in their seats when that measure was up.

Strictly Party Line Vote.

Some of the oratory during the discussion was fervid, but it was conceded that the die was cast before the voting started. It was a straight up and down Republican vs. Democratic bout.

Adamowski and his associates pleaded that Acting Mayor Corr must have full power or the school teachers, policemen, firemen, and other employés of the city of Chicago will continue to go without pay. The Republican opposition contended that the passage of the bill would mean a distinct attack on the primary system.

The proponents of the measure met this charge with arguments that the cost of a primary and election under the present conditions would be folly and that the Schnackenberg idea of an election something like a year hence was ridiculous because of the brevity of the unexpired Cermak term at that time.

After Roland V. Libonati and William E. King, Chicago Republicans, had made fiery speeches in defense of the popular primary and election system, Grover C. Borders, East St. Louis Democrat, asked King whether he would make the same sort of speech if the council were heavily Republican instead of heavily Democratic. King replied in the affirmative.

"I doubt it," said Borders emphatically.

Republicans Discuss Issue.

Dennis J. Collins of De Kalb, one of the younger Republicans, declared that the financial interests of Chicago oppose the election idea because they are unwilling to spend the money for rival campaigns.

Richard J. Lyons [Rep., Mundelein] ... he would vote for the bill it it carried a guarantee that some man like Corporation Counsel Sexton would be the man elected, but he said there was no telling who might be elected and that, therefore, he was against the bill.

Following the Republican defeat on the Schnackenberg amendment "Rollie" Libonati moved to strike the enacting clause of the bill—a frequent method of slaughter. That was voted down on a viva voce vote and the same treatment was given to an amendment proposed by Robert M. Woodward [Rep., Chicago], which would have required the holding of an election within nine months on a non-partisan basis with nominations by petition.

The Roll Call.

The roll call, the motion being Adamowski's to table the Schnackenberg election amendment, was as follows:

Five Russian Trains Seized by Manchukuo Guards

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

TOKIO, March 29.—A serious incident involving the seizure of Russian trains by Manchukuo frontier guards is reported by the Nichi Nichi correspondent at Harbin. Yesterday afternoon, according to the correspondent, Manchukuo guards at Manchuli seized four trains bound for Russia as a protest against the conduct of the Russian managers of the Chinese Eastern railway. A freight train entering Manchukuo from Zabaikal was also held on the same pretext.

Printing Co. Head Fined as Copyright Violator

Joseph Priebe, head of the Priebe Printing company, 1644 Cortland street, yesterday was fined $50 by Federal Judge Evan A. Evans when he pleaded guilty to charges of violating the copyright laws. The conviction of Priebe was the first in Chicago in the nationwide campaign against "song pirates" being conducted by the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers. Priebe was prosecuted by Assistant District Attorney Edward A. Fisher.

$30,000 Allowed Receiver to Repair Hotel La Salle

Federal Judge Evan A. Evans yesterday signed an order authorizing Thurlow G. Essington, receiver for the Hotel La Salle, to spend $30,000 in repairing, renovating, and improving the hotel property and furnishings before May 1. In the petition for the expenditures the receiver said that greatly increased patronage is expected after that date.

BEER BILL FACES 57 AMENDMENTS IN ILLINOIS HOUSE

Action on Proposals Set for Today.

BY PERCY WOOD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Springfield, Ill., March 29.—[Special.]—Piled high on the desk of the clerk of the Illinois house tonight are 57 amendments to the beer bill, all making changes in the taxing and dispensing program which Gov. Horner and the committee on license and regulation believe is just.

Tomorrow, after it has disposed of the Chicago mayoralty bill, house members will tackle the Herculean task of voting these amendments "up or down." It is expected that some will be accepted and some rejected, but the belief is general that the administration program will prevail without much change.

Fatigued by other matters, the house was reluctant to take up these additional labors this evening, so it pushed them over until tomorrow. That promises to be a busy day. Besides the Chicago election bill and the beer problem, important sections of the Burns economy program will be on the calendar for passage.

Encouraged by Outlook.

Although it was not possible to vote upon these bills today because of the press of other business, proponents of economy in the government were heartened tonight over the action of the house committee on efficiency and economy, which gave a favorable recommendation to the Graham senate bill permitting Gov. Horner and his cabinet to put substantial savings into effect.

Senate bill 211, the measure at hand, allows reduction of salaries in departments by order of the directors. The governor has been quietly at work cutting down and eliminating jobs for some time and this bill would allow him to direct his cabinet to slice pay at will. Representative James T. Burns [Dem., Kankakee], who is working hard on a comprehensive program of savings, will probably handle this measure on the floor of the house.

Two Burns Bills Passed.

Two of the Burns bills passed this afternoon. They would impose a statewide scale of cuts of the pay on county superintendents of schools—including one for Cook county's superintendent from $12,000 to $7,500—and the salaries of park board secretaries from $5,000 to $4,000. Tomorrow, if the house can be held together after disposing of the mayoralty and beer bills, former Judge Burns will try to pass his bills reducing state officers and justices of the Supreme court.

Senate action included advancement to third reading of bills to liberalize the Illinois divorce laws. Pushed by the majority leader, R. V. Graham of Chicago, these measures would abolish most of the evils of the separate maintenance system and provide a law based on reciprocity in alimony payments. Sent from second to third reading, the bills will be at the passage stage next week, when Senator Graham indicated he would move that they be approved.

Blindness Measure Up.

Another measure which went to third reading in the upper chamber was the prevention of blindness bill, which passed last session but was vetoed by Gov. Emmerson. This bill would make mandatory the washing of newborn babies' eyes with a weak solution of silver nitrate to prevent a common form of blindness.

Opposed by the Christian Scientists, whose spokesman today was Senator James J. Barbour [Rep., Evanston], the bill went to third reading on a roll call which showed that 29 members favor it. Fourteen were against it. Since it requires only 26 votes for final passage, the bill's success seemed assured. It is believed that Gov. Horner will regard it sympathetically.

Nearly Million Cases of Beer Ready in Chicago by April 7

The bottling of beer began in earnest yesterday as Chicago's seven breweries were planning to meet the flood of orders calling for immediate delivery after 12:01 a. m. April 7. Four breweries, those of the Atlas, Prima, the United States and the Schoenhofen companies, are now bottling, and the other three expect to begin by Saturday. By April 7 the breweries expect to have almost a million cases ready.

The hope that the reception for legal beer will not be disorderly, giving the drys a chance to say "I told you so" and hampering the chances of repealing the 18th amendment, was expressed by Anton Laadt, general manager of the Atlas company.

Force Beer on Nobody.

"We are not forcing beer upon anybody," said Mr. Laadt. "We should prefer to wait until the next day to start making deliveries. But the public demands it and we must give service. We have so many orders from hotels, clubs, and restaurants calling for immediate deliveries that we must begin at 12:01 o'clock. We are hoping that the celebration will be orderly and that if some people who cannot wait get drunk on whisky and gin the result will not be blamed on beer. We are not worried about the beer, for it is nonintoxicating."

H. F. Ernst, president of the Prima company, said he did not believe there would be any more drunkenness than usual and that if there is any drunkenness it should not be blamed on beer.

Estimate 15,000 Get Jobs.

Employes of the United States brewery, 2600 Elston avenue, decorated the building with flags and bunting and placed a huge picture of President Roosevelt over the entrance. This was to express their appreciation of being put back to work. There were 300 on the job, as compared to fewer than 75 before the passage of the beer bill. It is estimated that about 15,000 men and women have received work in Chicago breweries and related industries as a result of the beer bill.

Charles J. Vopicka, founder of the Atlas Brewing company and former minister to the Balkan states, announced yesterday that the first case of beer bottled by his company would be rushed to President Roosevelt by airplane immediately after 12:01 April 7. The Anheuser-Busch brewery of St. Louis and other nationally known concerns also will send the first case to the President.

Although the breweries have not fixed definite prices on their products because of the uncertainty of pending tax and licensing legislation, both state and city, they are already soliciting home delivery orders at prices prevailing upon delivery. Chicago representatives of the Pabst and the Schlitz breweries of Milwaukee are soliciting home delivery orders at a maximum price of $2.60 a case. Tentative prices mentioned by salesmen for the Chicago breweries are as low as $2.40, but all prices are subject to change upon delivery. It is generally agreed, however, that they will be no more than $2.60 and no less than $2.40. A deposit of $1 for return of the bottles will be required upon delivery.

A new pretzel factory has been opened by Paul Boaman & Sons at 953 North Cicero avenue, and 25 girls were busy there yesterday, each bending and tying 60 pretzels a minute.

Refuses Earlier Start.

The plea of Congressman Fred Britten that Chicago be permitted to set its clocks one hour ahead, so that its celebration could begin simultaneously with New York's, was turned down yesterday by Attorney General Cummings. Other requests of hotel keepers that they be permitted to move in the beer under bond prior to April 7 and of out of town brewers that they be permitted to ship their beer here and store it in warehouses are expected to meet a similar fate.

Chicago hotel men will discuss prices of beer, deliveries and general celebration plans at a meeting this afternoon in Hotel Sherman.

The first application for a permanent brewery permit was received by E. C. Yellowley, supervisor of permits, from a Green Bay, Wis., concern yesterday. A temporary permit granted to a Peru, Ind., company brought the total now authorized to make beer in the district to 33.

The Women's Christian Temperance union plans no court test of the constitutionality of 3.2 beer, but will launch an educational campaign against its consumption at the national convention in Milwaukee, city of breweries, June 30. This was announced yesterday by Mrs. Margaret C. Munns, national treasurer.

STATE CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION UP TO VOTERS NEXT YEAR

Springfield, Ill., March 29.—[Special.]—The house today approved a senate resolution calling for the submission of the question of calling a constitutional convention to the voters at the next general election. The question will therefore be proposed on the ballot Nov. 4, 1934. Gov. Horner does not have to give approval or disapproval to the resolution, and it thus becomes mandatory.

The resolution went through the house with votes to spare. It drew 112 affirmative votes and only five negative tallies. Those opposing were Henry F. Scarborough [Rep., Payson], Harry M. McCaskrin [Rep., Rock Island], Clinton Searle [Rep., Rock Island], R. G. Soderstrom [Rep., Streator], and Harris B. Gaines [Rep., Chicago].

2 Trapped by Flames Are in Critical Condition

James Patterson, 64 years old, and his wife, Fannie, were in a critical condition last night in the county hospital from burns. They were trapped early yesterday by flames in their home at 4528 South Raymond avenue, Berwyn, and were rescued by Arnold Kelliher of Western Springs, a truck driver, who carried them down a ladder from a second story window.

AGAIN PUTS U. S. FIRST IN DEATHS DUE TO VIOLENCE

New York, March 29.—[Special.]—The United States again led the civilized nations of the world in 1932 in the number of homicides and murders, according to Dr. Frederick B. Hoffman, statistician, whose survey on the subject is published in the Spectator, an insurance periodical. The Chicago rate was 12.8 and that of New York 8.0.

Eight cities, all in the south, showed a record of more than 40 for each 100,000 of population, with Memphis, Tenn., leading with a record of 54.2.

"The victims in most cases were negroes," Dr. Hoffman said.

Basing his conclusions on reports from 180 cities in the United States, Dr. Hoffman found that the rate of 10.8 per 100,000 of population did not vary from that of 1931. While the returns for the year are not yet complete, actual figures for the five years beginning in 1927 and ending with 1931 show that 51,206 persons in this country met death by homicide.

Analyzing the returns from the 180 cities studied, Dr. Hoffman found that in 70 the rate had increased.

Ohio House Passes Beer Bill; Ready for Governor

Columbus, O., March 29.—(AP)—The Ohio 3.2 per cent beer bill, previously passed by the state senate, was passed by the house tonight with an emergency clause making the bill effective upon signature by the governor.

MARKET OPENED BY BEER RETURN OVER 55 MILLION

Much New Equipment Is Made Necessary.

New York, March 29.—[Special.]—The prospective return of 3.2 per cent beer has opened a 55 million dollar market the country over for building and decorative products, food and beverage service equipment, according to a preliminary survey made here. In addition it has or will shortly provide 12,000 new jobs in that one trade.

While hundreds of breweries throughout the country are doubling shifts to keep pace with advance orders, restaurant and club managers are finding it necessary to modernize their entire service facilities.

Much Modernization Needed.

Approximately 83 per cent of the better hotels and restaurants are already modernizing or definitely planning to modernize or create new taproomes and grills. Food service equipment, in many instances, must be reorganized. In other instances existing food and beverage units will enter legitimate operations for the first time, requiring a new environment with the necessary expenditure for building and decorative products.

After a careful survey, the Ahrens Publishing company, publishers of Hotel Management, Restaurant Management, and the Hotel World-Review, estimates that at least 12,000 modernizing jobs will arise from these sources.

Aids Refrigeration Trade.

Bearing out the results of this survey comes a statement from William S. Shipley, president of the Refrigerating Machinery association, a national organization of refrigerating machinery manufacturers, who says that potential new business to be derived in the next three to five years because of the return of beer can be estimated at $40,000,000, or more than $8,000,000 a year.

PARKER TO TEST OFFICERS' SKILL HERE ARMY DAY

Maj. Gen. Frank Parker, commanding officer of the Sixth corps area, announced yesterday that a map problem involving a field army will be set up at corps area headquarters, 1819 West Pershing road, to be worked by high ranking officers of the regular army, National Guard, and reserve corps of Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin on Army day, April 6.

The field army will be commanded by Gen. Parker, and the visiting and local officers who will be engaged in the problem will function exactly as if they were commanding troops in the field.

Following the problem the visiting officers will attend the Army day banquet at the Stevens hotel, where Gov. Horner, Gov. William A. Comstock of Michigan, and Gov. Albert G. Schmedeman of Wisconsin will be Gen. Parker's guests. Gov. Horner will speak.

SENATE ACTS TO END CONTROL OF MEDICINAL RUM

Passes Bill to Remove All Restraints.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 29.—[Special.]—Prohibition was driven another step backward today when the senate passed the Copeland bill removing the present restraints upon the prescription of medicinal liquors.

The measure went through without debate and without a roll call. So swiftly was its passage accomplished that the drys were unable to rally their forces for opposition. Ten minutes saw the bill called up by Senator William H. King [Dem., Utah], considered and sent over to the house, where concurrence is declared certain.

Senator Morris Sheppard [Dem., Tex.], extreme dry, took the floor to launch another prohibition speech. Senator Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader and erstwhile dry, demanded an explanation of the bill, only to have Senator King explain smilingly that they were too late. The bill had been passed with that dispatch with which the senate sometimes relieves its usual habit of lengthy debate.

House approval is taken for granted, since a similar bill was passed by the house during the last congress, only to die unacted upon on the senate calendar.

The bill passed today removes all present restrictions as to the quantity of spirits and wine which a physician may prescribe and permits the prescribing of such quantities as are medically indicated.

CROWDS STORM IRISH REDS' HALL; SET IT ABLAZE

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

DUBLIN, March 30.—[Thursday.]—Crowds of young men attacked Connolly hall, headquarters of the communists here last night and, after a fight, set the building ablaze. The attacking crowds approached the hall singing hymns.

A party of 14 communists within the hall met the attack with a fusillade of stones and slate. Some shots also were fired from the building. Seventeen of the attackers, as well as some of the policemen protecting the hall, were injured. After exciting rushes by the crowds, lasting nearly three hours, the communists retired to the roof of the building. They remained there while the attackers forced their way into the hall, demolished furniture and seized pamphlets.

The top story of the building then was set ablaze, and the fire was quenched only with great difficulty by the Dublin fire brigade. While the building was blazing the communists escaped to an adjoining building. They were smuggled away later in ambulances.

"Bomb" in Mail! It's Only a Beer Mug for Roosevelt!

Wilmington, Del., March 29.—(AP)—A heavy, carefully wrapped package addressed to President Roosevelt caused a bomb scare in the Wilmington postoffice. Handling the bundle gingerly, an employé carried it to Postmaster Abrahams, who, seeing his duty, opened it—and removed a one pint copper beer mug. It was repacked and forwarded to Washington.

PROTEST BILL TO CURB TRUCKS AND BUSES AT SENATE HEARING

Springfield, Ill., March 29.—(AP)—Protests against the senate bill to restrict the length and weight limits of trucks and buses were made at a committee hearing tonight by representatives of the Illinois Highway Users' conference. A group of witnesses contended the proposed law would increase the price of milk, coal and other products, throw thousands of persons out of work, and make obsolete large numbers of truck and trailer equipment now used.

Buried in Abandoned Mine 100 Hours; Rescued Alive

Mount Carmel, Pa., March 29.—(AP)—Buried in an abandoned mine for more than 100 hours, John Cheslock Jr., 28, was rescued alive tonight. Chilled and weak from his long imprisonment under a fall of rock, Cheslock was wrapped in blankets and rushed to a hospital.

BEGIN BALLISTIC TEST OF GUNS IN 2 FILM SLAYINGS

Oser Inquiry Widened to Include Kaufman Death.

The state's attorney's investigation of the slaying of Fred Oser, rebel member of the motion picture operators' union who was killed last Friday in the private office of Thomas E. Maloy, czar of the union, was widened last night to include the murder two years ago of another operator who had fought the Maloy régime.

The victim of the earlier slaying was Jacob Kaufman. He was murdered June 20, 1931, on the eve of a scheduled appearance before the grand jury to testify concerning Maloy's rule. Because circumstances in both slayings were shown to be similar State's Attorney Courtney ordered ballistic tests made to determine whether a pistol found beside Oser's body had been used in the earlier killing.

Test O'Hara's Weapon.

A second pistol which Ralph O'Hara, chief lieutenant of Maloy, has confessed he used to kill Oser was also ordered turned over for similar tests. Both weapons and the bullets which caused Kaufman's and Oser's death were sent at once to Calvin Goddard, ballistic expert. Goddard's first tests showed that the two men had not been killed by the same weapon. Next he began to compare the bullets taken from Kaufman's body with the gun found beside the slain Oser, a task which he hopes to complete today.

The gun Oser is supposed to have used has been traced to a member of the operators' union known to be friendly to Maloy and O'Hara. It was originally purchased, the state's attorney's investigators have discovered, by Julius Dickstein, an operator in a loop theater, who says the weapon was stolen from him in the summer of 1931.

Draws Weapon from Coat.

According to O'Hara's story, Oser drew this weapon from his coat pocket and and threatened to kill O'Hara, who then fired in self-defense. Friends of Oser and also his family have told police that the dead operator had never owned a pistol. How the weapon came to be at the death scene therefore is still a mystery.

Meanwhile Assistant Prosecutor Charles S. Dougherty announced that his investigators had been able to trace the weapon used by O'Hara to kill Oser. It is a pearl handled pistol with a gold trigger and, according to O'Hara, was the gift of the late William Quesse, one time president of the janitors' union. The investigators said the gun originally had been sent from the factory to Frank Strubbe of Crystal Lake, said to be a moving picture operator.

Questioned yesterday Strubbe explained that Oscar Ryan of the stage hands' union had ordered the weapon shipped to his home. Ryan in turn told the investigators he had bought the gun for George Brown, business agent of his union, who was Quesse's lieutenant. Brown said the weapon was for Quesse.

Opposes Maloy Rule.

The similarity in the circumstances of the Oser and Kaufman slaying was pointed out to Mr. Courtney by Assistant Prosecutor Dougherty, who said that Kaufman had opposed the Maloy régime for three years before he was mysteriously shot.

A youthful gunman, immaculately clad in white flannels, killed Kaufman, who had gone into a garage at 9525 Princeton avenue to get his car. He had been discharged from his job as an operator the night before on orders of Maloy and he had notified the state's attorney's office of his willingness to tell what he knew of Maloy's domination of the operators' union.

After Kaufman's death a group of seven members of the union, including Oser, started a movement to oust Maloy. They sought the intervention of the national president of their organization and later of William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. Failing, they appealed to the courts, filing a petition in the federal court asking that a receiver be appointed for the union and that Maloy be compelled to account for the disbursement of its fnuds.

Start New Suit.

The federal court dismissed that suit and a new one was started in the Superior court, where a petition was filed, accompanied by an affidavit sworn to by Oser charging that Maloy had threatened to kill him. The affidavit also charged that Maloy had expelled the seven rebels from the union and had prevented them from working. The suit was before Judge John P. McGoorty a few days before Oser was killed.

Judge McGoorty sought to settle the trouble amicably and had the rebels and Maloy meet in his chambers. There Maloy invited Oser to come to his office and talk to him "any time" about reinstatement in the union, but Maloy was insistent that the suit be first abandoned. Oser and his associates refused.

Oser went to Maloy's office last Friday. He had told his wife, his brother-in-law and several friends that Maloy had appeared friendly in a telephone conversation which had resulted in an appointment to meet Maloy at his office at 2:30 p. m. Friday. Oser said, according to friends, that he believed Maloy was going to allow him to go back to work.

What happened after Oser was admitted to Maloy's private office in the union headquarters at 506 South Wabash avenue is told by O'Hara. The latter said that Oser drew a gun from his coat pocket and fired one shot. O'Hara then killed the operator.

Dickstein and his brother, who uses the name of Jack Dickson, were released from custody yesterday by the prosecutor's order. They, as well as Maloy, were subpoenaed to appear at the coroner's inquest Saturday.

Trio Robs 4 Chain Stores, Taking Total Loot of $218

Three bandits held up four chain stores last evening, getting a total loot of $218, two revolvers, and a $20 ring. They stole $35 each from the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company stores at 2300 Belmont avenue and 3601 North Damen avenue and $15 more from a store of the same chain at 1426 Irving Park boulevard. Next the gunmen held up the Royal Blue store at Francisco avenue and Cortland street. They robbed Alex Stern, the manager, of $133, the ring, and the revolvers.

Lack of Penitentiary Funds Saves Slayer from Chair

Little Rock, Ark., March 29.—(AP)—Woody Williams, Negro murderer, went on living today because there isn't enough money in the penitentiary fund. Williams was to have died yesterday for killing a grocer's clerk. A recent law ordered the electric chair moved to the Tucker state prison farm. The law specifically said that there were to be no more electrocutions here. The penitentiary fund, however, contains no money to move the chair. So Gov. Futrell reprieved Williams.

ROOSEVELTS AND GUEST TAKE QUIET DRIVE ALONG POTOMAC ROAD

Washington, D. C., March 29.—[Special.]—The President of the United States left his White House this evening. He got into the front seat of his wife's blue roadster. Hall Roosevelt, his brother-in-law, took the wheel. Two women came out to the curving path. Miss Marian Dickerman, president of Todhunter school, where Mrs. Roosevelt taught, climbed into the rumble seat. Then the first lady of the land, waving aside any assistance from the astonished Ike Hoover, chief usher at the White House, swung quickly up beside her friend in the rumble seat.

Away they went, without policemen or sirens; just four citizens out to see the sights in an open roadster. They drove around the speedway down by the Potomac river; they saw the Washington monument and the Lincoln memorial. When the stoplight flashed "red," they stopped and waited. For the traffic cop had no idea who they were.

PERU SUBMITS LETICIA DISPUTE TO WORLD COURT

PARIS, March 29.—(AP)—Peru has laid before the world court a charge that Colombia has failed to observe the Salomon Lozano treaty. The note was sent to the court by Francisco Garcia Calderon, Peruvian delegate to the league of nations.

By the Salomon Lozano treaty Peru ceded to Colombia the Leticia territory in the upper Amazon valley.

Last September Peruvian Nationals, who charged that Colombia had not observed other articles of the treaty, ousted Colombian officials and took control of the village of Leticia, located in the southern part of the territory. Since that time there have been several skirmishes between Peruvian and Colombian forces in the region.

U.S. ENVOY MEETS M'DONALD TODAY; TALK ECONOMICS

May Hold World Parley in Washington.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 29.—Norman H. Davis, American ambassador at large, who disembarked at Plymouth from the liner Manhattan today and came to London late tonight, has an appointment to meet Prime Minister MacDonald at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning.

It is believed Davis will convey a message from President Roosevelt inviting MacDonald to visit Washington to talk things over, particularly arrangements for the world economic conference. The American envoy admitted today he would take up the venue of the parley during his visit.

The conference is slated to be held in London and it is hoped here that it will open about the middle of May, but it is reported that President Roosevelt would like to have it in Washington. The British are said to be not unwilling to fall in with this plan.

Denies He's Debt Messenger.

Davis landed at Plymouth weighted down with conferences, he said.

"I have come in connection with the world economic conference as well as the disarmament conference," he declared. "But since the disarmament conference has adjourned until after Easter, I am free now to discuss arrangements for the world economic conference."

He declared that his London visit has nothing to do with war debts and that he is not a messenger for President Roosevelt carrying a reply to whatever Ambassador Sir Ronald Lindsay may have said on debts in Washington. The President has shown he has a voice loud enough to speak for himself, Davis said in reply to a suggestion that he would be regarded as the "President's voice" in England.

Members of the American Chamber of Commerce of London at a banquet tonight applauded the marquess of Reading when he urged the United States to pitch in and help drag the world out of its mess. Speaking to business men whose primary interest is cultivation of a satisfied market in Great Britain, Lord Reading found a responsive audience for the contention that the United States needs an export market as much as Great Britain.

French End Debt Payment Talk.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 29.—Joseph Paul-Boncour, minister of foreign affairs, in a speech before the foreign affairs committee of the chamber of deputies today, effectively blocked a move to embarrass the government by again bringing up in parliament the question of paying the $19,261,432 debt installment due the United States.

The payment was recommended in a resolution by Deputy Rene Richard, member of the government majority, as "a friendly gesture toward the United States in a time of crisis," but Paul-Boncour made it clear that Richard's plan was a matter of home politics in which he tried to put the cabinet in a tight spot. The chamber's committee saw his point and tabled the measure.

Limited Fusion on Judges Gains Favor Among Leaders

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Limited coalition on a bench ticket for the June 6 judicial elections seemed to be growing in favor yesterday among Democratic and Republican committeemen. Negotiations between party leaders, however, have been halted pending the settlement of the battle at Springfield over legislation for the election by the city council of a full term full power mayor to fill the unexpired term of the late Mayor A. J. Cermak.

Politicians in both parties yesterday, after scouting among the lawyers, got the impression that the Chicago Bar association referendum now being taken will instruct for an independent bar ticket in case the political parties should put up a full coalition ticket containing the names of six circuit judges who failed to get indorsement in the bar primaries last month. The voting is to finish tonight and the politicians see prospects of a battle in case a fusion deal should be made that would slate all the retiring judges for reelection.

May Agree on Bar Candidates.

As affairs stood last night, inner circle negotiations were still at the point where the idea was being advanced that limited fusion might be agreed upon which would give coalition on the seven Democratic and five Republican judges of the Circuit court who were indorsed by the bar association.

This, it was declared, depends upon what action is taken at Springfield upon the bill proposing a change in the election law which would permit the name of a candidate to be printed in more than one place on the ballot. If passed, it would enable the Republicans to put up a full ticket for the 20 Circuit court judgeships which would include the seven Democratic judges indorsed by the bar primaries, while the Democrats could nominate a full ticket and include the five Republican judges recommended by the bar primaries. The names of these twelve would then appear on both tickets on the ballot.

Uncertain as to Bar Losers.

As to the six judges who were disapproved in the bar primaries there is much dispute in both parties. If they are embraced in any coalition between the two parties, an independent bar ticket is envisioned by the politicians and a hot battle. The six judges against whom the bar association is directing its activities, subject to the referendum vote which closes tonight, are Judges George Fred Rush, Michael Feinberg, David M. Brothers, and Stanley H. Klarkowski, Republicans, and John R. Caverly and Harry M. Fisher, Democrats.

TWO ARRESTED IN JOB "INSURANCE" CONFIDENCE GAME

Two men charged with operating a confidence game and with selling insurance without authorization were arrested in Racine, Wis., yesterday as a result of an investigation started by the district attorney, John Brown, who was aided by investigators for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE.

They are G. S. Paine, 36 years old, and F. R. McFarland, 33 years old. A third man said to be implicated with them, C. E. Dickensen of Milwaukee, is being sought.

The trio operated the Metropolitan Employment Assurance bureau with offices in a Racine hotel. Their plan was to collect 50 cents to $3 monthly from employed persons and to pay each one who lost his job six times the amount of the premium weekly. They advertised in newspapers for local managers, and about forty replied. Each of these, it is alleged, paid in money to the headquarters—a total of $1,165.

District Attorney Brown said there was no money in the treasury. It was learned that about 400 persons in Illinois, Indiana, Iowa and Wisconsin had purchased the "insurance."

AIRPLANE SIGHTS TWO AMERICANS LOST IN JUNGLE

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, March 29.—(AP)—W. A. Flowers and Harry Scott, Americans, who were lost Sunday on a flight to northeastern Nicaragua, were discovered today canoeing down the Cuculaya river, about 200 miles from here. A United States army amphibian plane from the Canal Zone will be sent to pick them up tomorrow morning.

Pilot Harold White of Chicago, chief pilot of an independent transport firm, first discovered the lost plane in a swamp 40 miles southwest of Puerto Cabezas and 30 miles west of the Atlantic coast.

He reported to Maj. R. C. Candee, commander of the army squadron and four planes were dispatched to the vicinity. One of them sighted the two men.

SUE MISS OTIS FOR $50,000 AS CRASH SEQUEL

The praecipes of two personal injury suits, each for $25,000, were filed in the Superior court yesterday against Miss Florence Otis, 2260 Lincoln Park West. The complainants are Edward E. Kleinschmidt, 2620 Deer Park drive, Highland Park, and his wife, Hilda.

Miss Otis was the driver of an automobile which collided on March 24 near Lake Bluff with a car in which the Kleinschmidts were riding. The accident occurred during a heavy snowstorm. Accompanying Miss Otis were Paul J. Anderson, 5900 Sheridan road, and Miss Barbara Senn, 1242 Astor street.

Miss Otis is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph C. Otis. Miss Senn is the daughter of Dr. William M. Senn.

COURT ENJOINS SALES TAX LAW IN NIGHT SESSION

Acts on Downstate Lumberman's Suit.

chases up to 33 cents, 2 cents up to 66 cents and 3 cents up to one dollar, with all excess tax collections going to the state for unemployment relief. Marshall Field & Co. announced a slight departure, planning to collect no tax on purchases up to 10 cents. It has been announced that all amounts collected by the State street merchants above 3 per cent will be turned over to the state.

Bracket Plan for Restaurants.

The bracket system was adopted by some 1,000 members of the Chicago Restaurateurs at a meeting last night. On food checks up to 35 cents 1 cent will be collected, 2 cents will be added on checks up to 70 cents, and 3 cents up to $1.

One of the largest drug chains tentatively adopted a variation of the bracket system whereby no tax will be collected up to 16 cents. From 17 to 50 cents the tax will be 1 cent, from 51 to 84 the tax will be 2 cents, and from 85 cents to $1 it will be 3 cents. The tax was corrected to the nearest cent, as in computing interest. This chain plans to collect less than 3 per cent on its gross sales and will make up the deficiency, charging it to the cost of doing business. Later tokens in denominations of ¼ cent may be adopted.

The cigar chains, after several conferences, adopted the price revision plan. Under the new schedules the gross receipts will be increased to a point where the 3 per cent tax can be paid by the companies. Cigars now costing 10 cents, three for a quarter, or five for 40 cents will be 10 cents, three for a quarter, or five for 42 cents. Cigarets now costing 12 cents or two for 23 cents will be 13 cents or two for a quarter.

Readjust Prices of Foods.

The retail food distributors, meeting at the Palmer house, voted to readjust their price schedules upward to cover the 3 per cent tax. This does not mean that all articles will cost more, but the average selling price of commodities will be slightly higher. Those pledging their support were the Chicago-Cook County Retail Grocers' and Butchers' association, Hillman's, I. G. A., Jewel Food stores, Jewel Tea stores, Kroger-Consumers' stores, Loblaw Groceterias, National Tea company, Retail Meat Dealers' association, Royal Blue stores, Stop and Shop, Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company.

Representatives of the newspapers will confer today with Joseph J. Rice, state director of finance, on methods of collecting the tax.

It's Too Much Trouble to Leave Auto for Wedding

Charleston, W. Va., March 29.—[Special.]—"We're not much on ceremony," said Anthony B. Poling, 61 year old farmer of the Phillippi district, when they drove up to the parsonage of the Rev. G. M. Turner, "just come out to the car."

The pastor did, and stood on the curbing and married Poling and Miss Mary B. Phillips, 47, as they sat in the rear seat of Poling's automobile.

A friend, serving as chauffeur, paid the pastor and then drove off.

Nathanson Held to Grand Jury in Woman's Death

A coroner's jury yesterday recommended that Dr. Frank Nathanson, 3846 Madison street, be held to the grand jury on a charge of murder by abortion. The charge grew out of the death of Mrs. Ruth Baccus, 40 years old, of Stockton, Ill., in the physician's office on Jan. 20. Dr. Nathanson was not present at the inquest and it was reported he had gone to Texas. In the earlier part of the investigation he had declared Mrs. Baccus died naturally.

Isaac Zinn, 48 year old newsboy of San Diego, Cal., arrived in Chicago yesterday aboard a United Air lines plane on a trip to New York, which he paid for with 30,000 pennies collected at his newsstand. He arrived in New York last night with a message from Mayor John Forward Jr. of San Diego to Mayor O'Brien of New York.

Sentence Postal Robbers to 25 Year Prison Terms

Ralph Chesa, 28 years old, and Charles Witt, 23 years old, found guilty of robbing the postal substation at 6931 Irving Park boulevard, were sentenced to serve 25 years each in Leavenworth prison yesterday by Federal Judge Charles E. Woodward. The judge took under advisement Witt's request that he be given a stay of execution in order to marry Miss Marie Sheehan, 2947 Arch street.

PLAN TO COUPLE BILLS ON FARM AID, MORTGAGES

New Program Announced by Senator Smith.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 29.—[Special.]—The administration farm relief bill and an administration bill to refinance farm mortgages will be coupled together in the senate and emerge from congress as a single measure, according to the plans announced by Ellison D. Smith [Dem., S. C.], chairman of the senate agricultural committee.

Whether the refinancing bill is added to the relief bill in committee or later on the senate floor will depend on how quickly President Roosevelt sends the former measure to congress with a request for its passage. program was recently sent to the house by Secretary of Agriculture Wallace.

Amendments Defeated.

An all day session by the committee on the relief bill was spent in thrashing out the details of the measure. At the end of the day no major amendments had been adopted and two attempts to write important amendments into the bill had been defeated.

Considerable discussion was had concerning the possibility of including in the bill not as a substitute but as an alternative power to be given the secretary, a price fixing scheme such as that proposed by John A. Simpson, president of the National Farmers' union, or possibly on the lines of the Clair plan. In both plans prices would be fixed for that portion of the farm crop devoted to domestic consumption.

Constitutionality Attacked.

The committee encountered difficulty with the section of the bill granting authority to the secretary to levy compensatory taxes on commodities in competition with basic commodities which would be subject to processing taxes under the bill. The constitutionality of the measure as written was considered highly questionable.

In the senate a farm re-financing bill was introduced by Senator William G. McAdoo [Dem., Cal.]. The bill would set up a United States farm mortgage bank, which would take over all government agricultural credit facilities and which would exchange its bonds, bearing interest at not more than 3½ per cent for farm mortgages.

DAY IN WASHINGTON

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

House passed administration's reforestation unemployment relief measure which goes back to senate for action on amendments.

President Roosevelt recommended to congress federal regulation of new security issues, and bills to that end were introduced.

Governors' oil conference adopted report requesting federal supervision of that industry.

Senate passed bill to lift existing limit on liquor prescriptions and District of Columbia committee approved bill to permit sale of 3.2 per cent beer and wine in capital.

Secretary Hull and state department economic expert conferred with Ambassador Lindsay of Great Britain on world economic conference.

LASKER TO HEAD GROUP IN JEWISH CHARITIES DRIVE

Albert D. Lasker, chairman of the board of Lord & Thomas, was chosen yesterday to head a citizens' committee of 500 who will back the Jewish Charities campaign which opens on April 10. Alfred K. Stern will act as general chairman of the campaign.

A rally at the Hotel Sherman on April 9 will be a preliminary to the opening of the campaign. At this meeting guests will be informed of the plans to raise $1,605,000 needed to maintain the Jewish Charities during 1933.

"At present we are caring for about 75,000 Chicago Jews," Mr. Stern said. "These include dependent children, the aged, the ill, and thousands of destitute families."

Among those on the committee are Mrs. Julius Rosenwald, Mrs. Samuel Alschuler, Mrs. Barney Balaban, Mrs. C. K. Corsant, Gerson B. Levi, Max Adler, Abel Davis, Max Epstein, Milton S. Florsheim, Sol Kline, Ira Nelson Morris, and Fred Uhlmann.

$500,000 Graham Love Suit Set for Trial May 18

Trial of the $500,000 suit against Architect Ernest R. Graham and Thomas McGuire, private detective, in which Mrs. Alma Newton Anderson, a widow living at the Croydon hotel, charges libel, was set for May 18 yesterday by Judge Harry B. MEXICO TO EXILE 20 REDS FOR RAID ON U. S. EMBASSY

MEXICO CITY, March 29.—(AP)—Several alleged communists have been arrested for an attack on the American embassy last Friday night in protest against the appointment of Josephus Daniels as ambassador to this country. They will be deported to the penal colony on Tres Marias island.

Police did not disclose the identity of the communists. It was understood that some of the prisoners were involved in student riots last week. Penitentiary officials confirmed that they were holding 20 communists for transfer to Tres Marias island, but they did not reveal exactly how many were involved in the Daniels demonstration.

The police policy was to consider the embassy rioting as a matter to be handled secretly.

Luckies Please!

Fujiyama, the eighth wonder of the world

In every corner of the world, both here and overseas, wherever you find joy in life, 'tis always "Luckies Please"

First in character... first in mildness... first in smoking pleasure

Among smart, cosmopolitan folk, you'll hear of Luckies in many languages—but the meaning is always the same—"Luckies Please!"... For people the world over want a cigarette with Character...and Mildness. Lucky Strike's rich, delightful Character comes from that mellow, balanced blend of fine tobaccos.

And—these splendid tobaccos are truly mild! Because every fragrant shred is "Toasted". For these two reasons—Character and Mildness—"Luckies Please!"

because "It's toasted"

PRESIDENT ASKS LAW TO GOVERN SECURITY SALES

Punitive Measure Next on [illegible]evelt Program.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 29.—[Special.]—The bill President Roosevelt submitted to congress today for the regulation of the sale of securities to investors represents, it was learned tonight, the initiation of an ambitious program to prevent the recurrence of the excesses of speculation that culminated in the stock market crash of 1929.

This measure is to be followed by another, now being drafted by Samuel Untermyer, which aims at the punishment of officers of stock and commodity exchanges, banks, and other corporations for what the President terms "unethical and unsafe practices" in dealing with buyers of securities and commodities.

In particular this proposed legislation is intended to reach short selling and other manipulations of a corporation's stock by officers of the corporation and other breaches of fiduciary responsibility, such as have been exposed by the senate banking and currency committee's investigation.

Seeks Grain Supervision Also.

Mr. Roosevelt also contemplates asking legislation providing for government supervision of stock exchanges and a more extensive supervision of trading on grain and other commodity exchanges.

Finally, the President will move for a thoroughgoing reorganization of the country's banking system on lines designed to minimize the number of bank failures, of which there have been 10,000 in the last decade. This bill is to provide for the separation of commercial and investment banking and to compel the divorce of banks and their security selling affiliates.

"What we seek," said the President in a special message to congress accompanying his security selling bill, "is a return to a clearer understanding of the ancient truth that those who manage banks, corporations, and other agencies handling or using other people's money are trustees acting for others."

Outlines Legislative Goal.

Recommending "federal supervision of traffic in investment securities in interstate commerce," Mr. Roosevelt said in his message:

"In spite of many state statutes the public in the past has sustained severe losses through practices neither ethical nor honest on the part of many persons and corporations selling securities.

"Of course, the federal government cannot and should not take any action which might be construed as approving or guaranteeing that newly issued securities are sound in the sense that their value will be maintained or that the properties which they represent will earn profit.

Urges Full Publicity.

"There is, however, an obligation upon us to insist that every issue of new securities to be sold in interstate commerce shall be accompanied by full publicity and information, and that no essentially important element attending the issue shall be concealed from the buying public.

"This proposal adds to the ancient rule of caveat emptor the further doctrine, 'Let the seller also beware.' It puts the burden of telling the whole truth on the seller. It should give impetus to honest dealing in securities and thereby bring back public confidence.

"The purpose of the legislation I suggest is to protect the public with the least possible interference to honest business.

Only One Step in Program.

"This is but one step in our broad purpose of protecting investors and depositors. It should be followed by legislation relating to the better supervision of the purchase and sale of all property dealt in on exchanges, and by legislation to correct unethical and unsafe practices on the part of officers and directors of banks and other corporations."

The bill was referred in the senate to the judiciary committee, which will begin its consideration tomorrow, and in the house to the interstate commerce commission, which will hold hearings on it beginning Friday. Democratic leaders commended the measure and predicted its speedy passage.

The bill prohibits the use of the mails, newspapers, or any other instrument of interstate transportation or communication to offer securities for sale until there shall have been filed with the federal trade commission a statement giving prescribed information regarding the securities to be offered for sale.

Complete Data Required.

In the case of domestic securities it requires the names of the issuers of the stock, promoters, trustees, officers, etc., the amount of paid up capital, the numbers and types of shares with the description of their respective voting rights, dividends, profits, the amount of funded debt, a balance sheet showing a detailed list of assets and liabilities, a statement of the amount of the issuers' income, expense, and fixed charges during the preceding fiscal year, the plan of the proposed issuer, the price offered to the public, all bonuses, commissions, and the amount returned to capital investment, together with the names of all of those composing the syndicate.

In the case of the securities issued by foreign governments the American representatives shall state the purpose, date, and terms of the loan, the underwriting agreement, members of the syndicate, bonuses, commissions, and amount to be returned to the foreign government, the security pledged with the loan, and the general financial condition of the borrowing government and whether it has ever defaulted on principal or interest on any security sold in the United States, together with the proposed method of distribution and price of the security as offered here.

Rights May Be Revoked.

The commission is authorized to revoke the registration of domestic securities. Some of the grounds stated are insolvency of the issuer, violation of the act, previous or present engagements in fraudulent transactions, fraudulent representations in advertising the security.

The bill assumes that all purchasers rely upon the representations contained in the statement and makes all the signers of such statement jointly and severally liable to the purchasers for damages in event of any material misrepresentation contained therein. Misrepresentations in the statement or advertising when made with the knowledge of their falsity will subject the signers to the federal fraud and perjury laws.

Certain securities are exempt from the terms of the act, such as those issuing under the federal government and our states, or the subdivisions of the federal or state governments.

Penalties for violation are fixed at a fine of not more than $5,000 or five years in jail, or both.

NEW YORK JEWELER KILLS SELF AFTER BIG FLORIDA THEFTS

New York, March 29.—[Special.]—Ralph Krakower, a middleaged New York jeweler through whom Harry Sitamore is declared to have "fenced" the precious stones he stole so liberally in Florida resorts, committed suicide today in his apartment at 1815 Riverside drive.

Mrs. Dora Krakower found her husband's body in their bathroom this morning. Beside it lay an empty pill box, with no label. The police decided he had taken poison.

"My darling loved ones," read a note he left, "please forgive me for the terrible deed. I was the innocent victim of this arch thief who wrecked my life and I must leave you to bear up as bravely as you can. May God bless you and keep you well and I pray for his mercy. You were the sweetest and best wife a man was ever blessed with and I failed you at a time when life was sweetest. My last thoughts are of you and the children. Again I pray for your forgiveness. Lovingly, Ralph."

The police revealed that Krakower had been held in bail as a receiver in the Sitamore case.

Sitamore was arrested March 15, in a Miami Beach bungalow where he had concealed more than $500,000 worth of stolen jewels.

Force Man, 80, to Reveal Where His $7,650 Is Hidden

Centralia, Ill., March 29.—(AP)—After strangling their victim into telling where he had his life's savings hidden, two men last night robbed Andrew Scheriger, 80 year old retired farmer here, of $7,650.

SEEK EXTENSION OF TIME TO FILE TAX COMPLAINTS

While several thousands taxpayers thronged the county building yesterday to file complaints against their 1931 real estate assessments, the Chicago Real Estate board sought an injunction to restrain the board of tax appeals from closing the acceptance of complaints today.

The statutes provide that complaints may be filed for thirty days after the penalty date on the first installment of taxes, and that the board of appeals shall hear the complaints before the second installment is due, so that any deductions which it grants taxpayers may be made from the second installment payment.

The penalty date this year was fixed by statutes on March 1, but County Treasurer McDonough extended it to March 15. The legislature is expected to validate his action.

The appeals board announced that it would consider today, 30 days after the present statutory penalty date, as the deadline for filing complaints. The real estate board contends that the deadline should be extended to April 15 in accordance with the new penalty deadline.

The injunction petition will be heard today by Judge John P. McGoorty in the superior court.

The state tax commission held a closed session all day yesterday, at which it heard Assessor J. L. Jacobs and the members of the tax appeals board, Fred W. Brummel and George F. Nixon, give their views on the board's order reducing 1931 assessments on homes and small flat buildings by 15 per cent of the building valuation. The assessor has refused to comply with the order on the ground that it is illegal.

The hearing will be continued today.

ENGINEER IS BLOWN FROM HIS CAB, THEN RETURNS TO TRAIN

Elmira, N. Y., March 29.—(AP)—Blown out of the cab of a locomotive while the Atlantic express, a fast Chicago-New York train, was running down through the hill lands of southern New York tonight, Engineer Walter C. Fredericks of Hornell lived to rejoin his train an hour later.

The express ran more than five miles until stopped by the fireman.

First information that anything was wrong with the train came when the engineer, grimy, cut and bruised, ran into a farmer's house at South Corning.

"We were running past South Corning at about 35 miles an hour," the fireman said, "when there was a burst of steam which blew downward into the firebox.

"Steam, water and live coals were blown out into the cab, and I ran up on the tender and stayed there until the steam blast was nearly over. When I climbed back into the cab I saw for the first time that Fredericks had disappeared. I stopped the train."

PAROLE EX-HEAD OF INVESTMENT CONCERN IN ELGIN

Residents of Elgin learned yesterday that Walter C. Rippberger, former head of an investment company there which failed with a total loss of more than $1,000,000, has been paroled from Joliet penitentiary and is now residing in Detroit.

Rippberger, now 42 years old, was sent to prison in May, 1926. He was to serve sentences of one to fourteen years for forgery, one to ten years for larceny by bailee, and one to three years for accepting money as a banker after insolvency.

Warden Frank Whipp of the penitentiary said that Rippberger was a model prisoner and had been on the honor farm for several months before his release. He was at one time head of the prison X-ray department.

CHILE STIRRED BY 'MYSTERY' VISIT OF U. S. WARSHIPS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SANTIAGO, Chile, March 29.—The presence of "two mysterious warships" off the Chilean coast Sunday morning created a flutter here when it became known today.

The warships turned out to be the United States 10,000 ton cruiser Indianapolis and the destroyer Babbitt, which, according to reports from the northern town of La Serena, were seen off Point Langua de Vaca, four miles from the naval harbor, Tongoy.

Neither the Chilean government nor the United States embassy were aware of the visit and both are awaiting further information. It is understood the ships were merly engaged in a trial dash in south Pacific waters.

IRISH FREE STATE ACQUITS TWO OF "SPY" CHARGES

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, March 29.—(AP)—Col. George Hogan, an army officer, and Inspector William O'Connell of the headquarters staff of the civic guard, today were acquitted of charges of violating the official secrets act. They were arrested on Feb. 17 and arraigned on six counts.

The contents of documents said to have been seized when the men were arrested were never officially made public.

Col. Hogan is a brother of Patrick Hogan, former minister of agriculture.

GENERAL SHOOTS SELF IN RUMANIAN ARMS SCANDAL

BUCHAREST, Rumania, March 29.—(AP)—Gen. Anton Popsaku, commander of the first Rumanian army corps at Craivon, shot himself through the head today when he received a summons to appear at Bucharest for questioning in connection with the Skoda arms scandal. He probably will die. The general has been mentioned in connection with charges that there was heavy bribery in the disbursement of $75,000,000 appropriated for the purchase of guns and ammunition from the Skoda ammunition plant in Czechoslovakia.

RUSSIA REBUFFS ENVOY'S PLEA FOR JAILED BRITONS

Accuses Britain of Using 'Diplomatic Pressure.'

MOSCOW, March 29.—(AP)—Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff has inferentially accused Britain of attempting "harsh diplomatic pressure" in connection with British subjects arrested on sabotage charges involving the operations of the British-Metropolitan Vickers Electrical company, an official communique revealed tonight.

The communique told of a call made by Sir Esmond Ovey, the British ambassador, at the foreign office yesterday "to acquaint the foreign minister with steps the British government intends to take if the soviet government places on trial several British subjects charged with sabotage."

Mr. Litvinoff did not wait for the ambassador to explain the measures contemplated by Britain, the communique said. Instead he told the ambassador that the government's decision to try the case "cannot be changed, and if the British government intends to influence this decision by informing us of its intended measures, then the ambassador may rest assured that nothing will come of it."

Explanation Not Given.

The foreign minister remarked that "matters such as attempted harsh diplomatic pressure from the outside might be successful in Mexico, but in the Union of Socialist Soviet Republics they are doomed to failure beforehand."

Sir Esmond formerly served as Britain's diplomatic representative at Mexico City.

After the foreign minister had made his remarks, the communique said, "the ambassador did not insist on explaining the British measures."

Sir Esmond confined his comment on Mr. Litvinoff's reference to Mexico to this: He pointed to a large silver cigaret case on his desk, inscribed "To my friend, his excellency, Sir Esmond Ovey," and signed "Gennaro Estrada." Estrada formerly was Mexican foreign minister.

Cabinet to Make Statement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 29.—The cabinet at its regular weekly meeting today considered the situation arising out of the arrest on charges of sabotage of the six British engineers of Metropolitan Vickers Electrical company in Russia.

A statement is to be made in the house of commons tomorrow in which it is believed Great Britain will announce its decision to break trade relations at the expiration, April 17, of the treaty with Russia unless the Britons are released without trial.

A DOG WATCHES WATCHMAN AND SOLVES ROBBERY

Albert Hiller, 28 years old, 4821 West Huron street, suffered an attack of elastic conscience last Saturday morning.

As an operative of a watch service it was his duty to guard the cigar store of Dora Feinberg at 604 West Randolph street. On the other hand, his wife wanted $10. Hiller convinced himself he could watch the store's money better if it were in his own pocket. So he broke a plate glass window and took $10.

This ended the career of Burglar Hiller. Watchman Hiller then started off to report the burglary. His plot collapsed, however, when a dog belonging to Peter Bender, 740 West Madison street, watchman for a rival service, trailed him by scent to another part of his beat. There Bender put him under arrest.

Yesterday the story came out in the Felony court. Hiller, charged with malicious mischief, was placed on probation when he made restitution. Now he is looking for a job.

KIN OF MME. CURIE EXPERIMENTS TO ISOLATE ILLINIUM

PARIS, March 29.—(AP)—The search for the chemical element No. 61, missing from the atomic chart but identified in 1926 and christened illinium by Dr. B. Smith Hopkins of the University of Illinois, is being pursued by Pierre Curie, grand-nephew of Mme. Curie.

He and S. Takvorian, an Armenian student, are examining four tons of rare earth in an effort to isolate the element. They have reported to the Academy of Sciences that they have ascertained the existence of the element but were unable to extract any. They obtained only proof of its radio activity.

Their experiments consisted of an analysis of a mixture containing elements 60 and 62 in the course of which they got a radio activity ten times greater than either of those.

THREE ARE SHOT IN BATTLE OVER AN ELOPEMENT

Officer, Father, Husband All Wounded.

Bloomington, Ill., March 29.—[Special.]—A robbery suspect's desire for vengeance against his father-in-law and efforts of authorities to arrest him led to the wounding of three men, two seriously, in a fierce struggle in the Edward J. Maloney grocery, Normal, Ill., today.

Deputy Sheriff Charles E. Adams, 43, of McLean county was shot four times by Walter Brown, 24, Normal, after he had arrested the latter. Maloney, father of Helen Maloney, 16, with whom Brown eloped last Thursday night, was shot in the left hand four times when he seized Brown's pistol, to deflect the shots aimed at Adams.

Brown, wounded by Acting Deputy Sheriff Oscar W. Lane, Clinton, as he entered the store from the adjoining Maloney residence, had been relieved of one pistol by Lane. Brown was wounded in the head and chest and may die.

Handcuffed by Adams, Brown shook a second pistol from his sleeve and opened fire, the first bullet entering the deputy's back. Three other bullets struck Adams in the leg.

The wounded men were taken to a Bloomington hospital where Brown and Adams are in critical condition.

UPSET PLAN FOR INSTRUCTION OF POLLS OFFICIALS

Election officials in the north shore park district, which is to hold a special election next Tuesday to fill two vacancies on its board, were summoned to a meeting in the Rogers Park hotel last night by Hyman Kinzelberg, the board president. In a letter Kinzelberg informed them they must appear to "be qualified and to receive instructions."

At the meeting, however, Kinzelberg said that no instructions were to be given and that he only wanted to make sure the polls would be properly manned. A representative of the board of election commissioners, who was present but took no part in the meeting, asserted that the election board was the only body authorized to appoint or to instruct officers of election.

The Rogers Park hotel is the headquarters for James Nunamaker and James B. Phelan, candidates who are friendly to Kinzelberg. Their opponents, Louis D. David and Emil Ritter, have the backing of Howard P. Savage and Thomas Myers Jr., the former a board member and the latter a claimant to a seat, for which he is fighting in the courts. The board, which has control of small parks and the boulevards in Rogers Park, spends about $160,000 a year. A fight for its control has been in progress for several years.

CITY STATE BANK CASH $31,246 AT TIME OF CLOSING

Auditor Gives Testimony at Officers' Trial.

John J. Bailey, auditor for the state's attorney's office, testified yesterday in Judge Francis B. Allegretti's Criminal court that when he examined the books of the City State bank shortly after it was closed in November, 1929, he found $31,-464 in cash and $20,550 in government securities. Total deposit liabilities of the bank at that time were $3,634,546, of which $1,873,696 was in demand deposits, he said.

Bailey was testifying as a state witness at the trial of Seymour Stedman, former vice president of the City State bank, and four other defendants, who are accused of accepting deposits knowing that the bank was insolvent.

Loans to Directors.

Loans to officers, directors, employés and affiliated companies in which the bank was financially interested totaled $638,407 at the time of the closing, Bailey testified.

Among the loans to officers and directors was one of $16,695 to William C. Hartray, director, one of $14,934 to Alexander Jarema, vice president, and one of $32,625 to Edwin G. Rellihen, all of whom are defendants. The Co-operative Society of America, in which the bank was heavily interested, was loaned $338,198.

Gives Book Values.

The witness gave the total book value of the resources as $4,525,192 and the liabilities, exclusive of capital stock and surplus, $3,925,192. The total of capital stock, surplus, undivided profits and reserve accounts was $622,372.

The total amount of deposits, $3,-634,546, included demand and time, public funds, certificates of deposit and Christmas and vacation fund deposits. Of this time deposits amounted to $1,095,489.

Total loans and discounts included in the resources were $2,075,222. Government securities amounted to $20,-550 and cash on hand was $31,426.

The actual value of the resources will be brought out later in the trial by experts, who will testify for the state that the bank was insolvent some time before the closing, but that the officials on trial, despite this knowledge, continued to accept new deposits.

Judge and Defendant Clash.

The morning hearing was enlivened by a tiff between Stedman and Judge Allegretti when the former objected to the presence of a newspaper photographer in court.

"I object to the court becoming part of a movie show," he declared.

Judge Allegretti said he had not seen a camera. Further protests from the attorney caused the judge to remark:

"I resent the intimation that the court is not conducting this trial with dignity." Stedman then apologized.

LEVIATHAN FAILS TO PAY EXPENSES, U. S. INFORMED

Washington, D. C., March 29.—[Special.]—The Leviathan has turned into a white elephant for the United States Lines of Nevada, two of its vice presidents told the shipping board today. Kermit Roosevelt and John Franklin, son of P. A. S. Franklin, today asked Elmer Crowley, president of the Merchant Fleet corporation, operating subsidiary of the shipping board, to take back what has been the flagship of the American merchant marine, giving the United States Lines of Nevada an appropriate credit against its indebtedness.

The two officials explained that the Leviathan has been outmoded by vessels of later design, not only foreign but American. Such cabin ships as the Manhattan, offering to passengers the last word in comfort, are substantially cheaper to operate than a ship like the Leviathan and attract the bulk of the passenger traffic, they said. It is understood that the Leviathan sailed on one of its recent crossings with only 36 passengers.

Under the contract by which the United States Lines of Nevada took over the operation of the Leviathan, the ship must make at least one crossing a month. This makes a deficit large enough each month, it was said, to consume the lines' profits for operation of the more economical ships.

4 BRITONS GO ON TRIAL FOR HUGE STOCK SWINDLE

Accused of Juggling Company's Shares.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 29.—Martin Coles Harman, chairman and director of 14 big companies, today was charged before the Guildhall magistrate with forming a gigantic conspiracy in company with three other directors of the Chosen (Corea) corporation to defraud shareholders.

Prosecutor G. D. Roberts told a complex story of high juggling in which he charged Harman acted as buyer, seller, lender, and borrower, to the detriment of stockholders, whose interests he was supposed to protect.

The three directors who are accused, with other persons unknown, of helping Harman are: Berkeley F. Conigrave, H. H. Pounds, and Emil G. Changeat.

Used Money to Buy Stocks.

Among the interests concerned in the Harman group were the Chosen corporation, three Japanese firms owned outright by the Chosen corporation, all formed to develop Corean mineral rights on 73 claims, and the British Bank for Foreign Trade, Ltd. Harman and his friends controlled three-fifths of the Chosen shares, worth about $1,500,000.

Without consulting the stockholders, the prosecution charged, the four alleged conspirators spent more than $650,000 of the corporation's money in buying Chosen shares at $3.50 a share when the market value averaged 50 to 75 cents.

"When the money of a corporation which should have been available for shareholders in the form of a dividend is used to buy its own shares at prices far beyond the market price, and when these shares are bought from concerns in which the managing director and other directors of the corporation are vitally interested, then, in the opinion of the prosecution, the scheme is fraudulent," Prosecutor Roberts declared.

Duties and Interests Conflicted.

Coups by which Harman maneuvered himself into a position where he controlled both the Chosen corporation and the bank and manipulated both as he liked are alleged.

"Harman was in a position where his duties and interests hopelessly conflicted," Roberts asserted. "He sold Chosen shares to the Japanese companies at 10 times their usual market value after buying them from other companies he also controlled.

"It is clear that the whole of this scheme was not devised in the interests of Chosen corporation shareholders, but entirely in the interest of Harman and his friends. The whole result of these transactions is that the shareholders of Chosen corporation were defrauded."

HITLER APPROVES BOYCOTT AGAINST GERMAN JEWS

Victims Ask Hindenburg to Curb Nazis.

Frankfort. Similar arrests occurred at Duisburg. All Jewish municipal employés in Frankfort will be dismissed.

The municipal government of Berlin ordered that contracts for supplies be placed only with nationalist merchants. Forty-eight Jewish shops were closed here today. In Wuppertal and other centers, no further official purchases will be made from Jewish firms, it was announced.

Jewish holders of stalls for the annual fair at Oranienburg have been compelled to withdraw. Other boycott activities were reported at Zittau, Altona, Lueneberg, Kiel, Prenzlau and Stettin. Centers in the Ruhr and Silesia, where the movement was initiated yesterday, were quieter today. Nazi authorities urging that the fight must be taken up simultaneously throughout Germany on Saturday as laid down by the Nazi leaders.

The customary monthly fur auction at Leipzig was postponed when the authorities ordered that these auctions must henceforth have their approval.

SEEKS TO ABSORB UNIONS

BY G. WILLIAMS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAMBURG, Germany, March 29.—Once anti-Semitic activities have been liquidated in Germany, Chancellor Hitler will, it is reliably understood, launch a drive having as its objective the absorption into the Nazi movement of the German labor unions with a membership of 8,000,000 men.

The groundwork for the campaign has, in fact, already been laid. Care has been taken to deal more mildly with Socialists than with the communists in breaking the backs of their organizations, while the workers themselves have been offered inducements to join the Hitlerite party.

Nazi leaders have mapped out a plan in which "professional chambers," similar to the middle age guilds, would play an important part in Hitler's "third reich." The labor unions, deprived of their Socialist leaders, would be incorporated into this plan as the nuclei for these guilds.

Trouble Foreseen for Hitler.

Hitler, in carrying out his program, is likely to run into considerable difficulty, it is pointed out, because he has "won the revolution with the majority." It is argued that Hitler will find it much harder to control the majority than a well knit minority.

Millions of his followers, for example, are clamoring for the ousting from the cabinet of Vice Chancellor Franz von Papen and Alfred Hugenberg, minister of economics and agriculture, both of them Nationalists. The Nazi leader, however, has promised President von Hindenburg to retain them. The president still controls the reichswehr [army] through his personal friend, Gen. Werner von Blomberg, minister of war, and can order the arrest of any one who disregards his instructions.

May Execute Reds.

Hitler has felt no compunctions, however, in stamping out the communists. The government is reported to be preparing to hold spectacular trials of Red leaders who, upon conviction, will be executed on the public gallows as a dramatic end to German communism.

The chancellor is making great headway in his negotiations with the Catholic church, as was evidenced by the decision reached yesterday by German bishops to rescind their ban on National Socialism. Hitler had refused to attend Catholic services at Potsdam on the day the reichstag opened recently because of this Catholic ban.

In negotiating with Pope Pius XI., Hitler has offered to stage a spectacular ceremony dramatizing the fact that he and his main lieutenants are Catholics, in return for papal instructions forbidding Catholic dignitaries from indulging in politics. This would completely emasculate the Catholic Center party.

EINSTEIN ACTS TO RENOUNCE HIS CITIZENSHIP

BERLIN, March 29.—(AP)—Prof. Albert Einstein has taken steps to renounce his Prussian citizenship.

Prof. Einstein, a Jew, was born in Ulm, Germany, but subsequently his family moved to Switzerland and he became a Swiss citizen. In 1914 he was called to the directorship of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute of Physics, member of the Prussian Academy of Science, and he became a Prussian.

Upon landing at Brussels after his recent trip to the United States he wrote to the German consulate there for information about the steps necessary to end his citizenship.

Drive on Jews Seen as Move to Grab Jobs for Idle Nazis; Called "Spoils of War"

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

FRANKFORT-AM-MAIN, Germany, March 29.—The proposed National Socialist boycott against the Jews comes home to citizens in this town chiefly as a question of bread and butter.

On the one hand there are the Jews, who face individual and collective ruin.

"If the boycott is really applied," one Jewish leader said, "hundreds of Jews will be forced to commit suicide. There is nothing else to do. We cannot emigrate, and we won't be able to earn our livings here."

Idle Hope for Jobs.

On the other hand are hordes of discontented, ambitious unemployed who are waiting hungrily to grab off businesses or step into the jobs which they think will be open to them when the Jews are forced out.

"We hate the Jews because they monopolize all the good jobs," a Nazi newspaperman declared with engaging frankness.

It is openly alleged in some quarters that all the agitation over Jewish propaganda and subsequent reprisals is being staged by government order as a pretext for economic sanctions against the Jews. Whether anything is in that charge or not, it is evident from conversations with Nazi leaders themselves that the authorities aim to take jobs of all sorts away from the Jews and give them to Christian supporters of the régime.

The Spoils of War.

Back of the noisy anti-Semitism of Hitlerism one gets the impression that economic pressure, particularly among members of the ruined middle classes, accounts for many of the attacks against the Jews. Like every revolution, the Nazi revolution is seriously concerned with the spoils of war and in this case the normal spoils—political and administrative jobs—do not seem to be enough to satisfy the appetite of the victors.

At first glance the revolution seems to have made a clean sweep of the civil jobs in the municipalities. Here in Frankfort, besides a host of smaller posts, the jobs of mayor, police chief, treasurer of the social insurance fund, aldermen, director of the state theater, curators of the city museums and others, comprising fifteen high salaried jobs, have been taken from their original holders and passed on to the supporters of the new government.

Not Enough Jobs.

But that was not enough. Partly because of the wholesale rush to get aboard Hitler's band wagon, which cheated the original militants out of many jobs they would otherwise have landed, but chiefly owing to the appalling unemployment in the lower ranks of the white collar professions, many worthy followers are still awaiting their award.

One competent observer opined that an important factor in this was overproduction in German schools and universities. The German culture mill for years has been turning out annually such an enormous crop of young "Herr doktors" that enough jobs to go around could never be found.

Many young men after spending years and a small fortune getting an education find that they cannot even get openings at the bottom of the ladder, and so they become embittered revolutionists. When they are Jews they usually turn to Marxism, he said, but Christians have flocked to the Nazi standard.

Jews in High Places.

Add to this the fact that Jews, who number only some 600,000 out of a population of 63,000,000, occupy a preëminent place not only in commerce, but in the intellectual professions and you have an explanation for lots of things.

A couple of confreres—a reporter and the sports editor of a local Fascist paper—provided me with the most illuminating picture of revolutionary psychology in this respect since my arrival in Germany.

"Sixty per cent of the professors in Frankfort universities are Jews," bitterly declared the reporter. "The result is that many brilliant Christian students cannot even find humble scholastic posts. Eighty per cent of the lawyers in Frankfort are Jews [Jewish authorities assert there are only about 50 per cent], 20 per cent of the judges are Jews, and 20 per cent of the doctors are Jews.

Aim to Cut Percentage.

"The Jews hold 56 per cent of all city hospital jobs and 80 per cent of the high salaried city hospital jobs. Fifty per cent of the actors are Jews. Eighty per cent of the newspaper men outside our papers are Jews."

"Do you aim to force other papers to reduce the percentage of Jews on their staff?" I asked.

"Yes. Papers which don't will be declared Jewish and will be forced to print in Yiddish," was the reply.

"If the Jewish reporters were forced to quit their jobs, could you find enough Christians to take their places?" I asked.

"Certainly. There are 70 Christian newspaper men who cannot find jobs in this town under present conditions."

Refuse Jewish Advertising.

"What about advertising? I suppose Jewish firms naturally favor Jewish papers," I suggested.

"Yes, they do, but we don't want their advertising ourselves. We refuse to take it."

While it is true that Fascist papers do not take Jewish advertising it is likewise true that the closing down of Socialist papers has benefitted the circulation and advertising of papers which support the government.

The two Nazi newspaper men insisted that it was not the intention of the authorities to force the Jews brutally out of work but that they would be given four years to change their profession, at the end of which time the percentage of Jewish doctors, lawyers, and journalists would be strictly limited in every community. Jewish war veterans, they said, would be excepted.

Frankfort a Jewish Stronghold.

The high proportion of Jews in Frankfort's business and professional life, which does constitute a sort of monopoly, as the Nazis charge, does not apply all over Germany. Frankfort is notoriously a Jewish stronghold, although it has only 30,000 Jews out of some 600,000 inhabitants.

Jewish leaders admit there is an abnormally high percentage of Jews in the professions, but explain that this is partly because Jews are naturally city dwellers and are temperamentally unfitted to be industrial workers and partly because Jews were formerly not allowed to hold jobs in the civil service and army.

Despite government charges that the Jews are spreading false propaganda abroad and trying to discredit the government by inventing atrocity stories, I have yet to find a single Jew who gave me an exaggerated or false report of the trouble. Most of them even tried to conceal the real situation.

Finds Violence in Kassel.

In Kassel, the Hessian capital, where I went to investigate a reported continuance of anti-Jewish disturbances, the head of the local Jewish protective society refused even to see me. It was impossible to find any opposition source willing to talk, but from leaks in the local press and admissions by officials I learned that Jewish persecution was marked by violence in this place.

For one thing, the authorities admitted that several Jews whose names had been found in a list of contributors to the communist party fund had been illegally arrested and beaten by bands of unauthorized Nazis.

There was no evidence of wholesale molestation of Jewish shops—in fact, every one I saw was open and doing business as usual, but a perusal of the local papers revealed a sizable list of isolated incidents in which ruffians had beaten or tried to blackmail individual Jews. In several cases extortion or attempted extortion were reported.

Blame Personal Ill Feeling.

The Kassel troubles do not appear to have been fomented by the Nazis but by private individuals taking advantage of the revolutionary situation to settle old scores or commit simple felonies. It is significant that Jews hold an outstanding place in the commercial life of this town. Nearly every important looking store was pointed out to me as Jewish, and obviously Christian shopkeepers have certain immediate advantages to gain from a boycott.

CHICAGO GROUPS SEND GERMANY PLEA FOR JEWS

Eleven representatives of religious and civic organizations of Chicago, all Christian leaders, signed a letter of "friendly protestation to the German nation" yesterday, in which they ask that the Jews of Germany be treated as citizens and brothers by their fellow Germans.

The signers are Bishop George Craig Stewart, Edward J. Mullaly, priest, C. S. P.; Charles W. Gilkey, dean, University of Chicago; the Rev. John Thompson, First Methodist church; the Rev. Ernest F. Tittle, First Methodist church, Evanston; the Rev. Von Ogden Vogt, minister First Unitarian church; the Rev. Frederick F. Shannon, Central church; the Rev. Preston Bradley, People's church; Horace J. LEADER TOLD NOT TO PLAY YANKEE MUSIC IN BERLIN

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

BERLIN, March 29.—On the ground that "that we having trouble with America just now," the American composer, Werner Janssen, who had been engaged to conduct a concert of the Berlin Philharmonic orchestra on April 9, was informed by the directorate that he could not play Rubin Goldmark's "Gettysburg" tone poem which he had planned to offer for the first time in Berlin.

The program, announced in January, was changed without Mr. Janssen's knowledge. Among the works dropped were his own "Louisiana" suite and a Borodine symphony, but on Mr. Janssen's protest his own work was restored. The directorate asserted the original program was unsuitable for Palm Sunday and that in view of the political situation it was necessary to discard the other foreign works in favor of German music.

Fabien Sevitzky, nephew of Sergei Koussevitzky of the Boston symphony, had the temerity to include two American compositions in conducting the Berlin Philharmonic orchestra tonight. A report that Arturo Toscanini of the New York Philharmonic had refused to conduct at Bayreuth next summer because of the political situation and that Frieda Leider had declined to sing there has been denied by Frau Winifred Wagner.

AUSTRIAN NAZIS STAGE NEW HITLER SHOW; CURBED BY POLICE

[Copyright: 1933: By the New York Times.]

VIENNA, March 29.—Five thousand National Socialists shouting allegiance to Chancellor Hitler of Germany again tried to block traffic in the streets tonight. Police, responding to criticism of their measures last night, used more energetic methods and the demonstration was effectively quelled in an hour.

For the first time since riots six years ago the spectacle of mounted police charging at full gallop down the Wiedner Haupstrasse was seen.

Hitler Voted Citizenship.

Russia Protests Nazi Raid on Hamburg Trade Office

BERLIN, March 29.—(AP)—The soviet embassy protested "most sharply" today against a raid made by political police yesterday at the Hamburg offices of the Russian trade delegation. Protests were made to the foreign office and to the Hamburg senate. The raiders were searching for "a person whose arrest has been ordered," but they did not find him and they did not disturb the records of the trade delegation.

You'll do it better on DATED coffee

Coffee has a marvelous stimulating effect. It brings you a clearer brain, gayer spirits and a feeling of tireless endurance. But beware stale coffee.

MEN who strain every nerve with never a wink of sleep for hours on end . . . keep going on coffee and more coffee. Coffee eases terrific tension, keeps the brain clear for instant decisions, muscles ready for instant action.

Then why aren't all of us able to use this stimulant to advantage? Why do some complain of getting indigestion, insomnia or "nerves" from coffee?

The real facts have been unearthed by research.

Now we know that any normal, healthy grown-up can drink five cups a day with no trouble at all, if he makes sure he drinks only fresh coffee.

For, by analysis, it's stale coffee that disturbs the system. Stale coffee contains rancid oil—as much as half a cupful to a pound.

To banish forever this danger of stale coffee, to make freshness certain, Chase & Sanborn instituted Dated Coffee. An expiration date is printed on every pound. And no grocer is allowed to keep a can of Chase & Sanborn's Dated Coffee on his shelf after its date has expired.

Dated Coffee is the way for everyone to enjoy delicious rich flavor and the wonderfully healthful exhilaration that only absolutely fresh coffee can give.

FIX MILK PRICE IN WISCONSIN TO HALT LOSSES

Chicago Market Faces Big Oversupply.

BY PAUL POTTER.

Steps taken in Wisconsin and Illinois to bring about dairy marketing adjustments which affect both consumers and farmers, brought two important developments yesterday.

1. An order was issued by the Wisconsin state department of agriculture and markets that all milk in bottles must sell for at least 8½ cents a quart, and all milk sold at this price must yield dairy farmers at least $1.55 per hundred pounds [47 quarts]. The order applies in all Wisconsin cities, but was aimed to stop a new price war in Milwaukee, during which prices were being cut to 6 cents a quart retail.

2. The order issued by the Chicago board of health on Tuesday which opened to inspection any dairy farm in northern Illinois and close in Wisconsin points, was found to have loosed a potential flood of milk and cream to the Chicago metropolitan area which has heretofore been excluded.

The Wisconsin order followed a conference of dairymen and state officials with Gov. Schmedeman in Madison Tuesday afternoon. It was issued immediately upon the passage in the general assembly of a bill giving the state department of markets dictatorial powers in preventing milk price cutting wars which had resulted in losses to producers.

In a survey of the Chicago milk and cream market yesterday it was found that the board of health was making available to Chicago a possible added supply of 1,490,000 pounds of milk daily from an area within a radius of 100 miles of Chicago.

Milk Now Being Processed.

All of this supply would be subject to the same rigid inspections now required of all milk and cream coming to this market. This milk is now being sold as cream for butter making, as "surplus" milk to be skimmed for cream and ice cream, or is being evaporated or condensed and sold from coast to coast.

The survey revealed that 19 northern Illinois dairy plants, to which 2,300 farmers ship 817,000 pounds of milk daily, are within economical shipping distance of Chicago and not now shipping milk here. The 17,000 dairymen now supplying Chicago from an area with a maximum radius of 120 miles, are sending in about 4 million pounds and have an added production of nearly 1 million pounds a day available upon demand.

It was further learned that 18 dairy plants lie within a similar radius in Wisconsin, capable of producing at least 678,000 pounds daily for the Chicago area. There are nearly 1,000 dairymen within the area, but isolated so that they must ship directly to Chicago, whose production would add nearly 300,000 pounds a day.

Pay Less Than Cent a Pound.

None of these farmers are being paid in excess of 85 cents per hundred pounds now, most of them receiving about 65 cents. At the same time, such companies as the Bowman Dairy company and Borden's Farm Products company are shipping cream from northern Wisconsin, a distance of 200 or more miles, for which they pay farmers 85 to 96 cents per hundred pounds.

The potential supply made available for Chicago by the opening of the inspection services of the health board is sufficient to bring a quart of milk a day for 858,000 persons more than now is admitted to the market by Chicago dairy companies.

Engineer Retires After 43 Years

His Last Run

William F. Jungles of Fort Wayne, veteran engineman of the Broadway limited of the Pennsylvania railroad, was honored at the Union station yesterday before he took the giant K-4 locomotive on his last run eastward. He will be retired on April 7, having reached the age of 70. Mr. Jungles has served on Pennsylvania railroad locomotives for more than 43 years. He entered the service as a fireman in 1889 and became an engineer in 1899.

Forest District Pays Up $545,000 Bond Default

The forest preserve district yesterday used its first 1931 tax collections to take up $550,000 worth of its bonds on which it defaulted on Jan. 31, 1932, because of delinquent tax collections. At the same time the district paid $45,000 in defaulted interest. The bonds were the only part sold from an authorized $2,500,000 issue for forest preserve improvements.

Spanish Women to Vote for First Time in History

MADRID, March 29.—(AP)—Women, for the first time in the history of Spain, will be allowed to vote on April 23 in municipal elections to fill all posts everywhere, whether vacant or not. It was previously planned to fill only vacancies.

PEDESTRIAN IS HURT, 2 BANDITS SEIZED IN CHASE

AUTOMOBILE THEFTS.

Automobiles stolen, 81; recovered, 68; stripped, 13 [from police records for twenty-four hours ending at midnight Tuesday].

Court cases: Florian Rybarczyk, sentenced to one year in Bridewell, and Walter Kelley, sentenced to one year in the county jail, for auto larceny; Catherine Lochowics, sentenced to one year in the House of Correction for receiving stolen property, by Judge Gutknecht.

Edward Davis, sentenced to six months in Bridewell and fined $500 for changing a motor number; Martin Lenz, fined $10 for receiving stolen property; Russell Isaacson put on probation for auto larceny, by Judge Padden.

An automobile was wrecked, a pedestrian was injured, and two alleged bandits were captured in a police chase on the south side yesterday.

The pursuit started when Sergt. Joseph Devery and his downtown squad saw three men in a stolen car at 47th and Morgan streets. They chased them for five miles. At 39th and Wallace streets the fugitives collided with the automobile of Fred Strasser, 922 West 35th street, causing his car to strike Michael Quigley, 51 years old, 3841 Lowe avenue, the pedestrian. Quigley received several rib fractures.

The three bandit suspects fled on foot, one escaping. The other two, Joe Jaly, 18 years old, of St. Louis, and Edward Yanaites, 26, were seized. A revolver was found in their car and another, tossed away during the chase, was recovered. Jaly and Yanaites, police said, confessed twenty robberies.

WOMAN COMMITS SUICIDE.

Boonville, Ind., March 29.—[Special.]—Clara Strain, 55, committed suicide late last night at her home. She mixed a poison with cough strup, went to bed, drank the strup and placed a wet rag over her eyes. She was found by her daughter. Domestic trouble was said to be the cause.

FEWER GUESSES, PERKINS' EDICT ON LABOR DATA

New Secretary Cautions Her Statisticians.

Washington, D. C., March 29.—[Special.]—Because a shoe factory reopens and calls for 500 men does not mean a general upturn in the shoe business, Frances Perkins, new secretary of labor, pointed out today, in a plea for realism with facts and figures.

In other words, scientific statistics are the only ones with which Miss Perkins wishes to have much to do. The other kind of statistics—and she's frank to label them "impressions"—may be valuable aids in specific industrial areas, but they are not accurate yardsticks to give to awaiting public.

Wants Better Statistics.

"If John Jones, a field worker for the labor department, out in Michigan," she explained, "sees that a factory has opened, and will take 1,000 new employés, that's fine for his particular employment placement problem. But John Jones may fall utterly to realise that another factory, of precisely the same output, may have closed its doors in another part of the state. We must have accurate statistics, not impressions, for the general picture."

Accordingly the "generally unreliable" impressionistic statistics compiled by the United States employment service no longer will be made public.

Slight Gain Shown.

February's figures, released by Miss Perkins today, show an increase in employment in manufacturing industries of 1.8 over the month of January. But this increase, she explained, is the regular seasonal increase which comes in February. The index of employment for the month is 57.8 as compared to the 100, which has been arbitrarily fixed for the average for 1926.

In the nonmanufacturing industries February's employment shows a decrease over January's in all save two industries: Canning and preserving, which has a seasonal increase due to fish canning, and anthracite mining, which is recovering from a great slump in January.

Miss Perkins said she has received a "truckload of applications for jobs." These letters, she said, "come from former college presidents, former labor leaders, and go all the way down to people who can hardly write."

TAXI DRIVER ROBBED OF $44.

Samuel Karminsky, 1363 North Leavitt street, a taxicab driver, was robbed of $44 yesterday by two men who hired his cab at Huron street and Clybourn avenue and rode to 644 Rees street.

RUTH JUDD DENIED NEW TRIAL ON UNUSED CHARGE OF MURDER

Phoenix, Ariz., March 29.—(AP)—Counsel for Winnie Ruth Judd, condemned "trunk" slayer, failed today in their attempt to obtain for her another trial on an unused murder charge.

Her attorneys adopted the strategy of the defense in the Tom Mooney case in California without success.

Superior Judge Howard C. Speakman declined to act on a motion that Mrs. Judd be tried on a charge of murdering Hedvig Samuelson, one of her two women victims, and ordered the dismissal of the information in this case.

Judge Speakman held that whatever action the Arizona board of pardons and paroles may take on her plea for clemency, it would be a waste of time to try her on the second murder charge.

Mrs. Judd is under sentence to be hanged April 14 on conviction of murdering Agnes Anne Larol. She sought trial on the Samuelson charge, because, she said, she desired to tell her story of self-defense in open court before a jury. In the trial for the Larol killing insanity was the defense and she did not testify.

FREE RIDE HOME IF YOU GET DRUNK IN THIS TOWN!

Minneapolis, Minn., March 29.—(AP)—Free transportation home will be furnished any one who becomes "drunk, intoxicated, or disorderly" in suburban Golden Valley when beer starts flowing April 7.

The village council, adopting an ordinance last night to permit sale of 3.2 per cent beer under the new state law, included this provision:

"Any one who becomes drunk, intoxicated, or disorderly shall be immediately placed in a closed automobile and safely conducted home at the expense of any licensee in whose place of business such drunken, intoxicated, or disorderly person shall happen to be or wander, whether such licensee had anything to do with the condition of the drunk, intoxicated, or disorderly, or not."

Junior German Group Lays Plans for Its Part in Fair

Plans for a membership drive to raise funds for German-American participation in the World's Fair were announced yesterday by J. Robert Hoff, 24 years old, grandson of the late Joseph F. Haas, county recorder for 16 years, who recently was elected president of the World's Fair Junior German Men's group. Hoff is one of 85 young Americans of German descent who have organized to aid older men in promoting a proposed unofficial representation of Germany at A Century of Progress.

GIRL TELLS HER STORY AT TRIAL OF CLERGYMAN

Describes Experience on Auto Ride.

Muncie, Ind., March 29.—[Special.]—Hesitating nervously at first but later regaining her composure, Miss Helen Huffman, 18 year old high school girl, this afternoon in Circuit court told a jury composed of ten farmers, a salesman, and a man school teacher, her story of the alleged attempt at rape by the Rev. G. Lemuel Conway, suspended pastor of the Madison Street Methodist Episcopal church here.

She was the first witness in the trial of the minister who recently was found guilty of the offense by a jury of ministers at a church trial who suspended him from the ministry for a year.

Accosted by Pastor.

"I was walking up town to buy a pair of slippers for my father who was ill when Mr. Conway in his automobile drew up beside the curb and offered to give me a lift," said the girl in response to the questions of Deputy Prosecutor Orin Rearick. "I had known him a long time and thought it was all right. His daughter and I were friends. Instead of taking me to where I intended to go he turned his car east and drove toward the country. I remonstrated, but he said he had to make a pastoral call at Selma, six miles away, and we would be back in twenty minutes."

Here she paused as if reluctant to proceed, but resumed her story under the prosecutor's questioning.

Tells of Threats.

"After a few minutes Mr. Conway turned his car off the main road and upon a country road. He inquired of me what I knew about the facts of life and said he was older and knew much more than I. I was terribly frightened. Then he attempted to take advantage of me. He finally desisted when a car approached. Then he took me back to Muncie and let me out of his automobile up town, instructing me to tell nobody what had occurred."

Miss Huffman told the jury that before reaching Muncie the minister threatened to throw her into the waters of a nearby gravel pit.

On returning to the business district the girl said she bought the slippers for her father and hurried home, where she told her mother what had taken place.

On cross-examination Mr. Conway's attorney asked her why she had not called for help.

"Because I didn't think there was any danger with a preacher," she replied.

$5,000 AWARDS ANNOUNCED FOR "PUT-TOGETHERS"

Below are listed the winners of $5,000 in cash awards offered by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE to 430 contestants whose entries in the "Put Togethers" contest excelled in accuracy and neatness. This contest which closed March 5 portrayed in jig saw fashion 42 cartoons depicting scenes of story book days. Contestants were asked to assemble the detached pieces in their order and name the pictures.

Many slips in spelling, as well as in naming the pictures of story book days, caused thousands of entries to fall below the 100 per cent mark. Then, too, in assembling the jig saw pieces some anxious contestants placed chimneys upside down, set clouds under foot, and unwittingly made water run up hill in Jack and Jill's tumble. The art of matching the pieces and pasting them smoothly and with seams hardly noticeable was accomplished in many exceedingly neat contributions.

The first prize, $1,000 in cash, is awarded to Ada Kringel Fawley, 534 Western avenue, Glen Ellyn, whose entry rated highest in accuracy and neatness. The second prize, $500, goes to Mrs. Mary Schoenoff, 218 Dorchester court, Waukegan. The third award, $250, is merited by Mrs. Oswald Schille, 3264 North 37th street, Milwaukee.

FORD STRIKE IN ENGLAND ENDED; NEW WAGE SCALE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 29.—About 7,000 employés of the Ford Motor works at Dagenham voted almost unanimously to accept a compromise settlement and return to work today, thus ending their three day strike.

The settlement provides for a new wage rate of 39 cents an hour for skilled workers, 30 cents for semi-skilled workers, and 26 cents for unskilled workers, such as laborers and janitors. The agreement also provides for a five day, forty hour week. The new wage rate is somewhat higher than that which the company sought to establish and against which the strike was called.

The settlement was reached between Sir Percival Perry, chairman of the company, and a deputation of workers which had broken away from control of the strike committee and volunteered to negotiate independently with the company. Later, when the strike committee dropped its insistence upon participation by trades union officials in the wage talk, it was also received by Sir Percival.

JEALOUS MATE MEASURES HER GAS, WIFE SAYS

Her husband's jealousy led him to measure her gasoline and inspect her speedometer every time she went for an automobile drive, to learn how far she had gone, Mrs. Lauretta Radke, 4804 Quincy street, charged yesterday in a bill for divorce against Edward J. Radke. The bill, filed in the Superior court by Attorney Norman Becker, charges Radke, a filling station owner, with desertion and cruelty. He threatened his wife if his inspection showed that she had driven the car far, the bill charges.

Gets Injunction Against A Noisy Revival Service

Richmond, Ind., March 29.—[Special.]—A temporary restraining order issued in Wayne Circuit court today prevented an "old time revival" being held at the Pilgrim Holiness church at Milton because it disturbs the sleep of Onas Neideffer. The order against the church and Kaite Locke and Esther White, conductors of the revival, was granted after Neideffer had complained services bothered him and asked $500 damages. Milton residents averred services lasted long after midnight and could be heard for a long distance.

Garden Lovers:

Do Not Fail to See Our Model Garden at the Navy Pier Flower Show and Sow Vaughan's Chicago Parks Lawn Seed

WHEN the ground is honeycombed with late frosts, seed will sink in and germinate under most favorable conditions. Sow 1 lb. of Vaughan's Chicago Parks and apply 10 lbs. of Vaughan's Lawn and Garden Fertilizer to each 300 square feet.

New State Law Protects You It requires all lawn-seed mixtures to bear labels showing just what they contain. This protects you from unknowingly buying mixtures containing timothy, a coarse hay, and other cheap adulterants. Read the label, and insist on Vaughan's Chicago Parks.

Vaughan's Lawn and Garden Fertilizer This is a rich, quick acting, odorless mineral fertilizer of the formula 5-8-6 (5 parts nitrogen to 8 parts phosphoric and 6 potash). 10 lbs., 85c; 25 lbs., $1.50; 100 lbs., $4.00.

Vaughan's Chicago Parks Lawn Seed contains Kentucky Blue Grass, Red Top and White Clover of the highest quality. Our Columbian mixture is a companion mixture for shady places. All bear labels stating exact analysis. Price, ½ lb., 25c; 1 lb., 40c; 5 lbs., $1.90; 10 lbs., $3.70. Prepaid 300 miles.

The Most Beautiful Seed Catalog Vaughan's Gardening Illustrated, which is free by mail or at our stores, is the 1933 gardener's year book containing 200 plates in full color of annuals, perennials, roses, lilies, water lilies and gladioli.

SEEK MISSING GIRL WITNESS AGAINSTNEGROES

May Read Her Story from Former Trial.

Decatur, Ala., March 29.—(AP)—Search for Ruby Bates, missing star witness in the "Scottsboro case," tonight extended to every section of north Alabama, as preparations went forward for the first of the new trials of the seven Negroes under indictment on attack charges.

The girl's father gave Attorney General Thomas E. Knight Jr. addresses at which he believed she could be found to attend the opening of the Heywood Patterson trial tomorrow.

First to Go to Trial.

Patterson is the first of the seven Negroes to face retrial on charges of attacking Victoria Price and Miss Bates, both of Huntsville, Ala., aboard a freight train in Jackson county on March 25, 1931. He was arraigned yesterday and entered a plea of not guilty.

The other six facing retrial are: Ozie Powell, 19, and Charles Weems, 22, of Atlanta; Andy Wright, 19, and Clarence Norris, 22, of Chattanooga; Olen Montgomery, 19, of Monroe, Ga., and Willie Roberson, 19, of Columbus, Ga. They will be tried after the Patterson case is disposed of.

May Offer Former Story.

Although Ruby Bates is missing, the state, if she cannot be found, will offer her testimony from the previous trial in which the seven facing retrial and Eugene Williams, who the Alabama Supreme court held was probably a juvenile, were convicted and sentenced to death. The case of Williams and Roy Wright, ninth Negro named orginally in the indictments, has been deferred until the court determines their ages.

While the search for Miss Bates went ahead, Victoria Price was at home in Huntsville, and will be brought here tomorrow.

Air Corps Officers Plan Celebration to Greet Beer

Members of the Air Corps Officers' association will celebrate the return of beer at the fifth annual Aviators' ball, to be held Saturday night, April 8, in the Knickerbocker hotel, 163 East Walton place, it was announced yesterday by Benjamin E. Minturn, chairman of the dance committee. Music for the occasion will be furnished by the 65th Cavalry division orchestra. A special bar, adjoining the ballroom, and 3,000 steins will be provided for the beer celebration.

REPORT WOODRING IS SLATED AS ASSISTANT SECRETARY OF WAR

Washington, D. C., March 29.—[Special.]—It was reported authoritatively today that Harry Woodring, former governor of Kansas, has been selected as assistant secretary of war.

It was also reported that Harry M. Durning would be named collector of the port of New York.

HUNGRY PUPILS' FUND GETS ONLY $8 DURING DAY

Three faithful friends of the Hungry School Children's fund were the only contributors yesterday. Only $8 reached the fund, which must feed 8,000 hungry children daily in 100 public schools. This is the least amount for any day in the memory of those administering the fund. If that new low level in gifts continues it will become necessary to discontinue the lunch service, which teachers say has been responsible for renewed health and hope in many an undernourished child.

The three who saved the fund from omitting a daily list of contributors yesterday were Elizabeth Earl, who sent $5; Margaret Tagmose, $2, and Wilbert Blum, 1. This gives the fund a grand total of $22,858.87 raised since last September. Most of this has been expended.

Gifts should be sent to the cashier of THE TRIBUNE, Tribune Tower.

CREDIT SCHEME ADOPTED TO AID PARK EMPLOYES

Alfred D. Piamondon, president of the Lincoln park board, announced at the conclusion of a meeting of the commissioners yesterday that the 700 employés of the park system will be offered a credit extension relief plan. The employés are owed salaries from Oct. 15 of last year.

According to the plan, merchants will be given credit certificates against the pay checks of the park employés for the payment of bills. Of the employé's semi-monthly check, 20 per cent will be reserved for him in cash and the remainder may apply on any account.

The board formally adopted its 1933 budget, which set up appropriations of $1,921,688, the same amount as in 1932.

In a bulletin sent out by the Chicago High School Teachers' association, of which Frederick T. Wilhelms is president, school employés were informed that several large concerns will give out merchandise coupon books in exchange for 1931 educational fund warrants. Teachers and other employés were given more than $4,000,000 worth of the warrants in lieu of cash recently. Among the concerns announcing the coupon plan are Wilson & Co., Reid-Murdoch, and Standard Oil.

ROB SHERIDAN PLAZA OF $1,500.

Miss Mabel I. Winter, auditor, and two other employés of the Sheridan Plaza hotel, 4005 Sheridan road, were held up early yesterday in an office of the hotel while two bandits got $1,500 from the cash box.

Bandits Kidnap and Rob Same Victim Second Time

The same three bandits who on Sept. 19 last year kidnaped Philip Gomberg, 5015 North Ridgeway avenue, from his newsstand at Harrison and Clark streets and robbed him of nearly $100, kidnaped and robbed him again last night. The men forced George Schuster, a friend of Gomberg, from the latter's automobile as he was leaving the stand, took Gomberg to Archer avenue and Cermak road and pushed him out after taking $11 from him. Gomberg knew the bandits were the same who robbed him before, he told police, because they complained when they found he had not so much money as he had the first time.

Pour Near Beer in Sewer; Brewery Needs the Bottles

Newark, N. J., March 29.—(AP)—Now it's the near beer that's going down the sewer. A crowd at the Gottfried Krueger company's brewery watched employés empty 5,000 cases of near beer, worth about $6,000. The brewery needs the bottles for the 3.2 brew.

GLASGOW REDS RIOT AS WALES INSPECTS IDLE

Rocks and Insults Hurled During Prince's Visit.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GLASGOW, Scotland, March 29.—Police were called out to deal with rowdyism among communists here today at the beginning of a three day tour by the prince of Wales among northern social centers for the idle.

Crowds gathered outside the Saint Roch's recreation club and as the prince's automobile arrived somebody began to throw stones at the building. A window was smashed, but police were unable to locate the culprit in the throng.

Speaker Insults Prince.

Later, while the prince was en route to inspect nine other centers, a speaker, said to have been a communist, was haranguing a crowd at a corner. He made slurring remarks about the prince. A woman listener demanded a retraction. The speaker refused and police pulled him off the platform and took him to a police station.

While the prince was inside the Stevenson Memorial Church institute, a group of young men outside began to sing the "Internationale" and the "Red Flag." The noise continued for half an hour. Some of the crowd carried red flags. Police slowly shoved the reds away while the remainder of the crowd drowned them out with the national anthem. When the prince emerged, he was greeted by cheers and fluttering union jacks.

Arrest Man at Station.

There was another arrest this morning when the prince stepped out of his sleeping car. A well dressed man approached and started to enter the royal compartment. He was halted by the stationmaster and was marched off by police, protesting that he had an appointment.

TURN OVER $246,000 DUE TO CITY SCHOOLS, TRUSTEE ASKS STATE

Mrs. Helen Hefferan, member of the board of education, sent a letter yesterday to Gov. Horner requesting that the state turn over to the board $246,000.

This sum, she wrote, is due the board on account of its work in educating the deaf, blind and delinquent pupils of the city during 1929.

Through an oversight, she stated, the money was not paid and the appropriation for it lapsed Sept. 1, 1931. The money was later reappropriated, but unless paid by Sept. 1, 1933, it will lapse again, Mrs. Hefferan warned.

INDIA FREEDOM BILL WINS FIRST COMMONS O. K.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 29.—The house of commons tonight voted 449 to 43 to refer the government's proposed constitution for a federated India to a joint committee which will report on it before parliament makes a decision.

Winston Churchill's bitter attack on the proposal drew heated protests from Sir Samuel Hoare, secretary of state for India, Sir John Wardlaw-Milne and Lord Winterton.

Churchill warned against extending self-government to India at a time when western nations are abandoning parliamentary institutions.

ROB WOMAN STORE MANAGER.

Mrs. Marie Feidelberg, 1600 Olive avenue, manager of a National Tea company store at 6060 North Clark street, was robbed of $50 last night by an armed man.

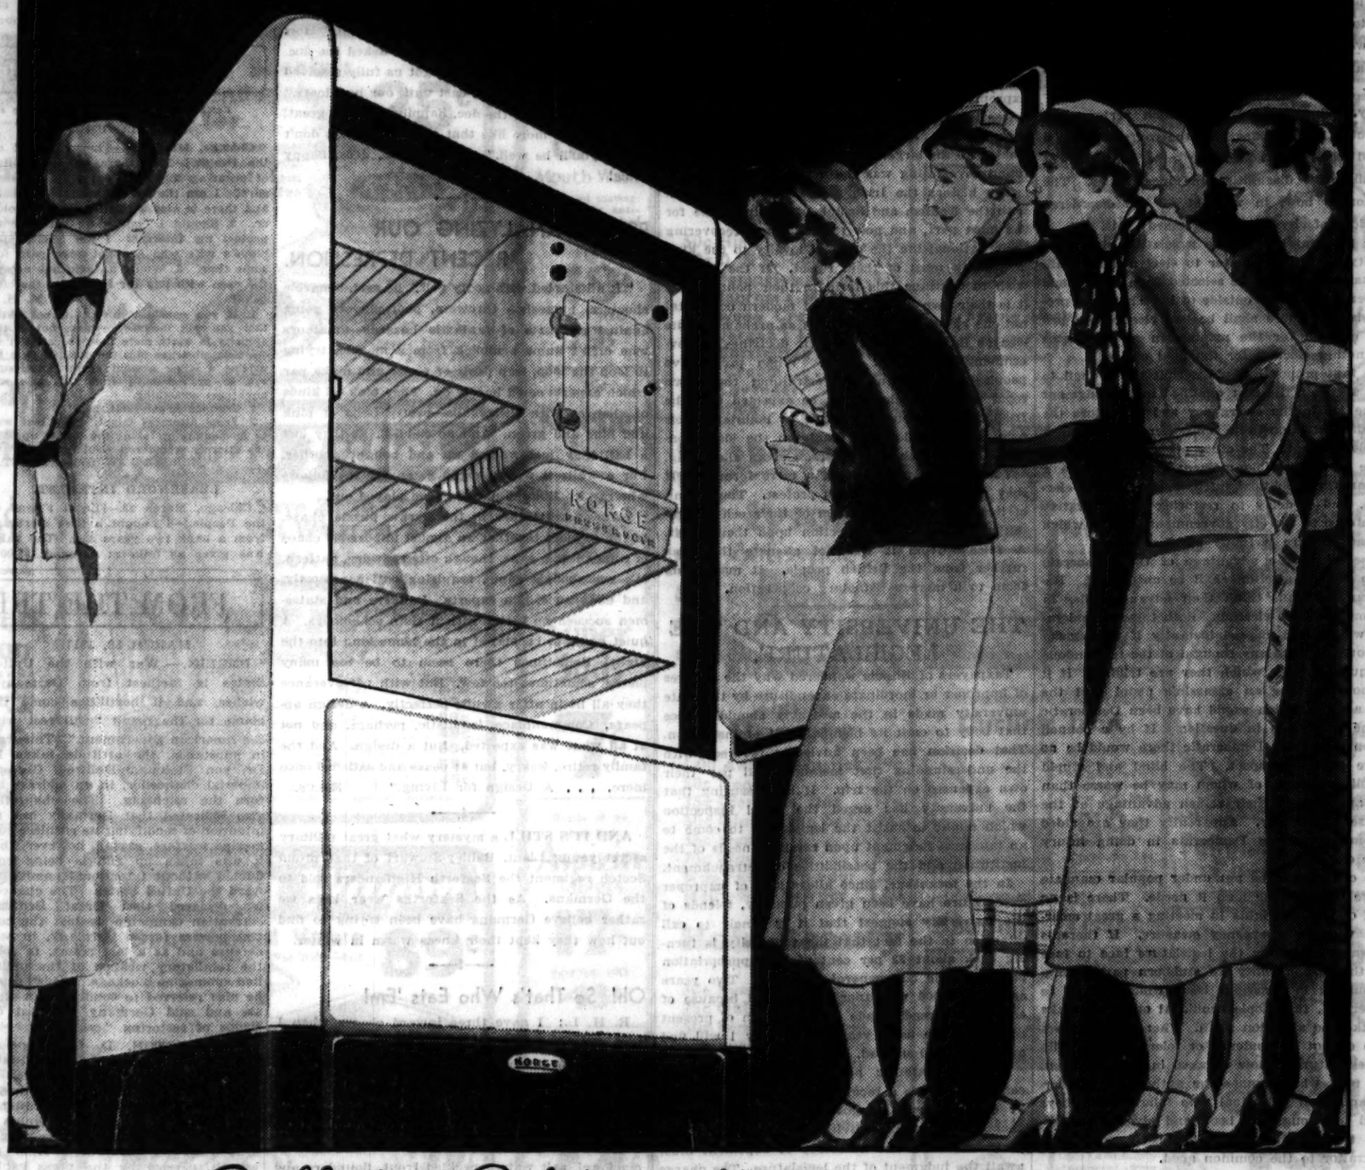
"That's what we Want"

SAID A HUNDRED THOUSAND WOMEN



IT'S Rollator Refrigeration IN THE NEW NORGE

When you see it you will agree with the 100,793 women who specified the refrigerator ideas that have gone into the new Norge.

Impressive in the graceful sweep of its simple classic lines that rise from a massive base of lustrous black porcelain, it is packed with conveniences and finished with surpassing quality throughout.

The new door latch opens at a touch... the waist-high food compartment is spacious with shelves arranged for scientific food storage... the ice cubes are protected by a spring-hinged door.

These are but a few of many advantages, of which the greatest of all is the Rollator. The exclusive, dependable Norge cooling mechanism now has more power than ever before. Its better results cost less.

When you see this modern Norge you'll know why everyone says: "That's what we want." You can see it today. Norge Corporation; Division of Borg-Warner Corporation.

THE ROLLATOR

A roller rolls and there's ice. That's all there is to the simple, smooth operation of the powerful Norge Rollator mechanism.

THIS NEW NORGE IS THE LAST WORD IN BEAUTY OF DESIGN AND OPERATING EFFICIENCY. YET IT COSTS NO MORE TO OWN—AND LESS TO USE—THAN DO ORDINARY REFRIGERATORS.

Two railroads join in offering a new train service

EFFECTIVE APRIL 2

They will swing out of Chicago Union Station April 2. New fast trains daily right into the downtown section of Detroit . . . in the morning . . . in the afternoon . . . at night!

Co-operation between the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Wabash Railway makes possible this more complete, convenient service—offering the only trains from Chicago's modern, centrally located Union Station to Detroit's downtown section.

These trains will carry through modern Pullman equipment: parlor cars, drawing room, compartment, bedroom and section sleeping cars; reclining chair cars and coaches; dining car service.

For tickets and reservations: Pennsylvania—Phone Central 7200; or Wabash—Phone Harrison 4500.

"The newspaper is an institution developed by modern civilization to present the news of the day, to foster commerce and industry, to inform and mold public opinion, and to furnish that check upon government which no constitution has ever been able to provide."

CHICAGO MUST HAVE A MAYOR AND A MAYOR NOW.

All over the country sensible people are trying to avoid the excesses of politics. In the Illinois assembly at Springfield sensible people do not seem to be very numerous. The mayor of Chicago had two more years to serve when he was killed at Miami. The city council has elected a successor pro tem. The office thus filled lacks authority. The acting mayor cannot perform the full duties of the office. To the confusion which existed before is added the new confusion of administrative disabilities and incapacities. The question is how, in view of all the disordered conditions of city finance, to remedy this.

One proposal is that the legislature shall give the city council the power to elect a duly qualified mayor. He may be selected from the council membership or from outside of it. The other proposal is that there shall be two elections, a primary election for the nomination of candidates and another election for the final choice.

The first proposal would permit the council to select a citizen the best qualified in its judgment for the job in the emergency and to restore the city administration to its full power at the earliest possible moment. The other proposal means that at the worst possible moment there shall be a partisan fury, political intrigue, a confused electorate, and a delay in restoring administrative competence to the city government, during which its functions are virtually paralyzed.

It seems to the advantage of the Democrats that a council election shall be authorized. Republican partisans think their advantage lies in a primary and an election. Both these considerations would be dismissed instantly if the legislature could arise to any thought of the tremendous consequences with which they are trifling. If it had not been for an assassin's pistol shot the city's administration would have been Democratic for the two years in question. If by a council election it remains Democratic there would be no change in that respect. The blind and stupid Republicans, some of whom may be worse than that, are seeking their selfish advantage at the expense of the city. Apparently they are aided by some downstate Democrats in doing injury to the city.

The council can be put under popular mandate to give the city the man it needs. There is no denial of popular rights in meeting a great emergency with an emergency measure. If there is any way of bringing the legislature face to face with the responsibility its stubborn partisanship is assuming in a serious issue which cannot be exaggerated, the people should at once undertake to make the situation plain. There are excesses which cannot be condoned or tolerated. The Illinois legislature is now engaged in some of them. Each man who assumes the authority of leadership and each individual who follows and obeys should be brought to book and given to understand that as an advocate of petty politics he is a traitor to the common good.

MORE ADMONITION.

Mr. Eugene Chen, former minister for foreign affairs in the Nanking government, has joined the lengthy list of statesmen who have been moved to admonish the United States upon its moral duty to frame our policy for the profit of their respective countries. Mr. Chen describes for us the menace of Japanese policy and action as he believes we ought to envisage them before it is too late, concluding, in the summary of our correspondent, Mr. Powell, that "America's moral duty is to demand in exchange for an adjustment of the war debts European coöperation to compel Japan to observe treaties, to disarm and become a law abiding state, accomplishing the Wilsonian ideal of America's manifest destiny."

We are unable to predict how cordially our present state department will receive this admonition. Mr. Chen perhaps feels that with the departure of Mr. Stimson, who obviously needed no urging, the new incumbent might be in need of it. Whether Mr. Chen's intuition is true or not, we have a conviction that the American people will not be greatly impressed by an invitation to base its foreign policy on the theory that it is their manifest destiny to protect a people numbering four hundred millions from the aggression of a people of sixty-five millions.

The insistence of the representatives of the Nanking government that it is the moral duty of the United States and of the other powers to stand between China and Japan would be more persuasive if the Chinese had exhibited since the overthrow of the Manchu empire a greater respect for international obligation and for the need of moderating individual and sectional self-interest for the sake of a unification which would have rendered external aggression unlikely and external aid unnecessary. The American public has long cherished a friendly feeling for China and is not unmindful of its tremendous problems or lacking in sympathy for its efforts to establish a modern state. But there are reasonable limits to this sentiment. In the case of China, as in the case of the European countries whose spokesmen so often inform us that it is our moral duty to save them from themselves, the American people, notwithstanding our recent diplomacy, remain unconvinced.

TOO MANY BEER TAXES.

The proposal of the state administration to impose a substantial license fee on saloons is a dubious one. The licensing of beer sellers is essentially a matter for local concern. The state has no adequate facilities for determining the character of applicants or for checking up on the conduct of their businesses after licenses are granted. The municipal governments are equipped to do both and in so far as surveillance will cost money the local governments and not the state government will be out of pocket.

The plea is made on behalf of the state that it needs the money. It does not need it as much as the local governments do. In Chicago, for example, the annual deficit of the local governments isn't much less than the total of the state's expenditures. The state now gets a share of the general property levy, all the state automobile license fees, and the lion's share of gasoline taxation. The new sales tax is a state tax in form and it discriminates, like all the other state taxes, against the cities and in favor of the rural areas. Any time the state administration is worried about its ability to pay its employes and its bills it need only slow up the expenditures on unnecessary downstate roads and thereby save enough money to operate all its other services.

The cities have no such easy way out. About all they have in addition to property taxes, which are already excessive, are a few license fees and the prospect of licensing the retail sales of beer. There is a limit to the taxation which beer can carry. The federal government has already declared itself in. If the state also draws cards the price of beer will be raised to the point where consumption of tax-paid beer will be discouraged and the bootlegging of beer encouraged.

THE IRISH OATH TO THE KING.

De Valera is on firm ground in demanding the elimination of the oath to the king. It is offensive to Irish pride and therefore must be an irritant in the relations of the Free State with Great Britain. English and British kings have meant little to Ireland except wretchedness, poverty, expropriation, and war. The English for centuries left the Irish only the tradition of a civilization which had once been carried from the smaller to the larger island, and the rule the Irish found devastating was the monarchical rule.

The history the Irish people have in common with the English and Scotch is a painful one for the most part, and now that they are recovering their national life the oath of loyalty to the king is a thing most of them reject. If the English wish to continue this form in their political life it is their own business. Most modern occidental nations have rejected the form as archaic and its idea as incompatible with their doctrines of government and social order. When progressive peoples are deposing or restraining their own royal families it should not be expected that the Irish, having won their right to maintain their own state, should take kindly to the ideas contained in an oath to the person of an alien king.

They do not regard it as a mere formula. If they did there would be no protest. They think of it as a distinct limitation of their self-governing status and as a reflection upon their spirit. A release from it will not alienate the Irish further from the British people. It may bring them to a more satisfactory coöperation.

THE UNIVERSITY AND THE LEGISLATURE.

Taxpayers of Illinois wondered why the charges of improper or inordinate expenditure by the state university made in the assembly should induce that body to omit its biennial visit of inspection. That decision has been advisedly reversed with the understanding that members will pay their own expenses on the trip. It is reassuring that the university has urged the usual inspection which ought to assist the legislature to come to an informed judgment upon essential needs of the institution and the possibilities of retrenchment.

In the meantime, since allegations of improper expenditure have been given publicity, friends of the university suggest that it is timely to call attention to the fact that the university is turning back about 22 per cent of the appropriation passed at the last general assembly. Two years ago $11,280,000 was appropriated and because of economies already made in recognition of present conditions the fiscal year ending July 1 will find over $2,500,000 unused.

As THE TRIBUNE has remarked in previous comment, this is a record we could wish imitated by other agencies of government. That further curtailments in the activities of the university or other economies are necessary or expedient must await the judgment of the legislature. The charge in the house that a scandalous condition exists must certainly be thoroughly investigated, unless publicly retracted, but it does not justify prejudgment upon the university administration or prejudice as to its legitimate demands.

Editorial of the Day

TO THE CENTURY OF PROGRESS SHOW.

[Peoria Transcript.]

The first United States naval vessel to make the voyage to Lake Michigan through the newly completed waterway will be the Peoria submarine chaser, the U. S. S. C. No. 64. The cruise will be made on June 1, and the Peoria ship, followed by a similar vessel from St. Louis, will join lake vessels for exhibition drills at Northerly Island lagoon on the Century of Progress grounds on June 5. For the month that follows the ship will cruise the lake, and in August will be sent to train officers in the R. O. T. C. of Northwestern university.

The Peoria submarine chaser has earned considerable advertising for itself and the men who train on it, both because of its trim and snappy performance in the river and because the boys of the local naval reserve are proud of it and use it on every possible occasion.

It is therefore of considerable gratification locally that the vessel should be the first to go through the newly completed waterway. For several years it has been the navy's representative on the upper waters of the Illinois. A new cruising radius is now opened by completion of the lakes to gulf channel. In time cruises by boating enthusiasts between Peoria and Chicago will probably be frequent. Steamboat service may be offered this season, and for the steamboat that first offers an all-expense tour to the Century of Progress exposition there is probably a successful and profitable season in the offing.

The navy points the way to visiting the exposition by water.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

AND ONLY YESTERDAY we heard that one of the latest things the inventors have done is to put some sort of oil and blacking, or goodness knows what, in leather, and that it works out to the surface in the shoes as you walk around and keeps them looking as though they had just been shined. It's a fine idea, but there seems to be a joker in that invention—to keep your shoes looking newly shined you have to walk around. What about the lounge lizards and the chair sitters on the verandas? The inventors are never going to get those boys to walk around, no matter how dirty and shabby their shoes get. An invention that calls for any outlay of energy is going to be a total loss to lots of people. What are inventions for, anyhow?

WINGED GHOSTS.

(To a Butterfly Collector.)

He thumbed through books, and walked the narrow byways
That lead to daisy-frosted fields of grass,
In search of butterflies which he might treasure
Between two shining plates of polished glass.
He wanted to have something to remember
The loveliness of Spring when Summer dies.
(He failed to pause and think that he could capture
The wings of love within a woman's eyes—
A woman who would smile in winter evenings
When his black shadow fell across the snow,
A woman who would listen to his musings
While clocks ticked on in soft adagio.)

They say his butterflies are worth the seeing.
To them he points with pride when strangers call . . .
But how can man be happy, or contented,
Whose Springs are neatly pinned upon a wall?

DOGS ARE GENIAL SOULS. We met ours yesterday as we were walking towards the lake. "How are you and the flu getting along?" asked the doc. "Well," said we, sourly, "it's got us fully resolved to keep right on walking east until our hat floats." "Good," exclaimed the doc, happily; "that's great! A day or two more like that and then if you don't drown you'll be well." Happy souls, docs, happy souls!

PSYCHOANALYZING OUR RECENT DEPRESSION.

"It all started with goofy golf," he said, "marble shooters, horseshoe throwers, pool players going against all sorts of fantastic hazards—amateurs who didn't know a niblick from a mashie, trying to loop the loop, leap pools of water and make par which experts could hardly do. They took all kinds of chances with their balls—pretty balls of pink and blue and green. And no caddies. If they lost a ball they just walked up and bought another. For a while it was a grand game for the fellows who ran it. But the players soon played out.

"And now we are in the jigsaw puzzle phase, trying to piece together an almost impossible chaos of things into a sane, though often tawdry, pattern. It's everybody's game, requiring patience mostly, and endurance. No experts. Bankers and statesmen succeed no better with it than schoolboys. A quiet game to be played in the home long into the night. Sometimes there seem to be too many pieces; sometimes too few. But with perseverance they all fit in after awhile perfectly. A design appears. Commonplace, inartistic, perhaps, and not at all what was expected. But a design. And the family retire, weary, but at peace and satisfied once more. . . . A Design for Living." EOLUS.

AND IT'S STILL a mystery what great military secret young Lieut. Bailey-Stewart of that proud Scotch regiment the Seaforth Highlanders sold to the Germans. As the Seaforths wear kilts we rather believe Germans have been trying to find out how they kept their knees warm in winter.

Oh! So That's Who Eats 'Em!

R. H. L.: I gave three inward cheers when I read your dismissal of the catfish from polite society. Now comes a fella extolling him—slime, habits, and profile. Why, at home in New Orleans, I have spent countless delightful hours in the old French market just wandering around admiring the beautiful snappers, pompano, redfish, Spanish mackerel, salt water speckled trout, flounders and croakers, to say nothing of the live oysters, shrimp, and soft shell crabs. Now, there are one or two stalls displaying fresh water catfish, and I give you my word, sir, that I have never seen anybody go near there that wasn't a Republican. B. J. C.

PORTRAIT IN SONG II.

She is a mood of dream, a flame
In languorous dusk. When she speaks
One hears no word of what she says,
Lulled so is one within the charm
Of her melodious low voice.
Below the warm depths of her eyes
Dolorous shadows come and go.
Beauty envelops her, mellowing
The curves of her body to smoothness,
Brushing the dark coils of her hair
To a deeper tint of bronze.
Often languid as a willow.
Often refreshing as a wind
That sweeps through deep autumnal leaves,
She is as vivid as a canvas
By Roerick or by Ainsfeld.
Oh, you might find her in the cloisters
Of a convent, dreaming always
The immortal dreams of woman,
Or in a cabaret, singing,
"I've got a right to sing the Blues."

DIRTY AIR AND LIGHTING.

FOR a period of one year J. E. Ives, working with the late Dr. C. Hampson Jones, tried to determine the effect of smoke, dirt, and water on light in a large city. They made their observations in Baltimore. One station was located on the top of a police station near the center of the city, where the pollution was at its worst, while the other was in a building in a residential suburb.

A comparison was made between ordinary window illumination in the two places on days when the conditions of cloud were about the same in the two locations. On 193 of the 365 days these conditions were the same and comparisons could be made.

The 193 days were classed as:
54 clear.
49 cloudy.
90 mixed.

In Baltimore, in this year, about 28 per cent of the days were clear as judged from these two points of observation.

Among the conclusions were these:

Smoke caused a large loss of light, in some instances reaching 50 per cent. The average loss for the year was 13.2 per cent for clear days, 15.9 for cloudy days, and 14.1 daily for all days.

The factors that entered into the case were haze due to smoke, and dirt, humidity, and velocity and direction of the wind.

This study was similar to one made in New York, and it led to about the same general results. It showed that smoke, dirt, and moisture in the air add greatly to the cost of lighting offices, stores, working places, and homes.

It was not intended to contribute to our knowledge of the effects of these impurities in fog, cloud formation, hours of sunlight, or the quality thereof from the standpoint of health resistance to disease, growth, or bodily vigor. It confirms what we know, though we could not prove it—namely: that smoke, dirt, and water in the air raise our bills for lighting.

As to some of the other harmful effects of polluted air there is an abundance of proof. Here are some conclusions for which H. B. Meller of Mellon institute, Pittsburgh, is responsible:

"In a certain study in September there was 30 per cent less ultraviolet in the air on the average smoky day, as compared with those classed as nonsmoky. In October there was an average loss of 33 per cent; in November it was 23 per cent; December, 11 per cent; January, 27 per cent; February, 61 per cent."

There are other studies which show the average number of hours of sunlight per day by months and the quality of the light from the health standpoint during each hour.

This information is gathered from different cities in various parts of the country and shows the effect of location, climate, elevation, clouds, and fogs, as well as smoke and dirt in the air.

NUMB FINGERS.

E. R. writes: What causes my fingers to get numb? It does not bother me during the day, but at night I wake up and could scream with pain. I am 34 years old and am a very nervous person.

REPLY.

Pressure on your arm or shoulder is a frequent cause. Neuritis is another important cause. If you have pain neuritis is the probable cause.

If you are a nervous person and have a way of screaming you probably were not properly trained from childhood up. As a rule the screamers suffered from deficient padding in childhood. Much pain has resulted from that deficiency in the upbringing of persons of the last two or three generations.

THE SOUTHWEST.

L. H. writes:

1. What and where is the most desirable climate for one suffering from nasal catarrh and sinus trouble?

2. Is living in a pine forest beneficial? If so, what kind of pine?

REPLY.

1. A warm, dry climate, such as that of southern Arizona, is best. Any warm climate is better than a cold one.

2. It is better than a smoky city. The kind of pine is unimportant.

FORECLOSURE.

Chicago, March 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. Is there any possibility of securing anything out of a foreclosure? I am the second mortgage holder and there is also a third mortgage holder. 2. Should I employ an attorney to protect my interest? I am a city employé's wife who has not been paid for some time. 3. Would an attorney accept the case with pay for fees after the city pays? M. H.

1. If you remain passive it is not likely that you will receive anything, but if the property is worth more than the amount of the first mortgage plus the charges, then by bidding a larger amount at the foreclosure sale or by redeeming from that sale you might get something.

2. Depends on the facts.

3. Some attorneys might. The best way to find out is by taking the matter up with the attorney whom you would employ.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

LEASEHOLD INTEREST.

Chicago, March 23.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I bought a first mortgage from a bank two years ago. The value was given as follows: Ground, $5,000; building, $20,000. I now find the ground is leased. The bank admits the error in selling me the mortgage. They have offered to take the mortgage back and give me another in place of it. The amount I paid was $6,000 and there is another $500 held by another party. I would like to have my money back. What redress have I? M. B.

We are not in a position to say that the leasehold interest on the ground was not worth $5,000. Your letter does not make clear, in addition, whether these figures were parts of the agreement under which you purchased or were merely preliminary expressions of opinion. We are inclined to advise you to take the substitute mortgage if a good one is offered.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

CHATTEL MORTGAGE.

Chicago, March 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—A holds chattel mortgage from X. How can A assign mortgage to B for debt A owes B? R. N. W.

If X has executed chattel mortgage notes, then all that is necessary is for A to indorse the notes and assign the mortgage. We cannot advise to advantage without knowing the wording of the papers.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

MARCH 30, 1917.

BERLIN.—War with the United States is farthest from Germany's wishes, and if hostilities come the blame for the result "will rest with the American government." This was, in substance, the attitude taken by Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, German imperial chancellor, in an address before the reichstag. The chancellor also indicated that Germany has no intention of modifying its ruthless submarine warfare, saying, however, that it was taken up and is being conducted without intentional enmity toward the United States. The chancellor declared that Great Britain's starvation campaign against the central powers forced Germany, in self-defense and as a last resort, to seize the retaliatory weapon of the unlimited submarine blockade. In his speech he also referred to conditions in Russia and said Germany was not desirous of restoring "czardom."

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Hope of averting war between the United States and Germany has been dissipated by Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg's address to the reichstag, according to the practically unanimous opinion of administration officials. Those officials who read the quotations from the speech, carried by the press cables, said that they now have no doubt President Wilson will propose a declaration of a state of war with Germany when he appears before the extraordinary session of congress next week.

WAR SUMMARY.—London reports the capture of an entire divisional staff, along with 900 men, of the 53d Turkish division in Palestine. The British advanced 15 miles after the battle with a force of 20,000 men. London reports the capture of another village in France with heavy German losses. Paris reports the day on the western front as relatively calm. Berlin chronicles minor successes on the western battle field. Petrograd reports the repulse of German troops north of Stanislavov and southwest of Brzezany. Martial law has been declared throughout Spain as a result of protests by the people on the food shortage.

PETROGRAD.—An appeal to the workmen of the German and Austrian coalition to rise against the imperial authority and to establish their freedom, says the Petrograd Telegraph agency [the Russian official news agency], was launched at a massmeeting of workmen, soldiers, and deputies held at the duma. The appeal was directed to the proletariat of the whole world, but it specially designates the central powers, urging the workmen of these countries to "throw off the yoke of autocratic rule as the Russian people have overthrown the imperial autocrat and refuse to serve longer as an instrument in the hands of kings, capitalists, and bankers." By united effort, the appeal declares, "we can stop this awful murder which is the shame of humanity."

FORT OGLETHORPE, Ga.—Twelve sailors, including two officers, and ten Chinese cooks from the interned German auxiliary cruisers, Prinz Eitel Friedrich and Kronprinz Wilhelm, arrived here last night from Philadelphia under a guard of marines. They were placed in the barracks with 383 men from the Prinz Eitel Friedrich and Appan crews, who arrived several days ago.

CHICAGO.—Hundreds of persons, a large number of them women, engaged in food riots in the congested districts of the west side yesterday, in which butcher shops were besieged, many persons attacked, and more than fifty arrests made. All during the day and up to a late hour last night crowds stormed the markets and groceries.

CHICAGO.—"To raise a fund of $1,000,000 to make Illinois and Chicago dry." This is the object to be stated at the business men's banquet at the Auditorium hotel tonight. One of the speakers will be S. S. Kresge of Detroit, owner of a chain of 165 stores, who gave $100,000 last year to the Anti-Saloon league of the nation and was chairman of the executive committee of Detroit in the campaign which made Michigan dry.

MORE PRECIOUS THAN RUBIES.

Chicago, March 24.—There may be no sentiment in business, as the greeting card manufacturer remarked when making a horizontal cut in his employes' wages, but perhaps that is one of the things that is afflicting business. If it were possible to substitute sentiment and honesty for insatiable greed I am sure the results would be beneficial.

Therefore, since it seems to be the custom to leave the slogans and mottoes and the principles that they preach at home and elsewhere when proceeding to business, I suggest that at some commanding position, preferably facing La Salle street at Jackson boulevard, as this is conceded to be our financial center, the following inscription be permanently installed: "A Good Name Is Rather to Be Chosen than Great Riches." This should be large enough to be read at some distance, and, while it is sentiment, if you like, it is about the best business of which I know anything. The same idea might also be carried out in the interior of some of our large as well as small business institutions. I am confident a little human touch would not destroy the dignity and might enhance the morale of all concerned.

Let us try to put honesty across, but not in the negative sense of one of our leading citizens, since deceased, who said some years ago that he knew honesty was the best policy because he had tried all the others. W. E. FAITHORN.

THE BILL ANALYZED.

Chicago, March 22.—Anent the discussion on farm relief and the new bill pending in congress, the following might be of interest. The farm board cost taxpayers $350,000,000, of which about $190,000,000 was lost on wheat stabilization operations. Figuring 120,000,000 people in the United States, this cost for one year would be about 50 cents per person.

Under the provisions of the new bill, the price of wheat will be raised to 90 cents per bushel, or an increase of 40 cents over the present Chicago price. We consume in the United States about 650,000,000 bushels a year, or about 5.4 bushels per citizen. This amount of wheat costs now at Chicago prices about $2.70; under the new plan it would cost $4.86, or an increase of $2.16. It can readily be seen that the new bill on wheat alone would cost each citizen $1.66 more than the stabilization operation on wheat of the farm board per year.

Aside from the increased cost to the taxpayer, the bill, through its provision of reduced acreage, would have a tendency to cut down the size of the crop, hence throwing men out of work and forcing railroads into idleness. Needless to say, export business would be killed; it has been extremely small since the beginning of the farm board's operations. R. V. ARENTZ.

A SUBSTITUTE PLAN.

Chicago, March 22.—If the government wants to help the farmer it could best do so by leaving him alone for a while, but if it must for political reasons do something, then why not do it simply? Take for example the wheat situation. At least 500,000,000 bushels of wheat are processed in this country for domestic consumption. A tax of 5 cents per bushel on that wheat would not be a serious matter and would produce a revenue of $25,000,000. Good wheat land can be leased for $4 per acre, and in many cases for less. The so-called marginal lands can be leased for less. Hence, 6,000,000 acres of good wheat land could be leased and withdrawn from spring wheat production at a cost of $24,000,000, leaving $1,000,000 of the fund for administrative expenses.

Even with the present surplus of wheat the retirement of 6,000,000 acres of good spring wheat land from production, together with the indicated shortage in our winter wheat crop, would in less than sixty days change the entire picture so far as the price of wheat is concerned. If that were announced as a definite plan it would have an immediate effect. It would dispel the doubt and uncertainty that are again casting their gloomy shadows on all activity. The cruelest punishment is uncertainty. Why continue to inflict it upon a harassed people?

Our only hope lies with the senate. The house of representatives has capitulated, even against its members' own better judgment.

There are laws that govern governments. They are the laws of nature. Man-made laws must work with, not against, natural trends if they are to succeed. A WORRIED READER.

BETWEEN TWO FIRES.

Hubbard Woods, March 22.—Yesterday's TRIBUNE contained an article entitled "Tittle Defends Himself Against Pacifism Charge." Will you please tell me why the charge of pacifism requires defense? Only fifteen years after the world war and in a supposedly civilized community, pacifism should be taken for granted by the layman and certainly all the more so by a minister, whose profession should be incompatible with militarism. H. L. I.

LIBRARY HOURS.

Chicago, March 23.—The libraries of this city close daily at 6 p. m. as well as on holidays and Sundays. What opportunity does an employed person have to make use of these institutions? Would it not be feasible to close a library on Monday instead of Sunday? Would it not be better to keep a library open from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m. rather than from 9 a. m. to 6 p. m.?

SPEED WORLD'S FAIR BUILDING; DEADLINE MAY 15

All Projects Planned Reported Under Way.

BY VIRGINIA GARDNER.

World's Fair construction is taking on increased speed with the approach of the May 15 deadline recently set by authorities for the completion of building in preparation for the Fair's official opening June 1.

Maj. Lenox R. Lohr yesterday said that lower costs have effected a saving of about half of what construction would have cost in 1929. Already more than $32,000,000 has been spent by A Century of Progress management and exhibitors for the building outlay. Within the next few days exhibits are expected to begin arriving.

All Plans in Construction.

"Every building drawn up in plans two years ago is under construction, in addition to many more," said Maj. Lohr. "We never let a contract unless we have cash in the bank to pay for it. We have never sold a bond for less than par. Many contractors have accepted fair bonds for payment. Of a $10,000,000 bond issue we have only $279,000 unsold."

Contracts for the state of Michigan's $125,000 exhibit will be let on Friday, according to George E. Bishop of Marquette, Mich., business manager of the Michigan Century of Progress commission.

A recreational room in the exhibit will be a bit of Michigan north woods transplanted to the Fair and kept at a temperature of 64 degrees. In it will be a waterfall and spruce, balsam, fir, hemlock, and silver and white birch trees brought from Michigan.

Ground was broken yesterday for Paris, Inc., a three acre development at Twenty-third street and the lake front, which will be an amusement center for fair-goers.

Women Plan Participation.

More than 500 women in the theater of the Chicago Woman's club yesterday heard Miss Lena Madesin Phillips, president of the National Council of Women, discuss plans for participating in A Century of Progress. Thirty-one women's organizations affiliated with the National Council of Women will hold an international congress from July 16 to 22 as part of their contribution to the World's Fair.

They also will sponsor an exhibit occupying 2,400 square feet in the Social Science hall, one of the communications building group on Northerly Island at A Century of Progress. The murals will depict the major events in the woman's movement for the last 100 years.

Mementoes of famous women, including Susan B. Anthony's red shawl, which made many appearances at suffrage meetings, and the inkwell which Harriet Stowe used when writing "Uncle Tom's Cabin," will be seen in glass cases.

Among the speakers at the international congress will be Dame Rachel Crowdy, formerly of the secretariat of the league of nations; Baroness Ishimoto of Japan, Mary R. Beard, historian; Jane Addams, Grace Abbott of the children's bureau, and Mary Anderson, head of the woman's bureau of the department of labor.

COLLISION KILLS AUTOIST; THREE OTHERS INJURED

1933 Motor Toll in County Rises to 197.

Stanley Wicz, 22 years old, of 1702 Cullerton street, was killed last evening and Mrs. Anna Pochabrodsky, 40, of 3525 South Damen avenue, was seriously injured when automobiles in which they were riding collided and overturned at 24th street and Turner avenue. Edward Kominski, 1628 Cullerton street, and Charles Pochabrodsky, husband of the injured woman, who were driving, were slightly hurt.

Wicz's death and three others yesterday increased the Cook county motor toll to 197 since Jan. 1. The other victims:

Raul Soto, 5 years old, of 9132 Burley avenue. Fatally injured by a truck in front of his home.

Frank Dolik, 48 years old, 4628 South Wood street. Died in the county hospital. He was struck by a truck on Monday.

Minerva Harris, 48 years old, colored, of 3809 Giles avenue. Died in St. Luke's hospital. She was struck by an automobile March 10.

Henry D. Penfield, 33 years old, 929 Forest avenue, Evanston, city treasurer and candidate for mayor in the election to be held April 4, escaped injury last night when his car and that of William Barg, 37 years old, 1147 Ashland avenue, Evanston, collided at Florence avenue and Wilder street. Both cars were but slightly damaged.

David Strong, 7 years old, son of the late Walter Strong, publisher of the Chicago Daily News, was in St. Anthony's hospital, Rockford, last night, after being run down by an automobile, earlier in the day. It was said he would be discharged from the hospital in a day or two.

The accident occurred near the Strong estate, near Oregon, Ill., while David was watching his brother, Robert, 13 years old, and a companion, swim ashore from their overturned sailboat in Rock river.

SEE QUICK ACTION TO PUT LIMITS ON NARCOTICS TRADE

GENEVA, Switzerland, March 29.—(AP)—Prospects for adoption of the league of nations narcotics convention suddenly became very bright today with the announcement that Great Britain and Germany expect to send their ratifications tomorrow and that Japan's will be forwarded in the next few days.

These three manufacturing countries, plus the United States, which already has ratified, would give the four manufacturers required. A total of 25 also appears in sight, for ratifications have been received or promised immediately from Spain, Italy, Bulgaria, Turkey, Chile, and Salvador.

The convention for limitation of manufacture of narcotics, concluded in 1931, requires 25 ratifications, including those of four manufacturing states. These ratifications must be deposited by April 13 or the convention will be defaulted.

ALBERT MOHR, ONCE ON PARK BOARD, IS DEAD

Albert Mohr, president of John Mohr & Sons, boiler manufacturers, and a former member of the south park board, died early yesterday in his home at 7307 South Shore drive. Mr. Mohr was 72 years old and had been ill since last August.

Mr. Mohr served as a south park commissioner from 1913 to 1923. Funeral services will be held Friday at 10 a. m. at St. Margaret's Episcopal church, 2553 East 73d street. Burial will be at Rosehill cemetery. The widow, Emily Sutton Mohr, and three sons, Joseph S., Albert W., and Louis E. Mohr, survive.

BLAMES U. S. AND LEAGUE FOR FAR EAST CONFLICTS

Boston, Mass., March 28.—[Special.]—Yosuke Matsuoka, Japanese delegate to the league of nations, who walked out of its assembly when his nation was criticized for its Manchurian policy, told a Boston audience tonight that the United States and the league have hindered a settlement of the Sino-Japanese problem.

"The problem might have been settled between Japan and China, but for the hope that was given the Chinese from abroad—from the league and the United States," he said. "The encouragement to China caused a continuance of Chinese resistance down to the present day."

In the main theme of his address, made at the American Academy of Arts and Sciences under the auspices of the Japan society of Boston, Matsuoka charged China with attempting to inspire European powers to war against Japan.

"If let alone the two nations in the far east can get along rather well," he said. "'We have lived beside each other for many centuries with fewer wars than the European nations have had. It was the aggressions of the west, in which even the United States took a part, that caused Japan to make herself a modern state.

"Now Japan has become the defender of the east. China being unable to defend herself. People of the west may laugh at that statement nevertheless it is as true as that the United States is the guardian of the liberty of the western hemisphere. We, too, have a Monroe doctrine of the east."

Gordon W. Wilson Is Dead; Light Company Executive

Chicago friends learned yesterday of the death of Gordon W. Wilson in Lakeland, Fla., last week. He was 49 years old and lived at 415 9th street, Wilmette. During the world war Mr. Wilson served as controller of the Emergency Fleet corporation. He was director of safety in recent years for the Utilities Power and Light corporation, 327 South La Salle street. Surviving Mr. Wilson are his widow, Winifred; two sons, Thomas and Jerry, and a brother, Alan Wilson of Evanston.

Divorces H. B. Mathews Jr. on Drunkenness Charge

Mrs. Clara Albright Mathews of the Sheridan Plaza hotel was granted a divorce yesterday by Circuit Judge Philip J. Finnegan from Harry B. Mathews Jr., vice president of the Mississippi Lime and Material corporation of Alton, Ill. Mrs. Mathews charged habitual drunkenness, and told Judge Finnegan that she had received a settlement out of court.

Associate of Lyman Abbott Dies at 80 in Cranford, N. J.

Cranford, N. J., March 29.—(AP)—Robert Townsend, managing editor from 1897 to 1932 of Lyman Abbott's "The Outlook," died here early today. He was 80 years old.

Oren P. Barry, C., M., St. P. & P. Assistant Controller, Dies

Oren P. Barry, assistant controller of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad, died suddenly yesterday of a heart attack in his home at 6535 North Rockwell street. He had been employed in the accounting department of the railroad for 25 years. Funeral services will be held Saturday, at 2 p. m., in the chapel at 41 North Leavitt street. Burial will be in Acacia Park cemetery. The widow, Lillian E. Barry, and two sons, Oren Jr. and Donald, survive.

OREN P. BARRY.

Michael Wheeler Is Dead; Lifelong Geneva Resident

Michael Wheeler, a lifelong resident of Geneva, died at his home there yesterday at the age of 73 years. He had been ill 15 months. Mr. Wheeler operated the Hotel Geneva for years and was one of the widely known men of the Fox river valley. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Dies in Michigan at 105; Believed Oldest in State

Charlotte, Mich., March 29.—[Special.]—Mrs. Lyera Jane Winn, said to have been the oldest resident of Michigan, died here today. She was 105 years old on Dec. 24, 1932. Many years ago she told that in a dream she had seen a book on which was written the statement that she would die on her 104th birthday anniversary. She had trusted this vision and was much puzzled, according to her friends, when she survived fifteen months past her allotted span. Mrs. Winn was born in New York state, but had lived in Michigan about seventy years.

Woman Takes Own Life by Poison in Hotel Room

A woman about 35 years old, who had registered as Mrs. Elyesetta Merrick of Youngstown, O., was found unconscious from the effects of poison yesterday in her room at the Stevens hotel. She died soon afterward in the county hospital. In the hotel room the police found a note written by the woman stating that she was tired of "living in a cruel and unjust world." The name she used in registering is believed to have been assumed. Authorities at Youngstown were unable to find any one who knew her.

SEIZE ALLEGED RACKETEERS AS WRIT VIOLATORS

Two alleged members of a labor racketeering organization of which Bernard O'Donnell, brother of William "Klondike" O'Donnell, beer gangster, is said to be the head, were arrested in the Fulton street commission market district yesterday. Both are charged with violating an injunction issued last Thursday by Judge Robert E. Gentzel restraining racketeers from visiting the market.

The men held are Daniel Considine, 35 years old, 2516 Lime street, and Martin O'Brien, 40 years old, 7948 Rhodes avenue, both of whom were arrested several days ago after poultry dealers had complained that they were terrorizing commission market workers.

The injunction was obtained by Attorney Harry J. Busch, representing the Chicago Poultry Handlers' union, who asserted that racketeers, headed by O'Donnell, were attempting to force the poultry workers to join a new union known as the Commission Drivers, Chauffeurs, and Helpers' union, No. 703.

CANADA VOTES 5 YEAR PENALTY FOR TOTING GUNS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., March 29.—Condemning noticeably increased tendencies toward gun toting as an importation from the United States, the Canadian parliament today moved to increase penalties for gun carrying and tighten restrictions governing possession of arms.

Unanimously, the house of commons approved a five year imprisonment penalty clause covering concealed weapons or sawed-off shotguns and revolvers. Two years additional imprisonment will be imposed for a crime perpetrated while in possession of firearms.

Premier Bennett announced his government would lend no more financial aid to the $80,000,000 St. Lawrence river Beauhornois canalization project.

DISABLED VETS VOTE TO JOIN IN GENERAL TAG DAY

The Disabled American Veterans of the World War agreed tentatively last night to join with the Poppy Day association in the general tag day to be held for the various ex-service men's groups on May 25. In doing so, the Disabled veterans rescinded their action of last week in withdrawing from the association, and ended the suggested threat of holding a separate tag day.

However, the Disabled veterans withheld decision on whether they would sell poppies or forget-me-nots, the latter flower being their official emblem. They also left open the question of what quotas of flowers are to be sold by the groups in the association. Each group retains the proceeds of its own sales, except for organization deductions.

Despondent Woman Walks Into Lagoon and Drowns

Mrs. Elizabeth Schacht, 59 years old, 2634 West 15th street, ended her life by drowning in the Douglas park lagoon yesterday. Wearing only a house dress, and bareheaded, Mrs. Schacht walked to the park and then waded slowly out into the lagoon until her head was submerged. The body was recovered by park policemen. Mrs. Schacht, according to relatives, had been despondent over ill health.

DR. HUBBARD QUITS OAK PARK PASTORATE FOR CLEVELAND POST

DR. FOWLER.

Bishop Ernest L. Waldorf of the Methodist Episcopal area of Chicago announced yesterday the resignation of the Rev. Dr. Carlisle L. Hubbard as pastor of the First Methodist Episcopal church, Oak Park. Dr. Hubbard will go to the First Methodist Episcopal church of Cleveland. His new charge was the pastorate of Bishop Waldorf when the latter was elevated to the episcopacy in 1920. Bishop Waldorf announced that the Rev. Dr. George Fowler, pastor of Trinity church, Kansas City, has been appointed to succeed Dr. Hubbard. Dr. Fowler will conduct his first services in the Oak Park church on Easter Sunday.

BERLIN CHEMIST DROPS SUIT TO REVOKE DIVORCE

The petition of Gregor Seldowitsch, Berlin chemist, to set aside a divorce granted last fall to his wife, Alexandra, was dismissed yesterday before Judge Joseph Sabath in the Superior court by stipulation of opposing counsel.

At the same time Attorney Aaron Cohen, representing the chemist, indicated that the suit for $100,000 which Seldowitsch filed against Prof. Vladimir Ipatieff of Northwestern university, charging alienation of affections, would also be dismissed. Only the Præcipe of this action was filed.

In his petition to set aside the divorce Seldowitsch charged that a romance between his ex-wife and Prof. Ipatieff was responsible for the divorce action. Mrs. Seldowitsch, daughter of a former admiral in the Imperial Russian navy, now makes her home with Prof. and Mrs. Ipatieff.

Both Attorney Cohen and Attorney Louis Jacobson refused to discuss reports that an out of court settlement had preceded the action yesterday.

Miss Lydie J. Winn Dies in Michigan at Age of 105

Charlotte, Mich., March 29.—[Special.]—Miss Lydie Jane Winn died here today at the age of 105. On every birthday since she became 100 she had received congratulations from Presidents and governors as well as scores of other persons. Miss Winn was born in New York state in 1827, when John Quincy Adams was President. She liked to tell of hearing Van Buren and Webster deliver speeches.

Have Color in Cheeks

Old American Dishes Served at White House

Kitchen Made Laboratory by Mrs. Roosevelt.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES HERRICK.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 29.—[Special.]—Mrs. Roosevelt held her press conference today in her sitting room, but she really should have received the newspaper women down in the White House kitchen. For their reportorial pencils jotted down so many savory sentences about succulent soups that it made their mouths water merely to read over their notes.

A crabmeat soup that Martha Washington stirred up at Mount Vernon; a gumbo z'herbes that pleased the palate of Andrew Jackson down in New Orleans; a coarse hominy that was served to an Astor at the White House last week. These were some of the dishes on today's mental menu.

Mrs. Roosevelt told the newspaper women that the White House kitchen had taken on a new culinary responsibility.

In addition to being used as a laboratory for experimenting with "inexpensive food that is nourishing" the kitchen of the executive mansion is also to become a sort of revival meeting for old time recipes. In the words of Mrs. Paxton Hibben, a friend of Mrs. Roosevelt's who is doing some research on early American cooking, "we want to make the onion and herb as important as the can opener."

Mrs. Roosevelt uses the seven and a half cent menu, she explained, not to encourage all people to spend as little as possible on food, but in the hope of "helping people of very little money, who are at present interested in spending that money as wisely as possible for nourishing food."

She is using Mrs. Hibben's menus in an endeavor to serve "interesting" food; food with a historic background.

But more fundamentally than that, Mrs. Roosevelt feels that this is a time when all women ought to be interested in promoting an interest in the proper feeding of children.

"I think," she said today, "this is a time when perhaps we can teach a great many people to cook properly and not ruin their digestion and that of their children."

She wonders if the depression, having brought to light so many tragic cases of malnutrition, may not indirectly, be the cure as well as the cause.

As for the historic foods, they have already found their way to the White House table. The other day when the Roosevelts were entertaining Mrs. Vincent Astor and a company of guests, the menu consisted of: Gumbo z'herbes egg timbales with mushroom sauce, samp [which all the newspaper men had to be told was a sort of coarse hominy]; corn bread and a sweet tart.

Here's the recipe for the gumbo z'herbes which Andrew Jackson used to smack his lips over:

After washing and chopping coarsely put one handful of spinach, one handful dandelion, ½ bunch watercress, half the tops of a bunch each of beets and turnips, ½ bunch parsley, one bunch new onions [tops], and the outside leaves of a green cabbage, into a pot with two quarts of cold water and a turkey wing, or what is left of day before yesterday's chicken. Boil gently for one hour, strain over liquor and set aside to be used later. Heat one tablespoon of bacon drippings in frying pan and add some sliced onions. Just before the onions begin to color add the greens from which the water has been strained. Fry all together for three minutes; sift in one tablespoon of flour and when thoroughly mixed add to the greens liquor. Cook all together for one hour; stir in another tablespoon of flour mixed with a little cold water; let boil up again. Remove the meat and stir in one tablespoon of filé powder [if not available substitute okra]. Serve with a bowl of rice.

Filé powder, originated by the Choctaw Indians, consists of young sassafras leaves, dried and beaten to a powder, then passed through a hair sieve.

One-Dish Meal Can Rival the Costlier Kind

"Layer Dinner" New Name for Combination.

BY MARY MEADE.

Economical tips for week-end food shoppers—a Saturday morning radio feature—will be presented Saturday by Mary Meade over station W-G-N. Tune in at 9:45 for Miss Meade's market chat.

Stews and like inspirations for one dish meals used to be said to be the lazy cook's method of saving on the dishwashing. From which we would gather that the bigger the stack of dishes piled up after a feast, the more food the diners had been offered—and the higher soared the stocks of the cook.

All of which long since went by the boards. Doctors have explained the dangers of overeating, and kitchen seers have discovered that a one dish meal can be quite as delectable and stylish as any of its many coursed predecessors, and what's more can often be far less expensive and much easier to prepare.

For instance, let's have a look at those conglomerations of deliciousness that are being called "layer dinners." Experiments have shown that as low as 10 cents a meal per person a "layer dinner" of rice, beef, tomatoes, carrots, potatoes, and onions can be prepared, seasoned to taste and served with bread, cabbage gleaming with butter, and a topping of fat apple pie, milk, and coffee.

Here is one of these typical layer dinners:

LAYER DINNER.

2 cups canned tomatoes.
2 large carrots, sliced.
2 medium potatoes, sliced.
1 medium onion, sliced.
2 cups cooked rice.
Salt and pepper to taste.
1½ cups ground beef, packed down.
Bread crumbs.

Grease a baking dish and place a layer of rice in the bottom. Add ½ cup of the tomatoes. Then add alternate layers of the raw vegetables with the ground beef forming the center layer. Top with the last of the tomatoes and sprinkle with dried bread crumbs. Bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] for a little under an hour.

Or here is another thought along the one dish meal line which can be prepared quickly, usually from food which has been "planned ahead." It takes few dishes and puts little strain on the food bill. It should be used as a supper or luncheon salad and simply needs bread, milk, and a little fruit to set off.

SALMAGUNDI.

Cut into small dice enough boiled potato to make one cup. Add to this 2 1-3 cup of minced or diced pork, 2 chopped pimientos, ½ cup cut green beans, ½ cup diced celery, 2 sweet minced pickles, and enough mayonnaise or boiled salad dressing to moisten. Chill and then pile generously into crisp lettuce cups and garnish with pickled beet slices and a little additional mayonnaise.

Another luncheon dish which makes most delicious eating is mock turkey. This dish confesses candidly before ever starting that it has never even been near the real bird—but you may be fooled by the taste in spite of yourself.

MOCK TURKEY.

1 cup lentils.
2 tablespoons butter or other fat.
½ cup minced onions.
¾ cup chopped celery.
2-3 cup ground roasted peanuts.
¾ teaspoon salt.
Pepper to taste.
2 eggs, beaten.
¼ teaspoon soda.
1-3 cup dry bread crumbs.
1 1-2 cups milk.
8 slices bread, cut thin.

Cook the lentils in boiling, slightly salted water until tender. Drain and mash them thoroughly. Blend this mixture with the onion and celery which have been sauted in the fat. Add one of the beaten eggs and the salt, pepper, soda, nuts, and bread crumbs. Now blend the milk with the other egg; season, and dip the bread slices in it. Arrange a layer of dipped bread in the bottom of a buttered baking pan, then add a layer of the lentil mixture and continue alternating until all are used. Pour the rest of the egg and milk mixture over the top and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] for 40 minutes. To serve, unmold and slice, accompanying your "mock turkey" with vegetables and a brown gravy, if available.

Pattern Recalls Quaint Practice of Pioneer Days

Friendship Ring.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Not many quilts in the olden days were made of entirely new cloth, but the "Friendship Ring," made of new materials collected by friends, was different in this respect. Doesn't the name bring pictures of devoted pioneer women trekking across the plains to help with the quilt. . . . Elizabeth Todd and her bit of yellow print. . . . Annabel with her bright blue scraps? The pattern sometimes is known as "Dresden Plate" or "Broken China," but the term "Friendship Ring" carries dearer memories to many of the older women.

For a quilt pattern of this design, send five cents in stamps or coin to Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, printing your name and address clearly; or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn street.

MARY MEADE PRESENTS:

PASTRY

LEMON CHEESE PIE

A Charming Blonde

1 cup cottage cheese
2 tablespoons cream
½ teaspoon grated lemon peel
1 teaspoon lemon juice
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, well beaten
½ cup sugar
¼ cup seedless raisins

Force the cottage cheese through a fine sieve. Add the cream and then the lemon juice, lemon peel and the seasonings. Beat the sugar into the eggs and add with the washed raisins. Mix thoroughly and turn into a pie tin lined with unbaked pastry. Bake in a hot oven (450° F.) for 7 minutes. Then reduce the heat and continue baking in a slow oven (350° F.) 15 minutes longer or until the pie is set and golden brown.

Clip on the dotted line, mount on a card; mounted, the recipe just fits the new Mary Meade Recipe File . . . If you haven't one of these files, you may obtain it (containing 133 delightful recipes) at the Tribune Public Service Office, One South Dearborn Street. Price 25 cents. By mail, 33 cents.

Sell Jackets as Separate Clothes Item

Evening Models Displayed in City's Shops.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

After months of struggling with people who insisted upon selling a dress with any jacket you might crave, a few understanding souls have sent out separate jacket collections, but the gal who had the brilliant idea to gather together a prize collection of separate evening jackets, should be handsomely decorated with medals.

At last, you can find them, long, long cases of delightfully different evening jackets, with price tags that will knock you speechless. Just inside the revolving door of one Chicago store, you will see some of these captivating new things! What a grand time any one can have buying as many as three or four of the affairs, with little or no fuss with your budget.

Do you fancy tucks . . . then look for the clever tucked taffetas, with front sections and back of inch wide tucks from neckline to high waistline. The sleeves puffed to distraction . . . a bit of a collar is shirred right down the middle of the back to make it stand and frame your face.

You will find creamy white taffetas, pale chartreuse green honeys, some luscious cerise shades and black and brown. Also among these crisp swishing taffetas will be found the simple, snappy models of a corded silk, that remind you of old fashioned silk bengaline. These corded affairs are stunning . . . they are lined and have a smoothly tailored roll collar that curves down to nothing over your chest . . . huge sleeves that are tucked into the arm . . . and a rib hugging silhouette that will make you slim as a poplar tree.

As you would hope, the colors are delectable . . . there is a golden pumpkin yellow that will do grand things for a flowered dance dress or a sleek black satin, or over the shoulders of a gay green spring evening gown. The white models are perfect compromises for the girl who wants a simple, swanky white jacket, without buying the more severe and masculine mess jacket type.

Gleaming, shimmering velvet creations are available for the same amazing low prices . . . lovely soft velvet jackets with ingeniously shirred sleeves that are wide and loose . . . seductively wicked black models that tie demurely high under the chin, all delightfully designed affairs that brilliant shoppers are using for a frilled and fluted afternoon frock.

If you like the heavier velveteen jackets, you will cheer wildly for the sleek tailored velveteens with long leg-o-mutton sleeves all gone 1933, with long vertical tucks racing up and down the unusual sleeves. One such creation in soft turquoise blue is outstanding.

Remember, they are for sale, ALONE, not a dress within a mile, and the prices, as has been mentioned before, will make you stutter with unbelief!

President Roosevelt Made Member of Press Club

Washington, D. C., March 29.—(AP) President Roosevelt, pronounced "the most promising cub reporter who ever came out of Hyde Park," tonight was inducted formally into membership in the National Press club. The ceremony took place at a banquet attended only by members of the club. The President's qualifications as a reporter were given to the club by Frank B. Lord. Louis McHenry Howe, presidential secretary, also was made a member.

MINUTE MYSTERY CAN YOU SOLVE IT?

BY H. A. RIDLEY

[Copyright: 1933: By The Chicago Tribune.]

THE FALCON CASE.

The body of beautiful Barbara Falcon was left undisturbed awaiting the arrival of Prof. Fordney. She was lying flat on her back in the yard behind the garage, her arms close to her sides. The right stocking was torn across the instep, one heel cap was missing and her feet—in a position as pigeon-toed as she had walked in life! It was thought probable the girl had been beaten to death for the jewels and money she carried.

Sam Brooks, night man at the garage where Barbara kept her car, told Fordney that she had come in around 2 a. m. That she had gone out of the back door, saying there was a car waiting in the alley to drive her on home.

After some investigations, however, the professor could find no trace of any such car. He learned that Barbara had spent the evening with Mrs. Hemingthrone but had left her home at 11 o'clock. Further investigation proved:

Barbara had put the car up at 2.

Sam was alone at the garage.

There was a spot of automobile oil on the back of her dress.

Brooch and diamond rings were missing—also her purse.

Fordney knew that as yet he had insufficient evidence to arrest Brooks, but unless he found some one else who had been near the place at the time, the night man would find it very difficult to explain why he had moved the body. Why, if innocent, had he done so? And it certainly had been moved to near the gate where he said he found it!

How did the professor know?

Lucie Jacobs Is Bride

MR. AND MRS. WILLETT N. GORHAM.

Mother's Dress

Lovely, blue eyed, blonde haired Lucie Jacobs knelt on the white satin pre-dieu that a dozen Winnetka brides have used when she was married yesterday afternoon to Willett N. Gorham, son of the Sidney Smith Gorhams of La Grange. The service was read in the drawing room in the Jacobs home by Dr. Samuel Congress of the Community Congregational church of Winnetka at 4:30 before an altar banked with ferns and palms and lighted by ten white tapers.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Charles R. Jacobs, wore the white satin wedding gown that had been used by her mother on her wedding day. Trimmed in rosepoint lace, it fell into a long train finished with Venetian point. Her veil of tulle was caught in a crown of seed pearls. She carried in her right hand an old-fashioned bouquet of gardenias and lilies of the valley and the lace handkerchief that her grandmother and all of her aunts have carried on their wedding days.

Mrs. Jacobs wore a beige jacket dress with hat and gloves of sable brown. On her shoulder was pinned a corsage of orchids. Mrs. Gorham was dressed in a blue crêpe gown trimmed in the same shade of blue lace. She also wore orchids.

Sidney Smith Gorham Jr., who served his brother as best man, was the only attendant. Immediately following the ceremony there was a reception for the hundred guests, and after this a supper party for the bride and bridegroom and the bridal party at the Drake hotel. The newly marrieds are leaving today for New York, from where they will sail for the West Indies and South America. After May 1 they are to be at home at 21 East Elm street.

Miss Dietrich Will Return to Germany Soon

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., March 29.—[Special.]—Just when Greta Garbo comes back Marlene Dietrich is to go away. Miss Dietrich today announced her decision to leave for Germany with her 5 year old daughter, Maria Sieber, and all her belongings as soon as she finishes "Song of Songs." This probably will be in ten days, for completion of the film is held up awaiting the German actress' recovery from sore neck, sprained shoulder, and mild brain concussion, suffered when she was thrown from a horse.

"I won't decide what my future plans are until I have been in Berlin for some time," she said. "I expect to come back to Hollywood some time. In fact, my daughter, Maria, has made such good friends of the children at her school here, and is so healthy and happy here, that I am positive I shall come back. But before that perhaps I shall go on the stage; perhaps I shall make pictures in my home country. I can not say at this time, for although I have received many proposals, I have not taken up any of them."

She is anxious to see her mother and her husband, Rudolph Sieber, in Germany.

Both Marlene and Josef von Sternberg, her American sponsor, were asked if they intended to join up with Sam Katz, former high official of the Paramount company, for which all three had worked, in an independent film enterprise. Both declined to deny or affirm it.

Music Groups of Schools to Give 'Children's Crusade'

"The Children's Crusade," by Gabriel Pierne, with 500 voices from the junior high schools, will be given on the night of May 19 at Orchestra hall. Dr. J. Lewis Browne, director of music in the public schools, announced yesterday that this is the first performance of the masterpiece, which was awarded a prize by the city of Paris in 1904, in its entirety in Chicago. The junior high school singers will be augmented by 265 members of the Apollo club, soloists, and an orchestra of sixty.

Bathing Suits Have Color If Nothing Else

Daring Styles Are Shown by Exhibitors.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

With the new styles in bathing suits more extreme than ever, it appeared yesterday that bathing beach censors may have problems enough ahead of them this summer.

Never in all the history of beach costumes have colors been more exotic or fashions more daring, a bathing suit revue conducted by exhibitors in the Merchandise Mart revealed yesterday. Stylists seem to have borrowed their colors from tropical fish—brilliant yellow, blue or red, or chocolate brown with brown and white stripes. Black, still a favorite, is no longer a favorite because it is conservative. One new style showed a combination brassiere and trunks joined in front by a diamond of heavy net.

The white bathing suit, frowned upon in the past, is coming into its own. Some of these suits come in a spun rubber, in which elastic is knitted into the woolen material. One exhibitor pointed out that this helps to give a trim figure to figures that ordinarily wouldn't appear so trim.

Without exception the new styles displayed backless or "opera back" suits. The neck is high in front, often held in place by an adjustable strap behind the neck, or by two straps extending to the waistline in the back. The one piece bathing suits in some cases have borrowed their lines from the child's sun suit, and are designed to take full advantage of therapeutic rays. One suit of cerise was composed chiefly of brassiere and trunks joined at the waist in front.

One bright blue suit was fashioned along empress lines, with straps that tied in the back. Another of black with rose straps that tied on the shoulders, had employed spun rubber at the waistline to give more slender lines.

Stripes are running rampant. A two piece model, backless, with straps that tied on the shoulders, was of red, yellow and blue horizontal stripes, with a matching coat. Another model was composed of a red and white striped shirt without sleeves and back, and red trunks of flannel.

Even the children's bathing costumes are more extreme this year. One modeled by a four year old youngster proved to be a pair of red trunks held up by a belt upon which were stamped animal figures on parade.

Many of the fashions shown yesterday have already been put through their paces in southern bathing beaches and on the western coast.

Mrs. Marion R. Janney Will Be Bride of Cornelius Lynde

Ceremony to Be Held Tomorrow at Her Home in Winnetka; Plan Short Wedding Trip.

BY JUDITH CASS.

IF we had known day before yesterday of the romance that we heard of yesterday, Miss Margaret Emily Lynde would have had to share yesterday's "lead" in this column with her father, Cornelius Lynde, but it wasn't until after we had announced her engagement to Eugene V. O'Brien that we heard that Mrs. Marion R. Janney is to become Mrs. Cornelius Lynde tomorrow afternoon.

All their friends are delighted at the match, one of their good friends told us; and although there won't be any one at tomorrow's ceremony but the immediate families and a very few close friends, there probably will be dozens of congratulatory telegrams delivered tomorrow afternoon at the bride's residence, 657 Spruce street, Winnetka, where the Rev. Samuel Harkness, pastor of the Winnetka Congregational church, will read the service at 4 o'clock.

Mr. Lynde, who is an attorney, is too busy right now to take a trip; so he and his bride will go away just for a day or so and postpone a longer wedding trip until later. They are having the marriage now because Mrs. Janney's son, Frederick, and Mr. Lynde's son, Samuel, are at home from Lawrenceville for their spring vacation, and so all the children of the bride and bridegroom can be present at the ceremony.

Mrs. Janney has two daughters, Marjorie [Mrs. Stephen Roby since May, 1928], and Eleanor, who is a schoolgirl. Mrs. Janney also is the proud possessor of a little two and a half year old granddaughter, Joan Roby, who, with her mother and father, will be "among those present" tomorrow. Mr. Lynde and his bride will be at home when they return from their brief honeymoon at her Spruce street residence.

Tea on April 17 for Mrs. McCormick.

Invitations will go out next week to what will be one of the high-lights of April's social calendar, a tea at the Passavant hospital on Monday, April 17, for Mrs. Robert R. McCormick, who painted the portrait of Mrs. Joseph G. Coleman that is now hanging in the board of directors' room at the hospital.

There was no unveiling ceremony nor party when the portrait was hung, for Mrs. Coleman was not well at the time—in fact, she was in the hospital as a patient—and Mrs. McCormick was not in the city.

Most of the friends of Mrs. Coleman, who is president of the woman's board, have seen the beautiful and interesting portrait, however, for it was included in the exhibition of Amy McCormick's paintings at the Chester Johnson galleries early last summer.

Miss Helen Tieken has set Easter Saturday, April 15, as the date for her marriage to Maurice Patrick Geraghty. The wedding will take place at 4:30 o'clock in the afternoon at Miss Tieken's residence, 223 East Delaware place, with only the relatives witnessing it. Miss Dorothy Schmidt will be the bride's only attendant.

Mr. and Mrs. Geraghty will not go on a wedding journey, for her work as director of the Pageant of Transportation at A Century of Progress will not permit her to take a holiday now, but after the World's Fair is over they plan to take an extended trip.

Isobel Pirie Is Engaged.

From Sea Cliff, L. I., comes the announcement of the engagement of Miss Isobel Pirie, daughter of Samuel Carson Pirie of Sea Cliff, to Benjamin Davis Williams Jr., well known young socialite of Baltimore. Miss Pirie is a granddaughter of the first John T. Pirie, one of the founders of the firm of Carson Pirie Scott & Co. and a sister of Samuel Carson Pirie Jr., who is living in Chicago now with his wife, the former Jean Adams of Chicago, and their baby daughter.

The junior Pirles are not in Chicago now, however, for they are spending

Here Is Perfect Man Described by Film Beauties

Hollywood, Cal., March 29.—(AP)—The perfect, but evidently nonexistent man, has evolved from a questionnaire circulated among 107 Hollywood chorus beauties. Here he is:

Athletic type, 29 years old, 5 feet 11 inches tall, weight 178 pounds, wavy brown hair, and blue eyes.

Although none of the girls have heard of or seen such a man, they specify that he must be wealthy and help do the dishes, he may drink, smoke and swear in moderation, but must refrain from gambling once he is married, and he must not, by any means, put cigaret butts in his coffee cup.

A college education is not mandatory. The ideal man must be a smart dresser and good dancer, but may wear glasses or sing in the bath tub. Snoring is taboo.

SYNOPSIS.

The Hendersons—Meryl and Margaret, sisters; Flint, their older brother, and Andrew, the father—have lived for twelve years in poverty in a fishing settlement on the shores of Lake Superior, after losing their fortune in Chicago. Andrew went to pieces after the death of his wife. Great-Aunt Lottie, formerly dean of a girls' school in Ohio, is the liaison between the Hendersons and a cultured past. Flint and his friend, Ned Bremner, hope to build up a great export business. Ned is in love with Meryl, but she dreams of a better future. A forest fire brings Blake Lawrence, injured and lost, to the Henderson cottage. There were two great names in nearby Agate Bay and its environs—Lawrence and Greer. Blake is in love with Greer's wife, Christine. Blake's broken ankle keeps him two weeks with the Hendersons. Meryl falls in love with Blake. Though still enamored of Christine, Blake becomes engaged to Meryl, and sends for his sister Theresa, to meet her. Meryl leaves for Agate Bay with Blake and Theresa, where the wedding takes place. Blake leaves immediately after the ceremony for one of his mines, where a strike is on.

INSTALLMENT XVI.

HER HUSBAND'S RELATIVES.

"Lucia will be on hand as soon as she gets wind of Blake's marriage," Theresa said. "She lives with us during the summer. She has her own apartment in the city. She went back early this fall."

Meryl looked questioningly at her. "What's wrong with Lucia?" she asked in her direct way.

"Every family has at least one of them, my dear," Theresa retorted. "She's just a plain, ordinary, garden variety of snob."

Meryl smiled. "She'll hardly approve of me, then."

"Lucia doesn't approve if she can help herself," Theresa observed. "In a weak moment poor old father provided for her in his will. She became an orphan at a very early age, and has managed to destroy most of my sympathy for orphans. We're hoping she'll marry Christine's brother, Chet—Christine is Mrs. Julius Greer, you know."

"It was she who congratulated Blake this afternoon, wasn't it?" Meryl asked quickly.

Theresa nodded. "The Greers' estate is next to ours," she explained. "Christine and Lucia are bosom friends." She took another cigaret and fitted it carefully into her holder. "But don't try to get us all straightened out at once, my dear. You'll have plenty of time to get your bearings. I think I hear Uncle Tom now."

He entered bearing a glass and silver cocktail shaker.

She got up and went to the door. Her call was answered by a deep, brusque voice from below.

"Bring up a shaker of my favorite, will you?" she suggested. "Meryl and I are alone up here." She turned to Meryl. "He mixes the divinest Martinis."

"I don't know much about drinking," Meryl confessed.

"No time like the present to find out," Theresa chimed blithely.

In a few minutes old Tom Lawrence tapped lightly on the half-open door.

"Come on in, Uncle Tom," Theresa invited. "We're not stalking around naked."

He entered, bearing a tray that held an amazingly tall glass and silver cocktail shaker, three crystal glasses, and a dish of assorted salted nuts.

"This is Meryl, Uncle Tom," Theresa announced. "Meryl, our incomparable Uncle Tom Lawrence. Isn't he the handsomest thing?"

Uncle Tom set the tray on a low table and took Meryl's hand. Meryl, smiling up at the tall, stooped figure, thought immediately how like her father he was.

"Welcome to Gitchi-gumi!" he intoned solemnly, and lifted his fine white head in a gesture that captivated Meryl at once.

"Thank you," Meryl replied.

He clung to her hand and looked at her shrewdly, a slow smile lighting his handsome face. "We need some one like you here—some one just like you," he said. "I hope you will like us well enough to stay."

"You'll find it hard to get me out," Meryl replied impulsively. "I love you already."

"Good!" he exclaimed. "You and I will hit it off, eh?"

She pressed the hand that held hers and the old man stooped and kissed her lightly on the brow.

"And now," he said as he turned and filled the glasses—he gave one to Meryl and to Theresa, then lifted his own and smiled at Meryl—"your very good health, my dear, and all the happiness you deserve! I couldn't wish more."

Meryl touched her lips to her glass while the others drank. Uncle Tom then seated himself, crossed his long legs, and stared down into his glass.

"A most unfortunate emergency, my dear," he said, "this business of Blake having to rush off to the Calimac. But Tessie and I will do our best to make you feel at home here until he returns."

"O," Meryl said quickly. "I already feel at home, thank you. Please don't worry about me."

The old man moved uneasily. "I have some bad news for you, Tessie," he announced abruptly. "Lucia telephoned this afternoon. She is coming up tomorrow."

Theresa's face fell. "Rotten!" she exclaimed. "I suppose Christine has been telephoning her."

"Naturally," Uncle Tom observed. "She can't wait another day to lay eyes on the bride, I suppose."

Theresa sighed. "I'm not surprised, really. Damn it!"

Meryl sipped her cocktail and was not sure whether or not she liked its bitter taste.

"I am beginning to take an interest in Cousin Lucia," she said, and smiled at Uncle Tom. "Can she really be so bad?"

"Mean, that's what she is," Uncle Tom replied. "But she can't help it. Her mother was just as mean. Keep your eyes on her, my dear. When she looks you up and down smile the way you smile. We've got past the stage where we can smile any longer when she's around. But do as I tell you and I venture to say that in a month's time we'll be rid of her."

"What optimism, Uncle Tom!" Theresa exclaimed.

Then, through the open doorway, they heard dinner announced by the discreet voice of the maid.

Meryl stood where the morning sun fell through the long French windows that looked out upon the wintry blue of the lake. Somehow this did not seem to be the same lake she had known so well for twelve years. It had suddenly become alien and removed from her. It no longer meant food, and raiment, and shelter; it had been divested of its potentialities of danger, and excitement, and joy. It was now merely the greatest lake in the world, at which one gazed from the windows of a richly furnished living room, secure in the midst of deep, luxurious chairs, and divans, and Turkish rugs.

A telephone call from Blake late the night before had done much to allay the feeling of desolateness which had possessed her in spite of the efforts of Theresa and Uncle Tom Lawrence to dispel it. He had called her again this morning, immediately after breakfast, to tell her that he would be back home tomorrow. He had been solicitous, had wanted to know how she had slept, whether she had been homesick, and what she was planning to do for today. And yet, when she had hung up the receiver, she felt more desolate than ever. She could not account for it. She was quite unreasonable about it all, she told herself again and again.

Perhaps she would feel better as soon as she and Theresa were embarked upon the shopping tour they had planned for the day. There were two or three good little shops in Agate Bay. It was to be a day of transformation. Blake would not know her, Theresa promised, when he came back. Then, as they were preparing to leave, the telephone had rung, and Lucia had arrived on the morning train. Theresa had uttered a few exaggerated imprecations and had driven down to fetch her cousin.

GASOLINE ALLEY—THAT'S THAT

THANKS FOR BRINGING ME HOME, MR. MAYBEE
THE PLEASURE IS ALL MINE. I HOPE YOU DON'T MIND WORKING AN EVENING OCCASIONALLY, LORA. I NEVER GET REALLY WIDE AWAKE TILL AFTER SIX.
OH, OUT WITH THIS MAYBEE BIRD AGAIN! DON'T YOU SEE ENOUGH OF THAT FELLOW BY DAYLIGHT? DIDN'T I INVITE YOU TO GO TO A MOVIE TONIGHT?
WE WERE WORKING LATE AT THE OFFICE, LARRY. AND HE JUST DROVE ME HOME.
DIDN'T I TELL YOU I'D COME AND GET YOU IF YOU HAD TO WORK LATE.
I WOULDN'T THINK OF HAVING YOU WAIT FOR ME.
YOU DON'T NEED TO GET SO CONSIDERATE OF ME ALL OF A SUDDEN.
LARRY, YOU'RE JUST TRYING TO BE MEAN. IF YOU'RE GOING TO BE JEALOUS BECAUSE I HAVE TO WORK TO DO YOU NEEDN'T TRY TO SEE ME AGAIN.

Good Morning!

Aha! A lady racketeer! "Little Caesar" in skirts!

This is the tale of a maid who, after a lot of battering about by fell circumstance, concludes that she has plenty coming from a hard, cold world—and sets out to collect. That she garners more than she bargains for is, of course, to be expected.

Blondie is an unusually bright girl, as all will agree. She conceives schemes for bringing in the sheaves that cause one seasoned racketeer known as Curley [I thought she called him "Danny" in the picture—but the cast says "Curley"]—to fairly double up with admiration. Then love enters in——

You think you know all? No, you don't.

The picture, while not overly convincing, moves with speed and has been cleverly directed. Acting is all to the good, with the astute and charming Miss Blondell putting over a workmanlike job in the title rôle. Here's one hard boiled little Hannah who's always easy to take!

Chester Morris gives a smart portrayal as Curley. Allen Jenkins is characteristically comical and credible as a scofflaw. Mae Busch—nice to see her again!—Joseph Cawthorne and Earle Foxe have effective bits, and other subsidiary rôles were handed to just the right persons.

The dialogue is apt—and very funny in spots. Both Joan and Chester fell heir to lines that occasion prolonged and whole souled laughter.

You may, indeed, have wearied of gangster films, but you'll find "Blondie Johnson" sorta different—and entertaining.

See you soon!

Ceremony to Be Tomorrow Afternoon.

the late winter at the plantation near Orlando, Fla., that is owned jointly by all the sons of the first John T. Pirie.

Chicago hostesses who find cocktail parties the easiest and least expensive, as well as a delightful, way of entertaining may profit by London society's latest effort to raise money for charity. A recent letter from England brings the news that Lady Allendale threw open her big house at 144 Piccadilly one afternoon recently to a throng of the thirsty and charitably inclined, and quite a sizable sum was realized for a charity organization, nearly a thousand guests paying for their sherries and sidecars.

Our correspondent goes on to say that Lady Lavery was there in a striking frock of black velvet with an expanse of white showing at the wide open collar of her coat, and a small black straw cap with a "collar" of white piqué.

Mrs. Edgar Stanton is giving a small luncheon for Miss Rosamond Baker Sunday in her Winnetka home. Miss Baker's engagement to Edgar Stanton Jr. was announced by Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Baker on Feb. 1, and she is the second of last season's debutantes to be officially engaged.

Mrs. Polly Boyden at Charleston.

Some who do not understand the workings of the minds of the ultra-moderns or their actions may misconstrue the following item of news and think that it must mean that Mrs. Polly Chase Boyden is going to remarry her ex-husband, Preston Boyden, but it probably doesn't mean a thing except that they are friendly—they have three children, so they would have to be in communication occasionally about the children's schooling, etc.—and strictly modern. The item is that Mrs. Boyden is one of those who have visited Mr. Boyden at the cottage near Charleston, S. C., that Mr. Boyden and Elliott Springs are occupying for the late winter and early spring while Mr. Boyden is recovering from a recent illness.

Mrs. Boyden's sister, Miss Libby Chase, and her two companions on a flying trip to India, Miss Josephine Patterson and Mrs. Joseph Brooks (Alicia Patterson), are expected home early in May, according to the latest reports.

Harold F. McCormick left Tuesday night for his often postponed trip to Palm Beach, where he will visit his daughter and son-in-law, the Elisha Dyer Hubbards. Mr. McCormick will be in the south just a week.

Wilder to Give Lecture Course.

Thornton Wilder, who made so many friends here during his two brief "lectureships" at the University of Chicago, is returning to the Midway Monday for another six months. This time he's to give a course on writing for a selected group of students as well as lectures on the masterpieces of Greece and Rome.

This winter Mr. Wilder has been away on an extended lecture tour, but he was careful to arrange his itinerary so that he would be back here for the opening of A Century of Progress. And we understand while in the city this summer he expects to work on a novel concerned with the contemporary scene.

Another literary celebrity who is to put in an appearance on the Midway this next month is Mark Van Doren, the critic and member of a famous literary family. He will be in the city the week of April 23 to spend a busy seven days meeting the university students informally and renewing old acquaintances here.

The Mount Vernon Seminary association will have its annual spring rummage sale next Thursday in Evanston. Miss Jeanne Street, president of the association, says that the location has not been decided upon. Mrs. Lawrence Nelson Jr., Mrs. John Merriman, Miss Betty Slaughter, Miss Rima Jane Theurer, Miss Isabel Gordon, and Miss Helen Marie Castle are among those who will assist. Profits from the sale will benefit scholarships in the school and charity.

Interesting Items About Travelers.

News of a few of society's travelers and schoolgirls and boys: Princess Cantacuzene and her cousin, Mrs. Allen Curtis of Boston, sailed last Friday to spend five weeks abroad.—Nancy Knode and Muriel Picher will return on April 5 to spend their spring vacation from Westover with their parents, the Oliver M. Knodes of Winnetka and Mrs. Oliver S. Picher of Glencoe.

Mrs. Reginald Scott, who has been visiting Mrs. Harold C. Bodman in Lake Forest, left on Tuesday for New York.—John J. Borland is spending his spring vacation in the east with a group of Harvard undergraduates who are camping out in the Maine woods.—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest High Noyes will be at home today from a West Indies cruise upon which they embarked on March 10.—Miss Dorothy Ranney and Miss Eleanor McCormick arrived at home Tuesday from two weeks in Florida, where they visited the Conway Olmsteds. Miss Ranney left yesterday to join her family at the Virginia Hot Springs, where they will be until after Easter.

The Owen Wests returned on Monday from Fort Myers, Fla. They are planning another trip for early in May, for Mr. West is to serve as best man at the wedding of Miss Eleanor Brice Kimball and William Haigh Van Dusen in Larchmont, N. Y., on May 6.—The junior Edward A. Cudahys and their three children are in Miami for a fortnight.—Mr. and Mrs. Louis C. Seaverns will return in two weeks from a southern vacation. Just now they are on the west coast of Florida after a stay in Jamaica.

Albert B. Dewey won't be coming to Chicago until the weather here is warm and summery. He is prolonging his stay in Miami until spring weather is assured in Washington and then he will go there to remain until early summer, when he probably will come here for a visit with the Charles S. Deweys.

Mrs. Thorne Donnelley will return the last of this week from a week's visit in Mount Sterling, Ky.

Miss Virginia Erlandson, president of the Sunbeam league, is to entertain the league board at luncheon today at her home in Evanston. Final plans will be made for the annual card party to be held April 18 at the Stevens hotel.

The Woman's Guild and Auxiliary of Christ church in Winnetka will hold an Easter sale and exhibit on the day before Easter from 2 until 6 o'clock in the parish house. Mrs. Ernest Ballard is general chairman.

The Chicago Council on Foreign Relations has announced a luncheon address by Yosuke Matsuoka, head of the Japanese delegation at the league of nations. He will speak on "Japan's Foreign Policy" at 12:30 on Monday in the red lacquer room of the Palmer house.

At the causerie today of the Alliance Française Miss Josephine M. Roby will be hostess, assisted by Mrs. Carl Stuckrath, Mrs. William L. Klein, Mrs. Frank M. Pray, and Mrs. Henry A. Miller. Miss Roby is in charge of sewing during the absence from town of Mrs. Edmund Meyer, wife of the French vice consul. The French skit, "Un Bureau de Telegraphe," will be presented by Mrs. Josephine Lydston Seyl, Mrs. Allen C. Howes, and Mrs. Edward Mahon.

Charming Design for Spring Wear Has the Smart Length Giving Lines

WOMAN'S OR MISS' DRESS.

Here is a charming model with the new cape collars to give the effect of width through the shoulders. The deep open front, creates a lengthened line. The skirt fits smoothly over the hips, and widens gracefully as the skirt edge is reached. A crinkled silk crêpe in beige, gray, or blue will be charming for street or afternoons.

The pattern, No. 3460, comes in sizes 16 and 18 years and 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, and 46 inches bust measure. Size 36 requires 3¾ yards of 39 inch material with ⅝ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

Good Posture Helps You Both Inside and Out

West Point Stretching Exercises No. 1, an illustrated booklet outlining the first six exercises published in this series, may be obtained by sending a stamped, self-addressed envelope to Antoinette Donnelly, The Chicago Tribune. Or call at the Tribune Public Service Office, 1 South Dearborn street.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

If there ever was a time in the history of our lives when we needed all the mental and physical stamina possible to obtain, it is right now. We need to bring into the business of living all the health and vigor we can. We need all the snap and good posture set-up possible to create confidence in our ability in employers' eyes. In business life, in society, in any and every known vocation, the man or woman of erect bearing simply adds a cubit to his stature in other's opinion.

The chief arguments for good posture formerly were from the esthetic viewpoint. But we've come a long way of recent days in understanding just what it does to both body and soul to stand erect, walk easily, to have a well adjusted body, a well coordinated one.

It's a curious thing how the simple action of pulling oneself up tall will clear the air of difficulties. Perhaps they're scared away with the threat of "there's still fight in the old girl or boy yet." Anyway, the change from a slumped, careless posture to an erect, well poised one is a miraculous tonic.

And, as said before, the trick of acquiring a posture that will hold permanently is to do some muscle training and muscle strengthening first. If ordering us to stand straight were sufficient, we'd all be straight as Indians, what with parents at us in our youth and friends and relatives at us in adult life. No, the trick is to get the muscles in such good working order that they can and will hold the body up as it should be held.

Guests Enjoy Neilson Home and Concert

Claire Dux Sings to Aid Lincoln Center.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

It was hard to tell last night whether the 200 persons who gathered in the drawing room of the Francis Neilsons' handsome Tudor house at 4800 Drexel boulevard came to hear lovely Claire Dux sing, to show their support of Abraham Lincoln center, or to see this palatial south side residence. Graciously Mr. and Mrs. Neilson opened their house for the song recital in the interests of the center to which Mrs. Neilson has given so generously of her time, her money, and her energy these last 35 years.

It was appropriate indeed that Mme. Dux (Mrs. Charles H. Swift in private life) should give the program, for she is the sister-in-law of Mrs. Neilson, who was Helen Swift before her first marriage to the late Edward Morris. Beautifully gowned in white crêpe and sequins, with an orchid bouquet pinned at her waist, Mme. Dux sang three groups of songs pleasantly varied . . . selections from Mozart, Schumann, Brahms, Cyrill Scott, and Martin Shaw. For the last song there was an organ accompaniment by Frederick Schauwecker.

This house of the Neilsons, built in 1911, when Drexel boulevard was still something of the Champs Elysées it was intended to be, is one of the few city mansions that boast an organ. Mr. Neilson, the great-grandson of David Hume, the historian, and a cousin of Gladstone, the renowned statesman, as well as a former Liberal member of parliament, had it installed when he changed his residence from London to Chicago. Playing the instrument is one of his favorite pastimes.

Guests last evening commented frequently on the beauty of the organ's tone. They also commented on the art treasures that line the walls of the great house, and even more on the dexterity and precision with which the party moved off. Interesting enough, the Neilsons' home is one of the few Chicago residences that have remained completely staffed during this economic upheaval. Long it has had the reputation for serving visitors unobtrusively but perfectly. As one foreign guest is known to have commented after a visit, "I have never known anything like it. I could enjoy the luxuries of a home, company when I desired it, and still live as much apart as if I had been in a public hostelry." He was delighted.

To a few of his special friends last evening Mr. Neilson told the sequel to the story of his famous alabaster vase. It was in 1925 that he, upon a visit to Egypt, was introduced to a native who produced a valuable vase from its hiding place. Made of pure alabaster and still shimmering with gold dust, it was a recognized treasure. With two statuettes of Isis and Houris, he had it dispatched to the United States. But, strangely enough, in shipment the vase was replaced by a bronze head.

For months and years Mr. Neilson hunted the treasure, and at last his search was repaid, for the piece was found, but at the same time no owner was discovered for the bronze. So last evening Mr. Neilson was showing off his famous vase and at the same time a lovely bronze of the twelfth dynasty . . . unclaimed in spite of his persistent effort to return it to its owner.

In the heavy paneled dining room supper was served last night from tables gay with jonquils. The flowers are the product of the Neilson conservatory, for one of Mrs. Neilson's greatest interests in addition to Lincoln center is gardening.

NEW YORK SOCIETY

New York, March 29.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. James A. Garfield Jr. have joined her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard W. Maxwell, at Maxwellton, Glen Cove.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Palmedo have returned to 1185 Park avenue from Cuba, where they passed three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Antonio Ponvert.

Gloria Swanson Here to Show Her Husband Scenes of Childhood

Gloria Swanson and her husband, Michael Farmer, Irish sportsman, arrived in Chicago on the Century yesterday. They are at the Ambassador East hotel, where they will remain a few days before going on to California. They recently arrived in New York after a prolonged stay abroad, where they left their 11 month old daughter in Switzerland. They expect to return there in a few months.

"Mr. Farmer and I have never been here before, except for a short time two years ago," she explained, "and I want to show him some of the places I knew when I was growing up here. I think I can find the house in which I was born, although I've never hunted it up before. It's near Waveland or Grace street. I'll find it. And I went to Hawthorne school, now at 3300 North Seminary avenue, and a school on Center street somewhere, which I'm going to find in order to show them to him."

Child Wants to Escape from Dad's Palship

Prefers Good Time with the Boys.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

Billy called up his friend Sam.

"Let's get up early and go fishing tomorrow, Sam," he said in a low voice. "I'm afraid dad's going to start in 'being a pal' to me again for a couple of weeks—they're having one of those parents' meetings."

Ouch! Dad had come back for his wife's umbrella and overheard the treason. Hurt and quiet, he waited his chance to slip out the back door. Slowly he walked down the path and out to the avenue.

So, that's all it meant to his son, Bill! That's all his sacrifice amounted to—giving up his evening like this when he'd rather stay home and read—going on long, wearying hikes on Sundays when he'd rather play golf—umpiring Saturday afternoon ball games when he'd rather be starting the vegetable garden. After all he'd given up for Bill—the ungrateful scamp! That's all the thanks he got—to overhear the young traitor plotting to escape him as if he were an ogre—or, worse thought, a bore!

What was the matter with Bill, anyhow, he grumbled angrily to himself. Now, when he was a boy his father never sacrificed any time of his own to do things with him. Of course, his father loved dogs and so did he, and together they'd trained each set of pups to hunt. And his father was cracked about fishing and so was he, and his father would take him every time he could get away. Those were some of the best times he'd ever had.

And now look at his son! Really, the way he said, "dad's going to start 'being a pal to me' again!"

And then the hurt and angry man stood still in his tracks. The truth had dawned on him.

He was doing these things from a sense of duty, feeling he was making a sacrifice in giving up something he wanted to do, but underneath begrudging the time so spent. On the contrary, his own father had enjoyed the things they did together and there had been real companionship and congeniality between them.

As he analyzed this he saw that Bill had already sensed this and had kindly tolerated his spasmodic, conscientious efforts to "be a pal" to him.

There's all the difference in the world between being real friends with your children and enjoying them in that relationship, and "being a pal" to them—in quotation marks! And from a sense of duty.

CHICAGO FIGHTERS WHIP NEW YORK, 10 TO 6

CUYLER FRACTURES ANKLE; CUBS TRIUMPH, 10-8

STAR IS INJURED STEALING BASE; OUT EIGHT WEEKS

Root's Single Beats Hollywood.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 29.—The Cubs rallied in the ninth inning today to beat the Hollywood Stars, 10 to 8, but the victory was without glamour for Kiki Cuyler, outfielder, broke a bone in his right ankle which will keep him out of the lineup for eight weeks at least.

The accident to Cuyler came in the fourth inning, a few seconds after he had singled with the bases full to give his team a 5 to 1 lead. With English on third, Cuyler started down to second. Upon discovering the play on him was not going to be close, Cuyler apparently changed his mind about sliding. He half slid, half rolled into the base. Something snapped, Ki told players who rushed to the field, and they ventured he had broken a bone even before he suffered any pain.

X-Ray Reveals Fracture.

Cuyler was carried from the field and rushed to the Cedars of Lebanon hospital.

After X-ray negatives had been developed it was announced the fracture was a bad one and that Cuyler would be incapacitated for two months and possibly longer.

Cuyler's injury was technically described as a "comminuted [splintered] fractured at the lower end of the fibula section. A bone three inches in length is broken entirely out from the fibula."

Hospital authorities hope to have Cuyler able to leave Los Angeles with the team Sunday night. He will, of course, proceed direct to Chicago.

Same Thing Last Year.

Early last season Cuyler suffered a similar injury to the same ankle. This prevented him from appearing in uniform for six weeks. After his return he played cautiously, but early in September he again injured the leg, this time hurting the knee, in a game at Cincinnati. The knee injury was not serious enough to keep him out long, but it did not abet Cuyler's effectiveness.

Frank Demaree took Cuyler's place in the lineup and probably will continue at the position.

It was held probable that the accident will result in the claiming of George Stainback of the Los Angeles Angels, for whom the Cubs paid $75,000 and three ball players. Stainback was to report in 1934 under the original plan.

Nipped at Peak of Game.

Cuyler has been going better than during any spring of his career. His hitting in almost every game has been spectacular and he had been looking forward to what he believed was going to be a sensational comeback after a hampered season last year.

The Cubs scored an unearned run in the first inning before a double play overtook them. Bill Herman hit the first pitch for a single to center

RODAK, CASERIO, PACEK HAMMER EASTERN STARS

15,000 Cheer Great Intercity Bouts.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Chicago whipped New York last night at the Chicago Stadium in the sixth annual intercity Golden Gloves boxing match. The final score was: Chicago, 10; New York, 6. The Chicago victory came after the most thrilling battle ever waged between the teams representing THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and the New York News.

Spectacular triumphs by Leo Rodak, Fred Caserio, Billy Celebron, Henry Rothier, Max Marek, John Pacek, and Adolph Wiater turned the tide of battle toward Chicago. They knocked over nearly all of New York's idols, won decisions which were clean cut and well earned, and sent the New York boys retreating in confusion back toward the Atlantic seaboard.

Heavyweights Thrill Fans.

The great climax came along toward midnight when, with victory almost assured, Chicago's heavyweights, Adolph Wiater and John Pacek, crawled through the ropes to square away against Walter Brennan of Buffalo and Steve Dudas of New York.

Wiater won his bout on points, outboxing the eastern boy in every session. The Pacek-Dudas scrap was a knockdown and drag-out affair. Pacek, beaten in the first round, came back strong in the second. Both scored knockdowns in the second round. Then Pacek kept up his furious bombardment in the last session. He caught up after a slow beginning and had the New Yorker in great distress when it ended and his hand was lifted as a signal of victory.

Crowd Exceeds 15,000.

A crowd of more than 15,000 braved rainy and chilly weather to see the struggle which broke a deadlock in inter-city competition. The score this morning shows Chicago with three victories and two defeats, and New York with two victories and three defeats. The first match ended in a tie.

There were a couple of disputed decisions, but even with these close ones going to them, New York could not have beaten the slashing, aggressive Chicago boys.

Whipped from Start.

They were whipped from the time Chicago's flyweights won the first two encounters. They crawled up and tied the score on a couple of occasions. But just when it seemed the New York team was to take the lead along would come a star wearing the fighting togs of Chicago to hammer down a New York youngster who had been expected to go some place.

It was hard to tell which was the greatest fight. Katz's struggle with Ginter was a hair lifter. So was the tussle between Rodak and Robinson. Caserio came up against the toughest customer of his career when he hammered Balsamo's left eye shut and won a decision by a great rally in the third round.

Marek beat Bob Pastor, the captain and the star of the New York team, because he was the stiffer puncher. The victory made Marek stand out as

For Sale: One Monte Carlo, Florida Plan

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Miami, Fla., March 29.—Tex Rickard's beautiful plan to create an American Monte Carlo along this shore, with a luxurious gambling casino for the dress-up trade, and a somewhat more modest one, with a homelike sifting of sawdust on the floor, for the accommodation of the ten dollar bank rolls, and with wine flowing from the very water taps in the one and beer from the taps in the other—well, that plan has been radically changed.

The beautiful casino, looking out on the blue sea, is fading in the sun, and the dyed mud, pretty enough to eat with a spoon, with which the quavering structure of lath and two-by-fours was smeared in superficial imitation of a Spanish mission, is disfigured by runny streaks. Some of the windows are boarded up and on the face of the building is a large

SWANSON RUNS OAKLAND DIZZY; SOX WIN, 8 TO 3

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Oakland, Cal., March 29. — The White Sox defeated the Oakland Oaks today, 8 to 3, but the achievement was not worth boasting about. The Chicago pitching, as done by Milton Gaston and Vic Frasier, was of an ordinary nature, the fielding was somewhat ragged, and the hitting was more flukey than robust. A pair of long hits by Jimmy Dykes and some fancy base running and batting by Evar Swanson were the only bright spots of the game.

Swanson, making a bid to win the only outfield berth not definitely assigned, had Oakland dizzy with his speed. He singled in the final inning and promptly stole second and third. He doubled in the third and the pitcher was so worried about the young man that he let go a wild pitch, alowing Swanson to take third. In the sixth Swanson singled again and stole second, and in the eighth he walked and then added stolen base No. 4.

Oakland Scores in First.

Jack Hayes was a bit big hearted in the first inning and assisted Oakland to a run. Choseen started it with a single off Gaston's glove. Mailho bounced one toward second but Hayes, thinking of a double play, let the ball hop through his hands. Anton singled to right and Choseen scored, but Mailho didn't make allowances for Kress' throwing arm and was nailed at third.

What the Sox gave away in the first inning was returned to them in the second for a 1 to 1 tie. Kress walked and stole second after Dykes had been disposed of on strikes. Kress scored when the Oakland third baseman made a wild throw to first on Berry's grounder. Berry then committed the unpardonable sin of forgetting how many were out. When Gaston lifted a pop up over the infield Berry jogged it around the bases and was almost at third when he discovered he was the victim of a double play.

Swanson Gets Double.

Swanson's high drive close to the right field line fell for a double with

Blow by Blow! A Detailed Description of How Chicagoans Outpunched New Yorkers

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Blow by blow description of the Intercity Golden Gloves bouts in the Chicago Stadium last night follow:

112 POUND CLASS

RUNNERUP DIVISION.

FIRST ROUND—Cohen landed a straight left to the jaw and made Idone miss with two left jabs. Idone scored with a right to the head. He was short with a left and a right and caught a straight left to the face. He came back to land a hard right to the ribs. They traded lefts to the face and Lenny smashed two rights to the jaw. They exchanged lefts to the head. Idone missed with a terrific right.

SECOND ROUND—They sparred and both were short with lefts. Lenny landed a right to the jaw. Both connected to the head. Idone missed two rights. Lenny jabbed twice to the head. He caught Idone with a right to the mouth. They traded lefts to the head. Lenny took a hard right to the jaw, but connected with a right to the chin. Idone was short with a left and received a hard right to the body.

THIRD ROUND—They traded light lefts. Idone scored with a left hook to the body and worked his way in close, where Cohen pounded him around the head. Cohen missed with a right, then ducked a left and right. Idone swung a left and a right to the head, but took a right to the body in return. Lenny landed a hard left hook to the face. Idone countered with two rights to the stomach. They stood toe to toe and traded body blows. Cohen was short with a left to the face.

CHAMPIONSHIP DIVISION.

John Baltzer, Chicago, beat Charles Greene, New York [3].

FIRST ROUND—Greene started fast, swinging wildly. They worked in close and pumped both hands to the body. They exchanged lefts to the face. Baltzer drove a straight left to the face and a right for the body. They exchanged left hooks. Greene was content to wait for Baltzer. During a melee in mixing they wrestled each other to the canvas. Greene landed two hard rights to the face.

SECOND ROUND—They traded light lefts. Greene whipped a right to the stomach and they clinched. Both missed lefts and they clinched again. Greene covered up before Baltzer's body bombardment. Baltzer landed a right to the jaw and staggered Greene. They went in close to exchange body blows. Greene drove Baltzer against the ropes with a two fisted barrage to the head. They traded rights to the head. Baltzer connected with a right uppercut. but took a right to the body.

THIRD ROUND—Baltzer continued a two fisted attack to the head. Greene belted Baltzer with a right to the ribs and they clinched. In close, Baltzer tied up the colored boxer and scored with two lefts to the face. Baltzer was high with a left. They traded hard rights to the face, then pumped both hands to the body. Baltzer pinned Greene against the ropes and nailed him with two rights to the head. Greene landed a right to the head in return.

RUNNERUP DIVISION.

Louis Camps, New York, beat Irving Goldstein, Chicago [3].

FIRST ROUND—They started out fast. Camps scoring with hard lefts to the stomach. Goldstein bounced in to trade body blows and Camps blocked a left hook with his shoulder. Camps was short with a right and they traded terrific lefts to the body. Camps jabbed lightly with a left and crossed a hard right to the jaw. They stood toe to toe and the crowd roared as they pumped both hands to the body.

THIRD ROUND—Camps landed a hard right cross to the mouth and followed up with a two fisted attack to the body. Goldstein came in close to score with lefts, but took a right uppercut. Camps stung Goldstein with a right to the head. They traded lefts. Goldstein switched to a southpaw stance, but received a two fisted barrage to the head. Camps swarmed over Goldstein. Goldstein missed with a left and caught a right to the jaw.

CHAMPIONSHIP DIVISION.

Julie Katz, New York, beat John Ginter, Chicago [3].

FIRST ROUND—Katz shot a straight left to the face. Ginter missed with a right. Ginter shook Katz with a two fisted attack to the head. They traded lefts. Ginter crossed a right to the face. Katz was high with a left and they clinched. Katz jabbed lightly, but took a right to the jaw. Ginter tied up Katz. They exchanged lefts. Ginter led with a left and shot a jolting right to the head.

SECOND ROUND—They exchanged body blows. Ginter brought up a hard left to the jaw. Katz connected with two lefts to the head and blocked Ginter's right. They stood toe to toe and slugged it out. Both drove hard rights to the head.

FIGHTERS FORGET RING ANTAGONISM AT DINNER PARTY

BY ARCH WARD.

Ring rivalries were forgotten immediately after the intercity Golden Glove bouts at the Stadium last night and the members of the two teams dined together at Germania club with judges, referees, and newspaper men. The New York squad will return home at 2:30 this afternoon on a special New York Central train.

Max Marek insured a tie for Chicago by whipping Robert Pastor of New York in the championship light heavyweight fight. It was a terrific battle all the way. Both are college boys. Marek is a student at St. Viator and Pastor at New York university.

The most popular section was the upper balcony. Tickets in this section were disposed of before noon yesterday.

Several sports editors from out of town were in the press row. Among them were Sam Otis of the Cleveland Plain Dealer, Louis Carow of the Michigan City Dispatch, Leo Kautz of the Davenport Times, and Harry Milne of the Rockford Morning Star.

Edward J. Hughes, secretary of state, and Thomas Courtney, state's attorney, saw the bouts from front row seats.

Three famous football coaches sat close to one another on the east side of the ring. They were Dick Hanley of Northwestern, Heartley Anderson of Notre Dame and Judge Walter P. Steffen of Carnegie Tech.

Barney Ross, a Golden Gloves champion four years ago and now the foremost challenger for the world's lightweight title, was rooting for all he was worth for Chicago.

Members of the Chicago squad received several congratulatory messages before the show. One was from the Rev. Bernard J. Sheil, auxiliary bishop of Chicago and head of the Catholic Youth organization. Another was from Ben Comenits, president of one of the greatest amateur champions ever developed in America.

Score Is Tied Twice.

It was the most spectacular of all the intercity matches. The score was close from start to finish. It was tied twice. There was a thrill in every struggle. The Chicago team took an unlooked for lead when Leonard Cohen and Johnny Baltzer won the two flyweight matches. Both decisions were of the hairline variety. Then New York tied it up by taking both the bantamweight matches. John Ginter of Chicago was whipped by Julie Katz, and Louie Camps of New York took care of Irving Goldstein of the Chicago team.

Then along came the featherweight struggles. George Van Der Heyden of the Chicago team whipped Sedgewick Harvey of New York. At least the referee and the judges thought so. His hand was lifted in victory.

Rodak's Punches Carry Steam.

Leo Rodak whipped Pat Robinson for another Chicago victory. This struggle was one of the high spots on the program. The featherweight champions whaled away from start to finish. Rodak's blows carried the more steam. His hard punches won him the decision. It put Chicago ahead, 4 to 2.

The Chicago boys soon lost the lead. They dropped both lightweight encounters. Frank Williams of New York socked out a decision over Johnny Dobler, and Edward Ward, the Chicago 135 pounder, lost on a foul to John Makar. So the teams were deadlocked when the intermission came, half way along on the program.

Chicago Welterweights Win.

Chicago's two great welterweights, Henry Rothier and Billy Celebron, gave their New York foes a sound thumping. Celebron always had Edward Doscher whipped. Rothier had to come from behind to pull his bout out of the fire, but won by a good margin. His opponent was Ed Kolb, who was taller and who appeared to be stronger.

The crowd, despite the disagreeable weather, started to arrive early. Aware that there were seats available right up until ring time, several thousand milled around in the drizzle in front of the Madison street and Warren avenue box offices as the time neared for the first bout.

Members of both teams assembled at the Illinois Athletic club gymnasium early yesterday afternoon to weigh in. The training had been so thorough and intensive that every boy on both squads was able to make weight. It was the first time since Golden Gloves boxing started that every boxer was down to the stipulated poundage.

Back to Training Tables.

After weighing in, which was presided over by A. A. U. officials and the manager and the coaches of the two teams, the boxers went back to the training tables. The New York boys had their last meal before the fights in their private dining room at the Medinah Michigan Avenue club. The Chicago boys had a meal especially prepared for them by the chef at the Illinois Athletic club.

The New York team was the first to arrive at the Stadium. They were a confident lot of boys and were singing "Sidewalks of New York." The crowd on the Madison street side of the big arena gave them a rousing cheer. They arrived nearly an hour before the first bout started.

Twenty minutes later the Chicago boys, with Capt. Max Marek leading them, trooped in. They were not singing, but the crowd in Madison street chanted, "Go, Chicago."

JOHNASON WILL MEET HOLTZ ON MARIGOLD MAT

Tomorrow night's double windup wrestling card at the Marigold Gardens, Grace street and Broadway, has been completed with the signing of Pete Holtz and George Johnason for one of the preliminaries. Other matches are:

for knockout punches. They staged a rally, both connecting with lefts to the face. Katz scored with a long left to the head.

126 POUND CLASS

George Van der Heyden, Chicago, beat Sedgewick Harvey, New York [3].

FIRST ROUND—Harvey landed a light left to the head and took a left and a right to the body. They traded lefts and missed a hard right. Harvey was unable to land a punch as Van der Heyden ducked and weaved. Van der Heyden landed a hard right to the heart. They traded light lefts. Van der Heyden hammered another right to the heart and brought it up again to the jaw. Harvey bounced a left off Van der Heyden's head. They traded rights to the face.

SECOND ROUND—They exchanged left jabs and then went in close to trade body blows. Van der Heyden danced around, connecting with lefts to the face. They pounded each other about the body. Harvey drove a hard right to the ribs. He followed Van der Heyden around the ring, driving both hands to the head. Van der Heyden slowed Harvey up with two stiff rights to the face.

THIRD ROUND—Van der Heyden landed twice to the head without a return. They stood toe to toe and belabored each other about the head. Harvey drove a hard right to the jaw. An exchange to the face and body was even. Van der Heyden made Harvey miss. Harvey connected with two hard rights to the jaw, but Van der Heyden drove him back as the crowd came on its feet.

CHAMPIONSHIP DIVISION.

FIRST ROUND—Robinson sent a light left to the face. Rodak was short with a left but landed a right to jaw. Rodak's hard left hook was blocked. He pecked away with a straight left to the face. Rodak drove a hard right to the face. Robinson pumped both hands to the body, but Leo tied him up. They traded punches to the head.

SECOND ROUND—Rodak missed a terrific right to the head. They stood toe to toe and hammered each other about the head. Rodak ducked under a left and drove a right to the stomach. He made Robinson blink with a hard right to the head. Rodak met Robinson's rush with a hard right to the face. They exchanged body blows in close, Rodak having the better of it.

THIRD ROUND—Robinson scored with a left hook to the stomach. They came close and Rodak nearly floored Robinson with a right. Robinson bounded back with a two fisted attack to the head. They were fighting furiously. Rodak landed two rights to the head and a hard left hook to the stomach. Robinson was hurt but kept coming. He tied Leo up at the bell.

135 POUND CLASS

Frank Williams, New York, beat Johnny Dobler, Chicago [3].

FIRST ROUND—They went in close and traded body blows. Williams landed a left and a right to the jaw and Dobler slipped to one knee. Williams pumped both hands to the stomach. Dobler slowed down Williams with a right to the mouth. In close Williams wrestled Dobler to the floor. Dobler didn't give Williams a chance to get set. He kept sticking out a left and crossing a right. Williams landed a long right to the jaw.

SECOND ROUND—They opened up again with a body exchange. Dobler scored with a right to the ribs. Williams shot both hands to the body and then drove a right to the jaw. Dobler looped a left to the mouth. Williams landed a right to the jaw and Dobler slipped to his knee. He was up without a count.

THIRD ROUND—Dobler hooked a left to the head. They traded lefts to the face and Williams pumped both hands to the body. Williams slipped and fell to the floor. Dobler landed a hard uppercut to the chin. Williams pummelled Dobler on the jaw. Johnny sent both hands to the stomach. They tried for knockouts, both missing hard rights to the jaw.

CHAMPIONSHIP DIVISION.

FIRST ROUND—Ward missed a wild left and fell. They danced around, both throwing lefts with abandon. Makar drove a left to the head, but took one to the body. Ward shot two hard lefts to the face. He landed a left low to the body and a hooked right to the jaw. Makar went down, claiming foul. Referee Barton stopped the bout and awarded it to Makar on a foul.

147 POUND CLASS

Billy Celebron, Chicago, beat Edward Doscher, New York [3].

Flyat Wins by 7 Lengths at Tropical Park

Miami, Fla., March 29.—[Special.]—J. C. Milam's Flyat, a three year old gelding by the Kentucky Derby winner Flying Ebony, won the featured race at Tropical Park this afternoon and made it two in a row at the meeting. Flyat again bore the colors of J. C. Milam and scored over Dodiodo by the unusual margin of seven lengths. Rowdy Boy was third, a head away.

Flyat was the favorite at $4.30 for $2 and made short work of the others once he settled into stride. Chief Almgren led for a couple of furlongs, but quickly dropped back and eventually brought up last. Flyat raced into the lead without being put to pressure and once in front galloped off and won as he pleased.

Runs Mile in 1:38 4-5.

His time for the mile was 1:38 4-5 and he was carrying 108½ pounds.

The Milam color bearer ran in the fourth race and was the third public choice to win the first four races. When the parade for the first race took place the form players had seen 13 favorites defeated in the previous two days.

Uppercut, now owned by Mrs. Mathew Colford, won by a length from Noah's Pride, which finished a length and a half before Mynah. The winner was timed in 1:05 3-5, carried 112 pounds, and returned $4.50 for $2.

Even Play Is Victor.

The second victory for a woman and the second for a favorite occurred in the second race when Mrs. M. White's Even Play got first past the judges by a length and a half.

CULVER, BREWER NAMED TO LEAD PURPLE QUINTET

Nelson Culver and Donald Brewer were elected co-captains of the 1933-'34 Northwestern basketball team last night at the annual basketball banquet. Both men are juniors and have had two years of varsity experience. Brewer is from Freeport, Ill., while Culver prepped at Evanston High school.

Major letters were awarded to the following men:

Capt. Joe Reiff, Elmer Johnson, Marvin Moonshower, Chester Perry, Max Baumann, Bob Pendleton, Tex Richards, Milton Rosenberg, Ed Manske, Al Kawal, Donald Brewer, Nelson Culver.

The season just closed ended the basketball careers of Joe Reiff, leading scorer in the Big Ten; Elmer Johnson, and Marvin Moonshower. The annual basketball banquet is given every year by Fred Kim, proprietor of the North Shore hotel.

the Davenport, Ia., Chamber of Commerce. Charles Brennan, head of the Michigan A. A. U., also sent best wishes to the mid west boys.

The fans got their first chance to shout when Lenny Cohen whipped Anthony Idone of New York in the opening bout, the 112 pound runner-up contest. Cohen won by keeping Idone off balance with his left.

Acting Mayor Frank Corr and Lieut. Gov. Tom Donovan were among the enthusiastic Chicago supporters at the ringside. Seated nearby was Fred W Green, former governor of Michigan.

When Edward Ward of Chicago lost on a foul to John Makar of New York in the lightweight championship battle it was the first time in the history of inter-city Golden Gloves that a bout ended that way. Ward let fly an unintentional blow to the groin.

The most polished work of the evening was contributed by Billy Celebron, Chicago's runner-up welterweight. He snapped back the head of his opponent with left jabs and then cracked his right to the jaw and head so many times that the fans marveled at the New Yorker's ability to stand up under the punishment.

FOR SALE: ONE MONTE CARLO, ON AMERICAN PLAN

Tex Rickard's Dream Casino Falling Apart.

Keno Fascinated Tex.

It was in an open faced store down in the Coney Island corner of the beach that Tex had his idea. He was sitting on a stool at the counter, playing keno, which is a sort of crossword puzzle game, and was fascinated by the relentless grind of the business which dealt in little thin dimes, but took in many and paid back few, and by the avidity of the customers. The people stood around behind the players waiting for turns to play keno, and those who were playing seemed to be nailed to their chairs.

Up the coast, at Palm Beach, Old Man Bradley, a pioneer, had been dealing to the aristocracy for many years under a protected monopoly which Mr. Rickard envied and admired. There was an arrangement for you. The law? The sheriff was the law, and the sheriff was in. Mr. Rickard wished to establish a Bradley's of his own, or better than that, Tex Rickard's Monte Carlo in Florida. He would be the prince of a bigger and busier Monaco. But first he would promote a big, noisy prizefight, the first of a series, as ballyhoo to bring the customers in, and the sport pages would serve, in effect, as capper for his enterprises, steering the victims primarily to his fights, but also to his traps which would be set to catch all classes.

Blames Highball.

Then Tex got sick, struck with a pain, as he sat on a couch in the little flower covered dwelling which he had bought as evidence of his enthusiasm over Florida. He was drinking a highball after a round of golf, and being no great drinker, was at first inclined to bl me the F tch which that feller had sold him. But he wronged that feller, for his own appendix was to blame and he died of it a few days later.

However, he had committed the Madison Square Garden firm to the production of this fight, which was the Sharkey-Stribling bout, and the Garden firm had to go through or take a serious loss in prestige and money. Jack Dempsey had been Rickard's associate in the fight promotion, at least. As to whether he was otherwise interested in Rickard's scheme I cannot say, for they were very mysterious, but if he did have a part in Rickard's further plans he probably was contributing nothing more tangible than his personal charm. The subsequent litigation has nowhere shown that he had bought any chips.

Dempsey Is Everybody's Pal.

Now, after Rickard's death, there came rushing down from New York one Bill Carey, an obscure official of the Garden corporation, to take general charge of the show, and Dempsey stayed on as ballyhoo man, a friend of everybody, affable, and nearly busy day and night, shaking hands, seeing people who had to be seen, and, in general, flogging the bum drum for the Garden's prize fight. How enthusiastically he gave himself over to this work you may judge by recalling the shocking attempt to kidnap him one night as he lay snoozing on his virtuous couch.

It was a dastardly outrage, this kidnaping foray, but badly managed because the photographers, when they came a-running to make pictures of the bullet holes, were told to come back in an hour, giving rise to a cynical remark from one of their number that the holes were not finished yet.

Capone Right There.

So then they had their prizefight, with Al Capone sitting in a place of conspicuous honor at the ringside, probably the most glaring act of insolence of the whole mob era.

The old mansion has been converted into a night club known as the Beach and Tennis, conducted by Mr. Mert Wertheimer, well known in the prize fight trade.

YANKEES DEFEAT HOUSE OF DAVID, 5-3; BREAK CAMP

Only Three Casualties Listed on Team.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 29.—[Special.]—The Yankees broke camp today with a victory over a House of David nine, 5 to 3, heading north to the opening of another season with a team in tiptop shape after a month of uninterrupted training under ideal conditions. Only three casualties are reported, and these are minor. Johnny Allen, right handed pitching star, was left behind to continue his recovery from a recent attack of influenza. Walter Brown, baseball's biggest pitcher, has a complaint of the right elbow, and Bill Dickey, first string catcher, is troubled with pain in his right leg.

The team headed for Birmingham tonight, the first of five stops which will be made en route to the Yankee stadium. Other stops are to be made in Memphis, Nashville, Louisville, and Cincinnati.

Michigan Opens Feeder Streams to Trout Fishers

BY BOB BECKER.

Trout fishermen can find a little cheer in three news items which affect the 1933 fishing season. First, the state of Michigan has opened hundreds of streams and creeks which formerly were closed as feeder streams. This means hundreds of new stretches of trout water that can be visited beginning May 1.

On the heels of this announcement the province of Ontario and the guides in the famous Nipigon river district combine to broadcast this statement: During 1933 there will be no special weekly license fee of $10.50 per week to fish in the Nipigon river. Instead the regular $5.50 nonresident fee will prevail. Moreover, the majority of the Nipigon river guides have agreed to cut their charge of $28 per week to $23.

This reduction in fishing costs should mean considerable to trout anglers. When all trout waters have been inventoried and compared the famous Nipigon, home of the world's record brook trout, still is the mecca for those who enjoy catching big specimens of fontinalis.

The announcement that Michigan's feeder streams are opened to fishing is not a great surprise to those who know what has been happening in that state. In the first place the cost of posting and publishing the list of closed waters has been considerable. The present is not the time to take on any extra costs in game and fish administration.

In the second place, the scientists discovered that whereas the theory of closing feeder streams as a conservation measure was sound in principle trout actually do not migrate much in these small streams. Then, too, these feeders proved to be happy hunting grounds for violators because of the difficulty of watching over them and catching those anglers who continued to raid them.

MOON MULLINS—THE BOYS ARE A BIT TIRED

MISS SCHMALTZ'S TELEPHONE CONVERSATION WITH MOONSHINE ENDED IN A HEARTRENDING SHRIEK, BUT NOT BEFORE SHE HAD SCREAMED AN ADDRESS OVER THE WIRES= COULD IT BE THE ADDRESS OF HER KIDNAPERS' LAIR?
In case of accident this was Wm. P. Mullins.
WHAT'RE YOU WRITIN' THAT FOR?
TO CARRY IN MY POCKET, MOONSHINE. THIS IS A DANGEROUS MISSION WE ARE ABOUT TO EMBARK UPON- A VERY DANGEROUS MISSION.
WELL, WHAT ARE WE WAITING FOR, MULLINS?
THERE SEEMS TO BE A NAIL IN THE TIRE.
HUMM- THAT WILL HOLD US UP ABOUT A HOUR WHILE WE FIX IT, MY BOY.
TSK-TSK TSK- THE KIDNAPERS WILL PROBABLY ESCAPE IN THAT TIME.

Bruins to Battle Leafs in Third of Cup Series Tonight

New York, March 29.—[Special.]—Toronto's sensational 1 to 0 victory over the Boston Bruins in the Stanley cup playoffs last night brought new hope to Canada. The victory enabled Toronto, only surviving Canadian team in the playoffs, to tie the Bruins with a victory each.

The third game of the Boston-Toronto series will be played tomorrow night at Toronto. They are competing in a best three out of five game series.

The two first games went into overtime sessions and another brilliant battle is expected tomorrow night.

At Madison Square Garden in New York tomorrow night the Detroit Red Wings and the New York Rangers, who eliminated the two Montreal sextets, Canadiens and Maroons, will meet in the first of their two game series for the right to meet the winner of the Toronto-Boston series for the Stanley cup, emblematic of world's professional hockey supremacy.

The second game of the Detroit-New York series will be played Sunday night in Detroit. Total goals will determine the winner in the two games.

The scoring honors in the Rangers-Canadiens game, which ended in a 3 to 3 tie, giving the Rangers the series, 3 to 5, went to Cecil Dillon, one of the youngest and fastest youngsters in the league. Dillon scored two goals in the final period. With the exception of a few bruises the Detroit Red Wings are in good condition following their 3 to 2 victory over the Maroons.

Mrs. Hack in Indoor Tennis Quarter Finals

Mrs. Dorothy Hack, western outdoor women's singles tennis champion, advanced to the quarter-final round of the first annual western indoor tournament at the Broadway armory last night. Mrs. Hack, who drew a bye in the opening round, defeated Miss Virginia Hess, Chicago, 6-1, 6-0, in the second round. Miss Hess eliminated Mrs. Elizabeth Browning, also of Chicago, 7-5, 6-0, in her first match.

Another seeded player to reach the quarter-finals was Miss Bernice Ayer, who triumphed over Dixie Lyons, 6-2, 6-1. Miss Lyons entered the second round when she was awarded her match with Miss Lois Jacques, Wisconsin state singles champion, by default. Miss Jacques could not appear because of illness.

Eugene Quinn, one of the leading players in the Chicago district, eliminated Horton Mallison, Yonkers, N. Y., in one of the second round matches in the men's singles. The scores were 6-0, 6-2. Last night's results follow:

one out in the third. He moved to third on a wild pitch and rode home on Fonseca's single to center.

A little more hitting put the Sox ahead, 4 to 1, in the fourth. Dykes started it with a double off the left field wall and went to third while Berry was being thrown out. Gaston grounded to the shortstop, who threw to the plate in hopes of catching Dykes, but the ex-Mackman slid over the plate ahead of the throw. Hayes singled to right, sending Gaston to third. Gaston scored while Choseen was throwing out Swanson at first.

Oakland got back one of these runs in the fourth on Scott's single, a wild pitch, and Kelly's single.

Sox Pick Up Two More.

The Oaks suffered an attack of the shakes in the sixth and didn't come out of it until after two of the Sox scored. Kentana started it by fumbling Dykes' roller. Berry singled to right, Dykes taking third. Funk batted for Gaston and walked, filling the bases. This brought Gabler to the rescue of Phebus. Hayes grounded into a double play on which Dykes scored. Berry scored on Swanson's single to left.

Another Sox run was hung up when Kress singled and Dykes doubled in the seventh.

Oakland also did a little damage in its half of the seventh. Frasier being the victim. The Texan inadvertently walked Glaister whereupon Pool, batting for the pitcher, jarred the left field fence with a two bagger.

In San Francisco Today.

The Sox finished their scoring with one in the ninth on Appling's single, his steal of second, and a hit by Berry.

The Sox will return to the San Francisco park tomorrow for the first of two games with the Seals. Sam Jones and Chad Kimsey will share the pitching.

FAVORS OTTAWA SHARING HOCKEY WITH HAMILTON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, March 29.—President T. F. Ahern of the Ottawa club of the National Hockey league denied reports that he contemplated the shifting of his franchise to Hamilton. However, Ahearn said he favored the plan of playing half of the home games in each city.

"Cities the size of Ottawa and Hamilton find difficulty in supporting a National Hockey league team through a series of 24 home games," Ahearn said. "If the schedule was split it would supply both with big time hockey and not too big a drain."

and went to third on Cuyler's single to right. Babe Herman tapped to Haney, but Brannan, with a cinch double play in sight, dropped Haney's throw, Bill Herman scoring.

Each team counted once in the second inning—the Cubs on a walk to Hartnett, a force play, a walk to Malone, and Bill Herman's second hit, a double to right. The Stars' ru was the result of a home run by Carlyle.

That Tragic Fourth.

Neither team could get a hit in the third, but the Cubs stepped out in the fourth for a cluster of four runs, the accumulation of which brought no joy to the Cub camp. It was during this inning that Cuyler was injured. The runs were made on a walk to Hartnett, a single by Jurges, a force play, Bill Herman's third hit, a walk to English which filled the bases, a single by Cuyler, and Babe Herman's long fly.

In their half of the fourth the Stars added a pair of runs on a walk and the second home run off Malone, this one by Jacobs. The Cubs made two i. the sixth on Bill Herman's fourth hit, a single, a single by Demaree and Babe Herman's double.

Root Smacks One.

Root took over the pitching job in the sixth and yielded one run in the sixth, two in the seventh, and in the eighth the score was tied at 3-all on Bassler's triple and Strange's fly Then came a heroic hit by Root in the ninth. The stage was set with Stephenson's single, one by Hendrick, and another by Taylor. Jurges hit into a double play and Root singled to score Hendrick and Taylor.

Kirkwood Sets Record to Win at Pinehurst

Pinehurst, N. C., March 29.—(AP)—Joe Kirkwood, the Australian trick shot artist, broke an eight year old record this afternoon to win the rich North and South open golf tournament with a 72 hole score of 277. His par shattering tour was four strokes better than the previous low of 281 compiled in 1925 by MacDonald Smith.

Harry Cooper of Chicago staged a stirring finish in the last two rounds with subpar scores to finish second with 282. Craig Wood of Deal, N. J., and Horton Smith of Oak Park, Ill., tied for third and fourth places with 72 hole totals of 285.

Kirkwood was off with a sensational 68 to stand third at the end of the first round, he seized the lead in the second with a sizzling 67, kept it in the third with a 70, and then coasted home this afternoon with a 72, one over par. His share of the purse was $1,200.

George T. Dunlap Jr., former Princeton and Walker cup player, wound up in sixth place with a score of 287 for amateur honors.

Henry Picard of Charleston, S. C., finished fifth with 286. Young Dunlap was one stroke behind him. Then came Tommy Armour, Chicago, and Tony Manero, Elmsford, N. Y., to tie for sixth and seventh money among the pros with 288.

Johnny Golden of Noroton, Conn., the defending champion, posted a 289, and Johnny Farrell, Quaker Ridge, N. Y., finished with 290. Bill Mehlhorn, New York, and Danny Shute, Philadelphia, were next with 291.

Tom Creavy, Albany, N. Y., trailed them with 292, and behind him six players were grouped at 293 and a share in thirteenth, fourteenth, and fifteenth moneys. They were: Mike Turnesa, Elmsford, N. Y.; Dick Metz, Deal, N. J.; Al Espinosa, Akron, O.; Gene Sarazen, New York; Billy Burke, Greenwich, Conn., and Johnny Revolta, Menominee, Mich.

Phagan or Sisk? There's a Puzzle for Ring Prophets

There will be little to choose between Johnny Phagan, former international Golden Gloves champion, and Dick Sisk of Brighton Park when they meet in an eight round bout at the Cicero stadium tomorrow night. Phagan is conceded to be the harder puncher, but Sisk is expected to offset this advantage with his superior knowledge of boxing.

Phagan's recent knockout of Heckie Schuman and his victory over Puggy Weinert have made him a favorite on the west side, while Sisk's conquest of Danny Delmont has earned him a following.

Ray Tramble and Bud Saltis, who are matched in the six round semi-windup, completed training yesterday. Tramble's recent one round knockout triumph over Young Stuhley of Kewanee, Ill., has made him a slight favorite. The rest of tomorrow's card follows:

Freddy Miller vs. Lou Vine.
Tod Kelly vs. Freddy Dolph.
Joey Palazolla vs. Bill Riordan.

NATIONAL SWIM TITLE EVENTS TO START TODAY

New York, March 29.—[Special.]—The national championship swimming meet will begin tomorrow at the New York Athletic club and will continue for three days. Entries have been received from all of the swimmers who won national collegiate titles last week and from many club stars from all sections of the country.

Among those who will compete are the three Spence brothers, Walter, Leonard, and Wallace, of the New York Athletic club; Al Schwartz of the Illinois Athletic club, Chicago; Don Horn of Northwestern university, John Schmeller of the University of Michigan, Ted Wiget of Stanford and Jack Medica of Seattle.

Crane and Tilden Meet for Mat Title Tomorrow

The wrestling championship of the city high school league will be decided tomorrow afternoon at Tilden Tech when Crane meets Tilden. Crane won the north section title, Tilden won the central.

MAROONS GREET THEIR NEW GRID PILOT TOMORROW

Practice Starts Monday Under Shaughnessy.

Clark Shaughnessy, successor to A. A. Stagg as football coach at the University of Chicago, is expected to arrive on the Midway tomorrow morning, ready to start spring practice next Monday. Forty sets of equipment have been issued to men who aspire for places on Shaughnessy's first Maroon team. The former Tulane and Loyola of New Orleans coach will be greeted by the biggest squad that has turned out for spring work in years.

At least ten men who are likely to be regulars next autumn, including Capt. Pete Zimmer, who had fine prospects with the track team as a 220 yard sprinter, will be on hand next Monday.

Among the outstanding freshmen prospects are Jay Berwanger, half back from Dubuque; Ewald Nyquist, 190 pound full back from Rockford; Bob Perretz, former captain at Hyde Park High, who is a guard; Bob Deems, 200 pound tackle from Long Beach, Cal.; John Rice, 225 pound tackle from Dallas, Texas; Merritt Bush, 215 pound tackle from Long Beach; and Ralph Balfanz, all-Texas end from Abilene.

350 Boys to Compete in West Park Baseball Meet

Three hundred and fifty boys representing 16 parks will compete in the west parks' annual indoor baseball tournament, which starts Saturday evening. Games will be played in intermediate and junior divisions Wednesdays and Saturdays.

New York, March 29.—Further improvement was made by United States treasury bonds today, with both long and short term issues sharing in the rise. Short term obligations, however, were in most active demand.

Easy money, especially the rate for federal funds, is contributing to the growing optimism in government bond circles, already quickened by a continuous flow of gold and currency back into the banking system.

Utility Regulations Feared.

Price movements were mixed in domestic corporate bonds. Utilities continued their slump and rails were irregularly lower.

The weight of impending governmental regulation affecting the utility business was too much for sentiment toward utility obligations, and prices were lower in both the high grade and speculative categories. Prime utility obligations to sell at lower figures included issues of American Telephone, Consolidated Gas of New York, Hudson County Gas, Louisville Gas and Electric, Pennsylvania Power and Light, and others.

German Issues Slump.

German issues, concerning which there is considerable doubt about continuance of full service payments, sagged badly, with the government 5½s in the van. Such issues as Central Agricultural Bank 6s, Prussia Free State 6s, Wuttemburg Hydro-Electric 7s, and German Government 7s dropped from one to four points.

Some of the trading in foreigns was on the buying side, with most orders coming from London. Australian and Argentine issues were slightly higher.

Zenith Radio.

Please send me information concerning the standing of Zenith Radio stock.—E. A.

Zenith Radio corporation, one of the important manufacturers of radio receiving apparatus, has reported losses since April, 1929.

This experience has been shared with other radio manufacturers. The ready market for high priced radio receiving sets in 1929 and prior years and the large profit margin per set fostered production. When the market became glutted and purchasing power of the public decreased it became evident that too much productive capacity existed in the industry.

There followed a period of liquidation. Many firms went into receiverships. Formerly expensive sets were sold at sharply reduced prices. This fostered innovation of midget low-priced sets on which profit margin is small.

Zenith sustained a loss of $202,000 in the six months to Oct. 31, 1932, against loss of $128,000 in the corresponding 1931 period. Loss for the year ended April 30, 1932, was $399,000 against loss of $483,000 for the preceding year. Loss for the year ended April 30, 1930, was $258,000.

The company has continued to maintain a good current position. On April 30, 1932, current assets were $1,286,000 and current liabilities were $231,000. Cash and government securities alone were $815,000. Working capital was $1,054,000, against $1,403,000 the year before.

Profit and loss deficit was $555,000. There are outstanding 500,000 shares of no par capital stock. Nothing has been paid on the stock since Nov. 1, 1929. The stock is just a speculation.

Dallas Power and Light.

Please send me a report on Dallas Power and Light 6s, due 1949.—N. E. R.

Dallas Power and Light company, a subsidiary of Electric Power and Light corporation, furnishes electricity to Dallas, Tex., and suburbs.

On Aug. 6, 1932, a press dispatch reported that the Dallas city council accepted a rate reduction agreement tendered by the company which, it is estimated, will reduce gross receipts by about $250,000 a year.

Gross for the twelve months to Aug. 31, 1932, was $5,288,000 and charges were earned 3.70 times. Gross for 1931 was $5,399,000, against $5,352,000 for 1930. Charges were earned 3.45 times in 1931, 3.05 times in 1930, and 3.57 times in 1929.

On Dec. 31, 1931, current assets were $1,347,000, and current liabilities were $1,014,000. Funded debt was $12,100,000. In January, 1933, the company sold $500,000 first 5s, due 1952.

The 6s due 1949, 7½s due 1949, 5s due 1952 and the 5½s due 1954 are secured by a first mortgage on all properties. They are sound.

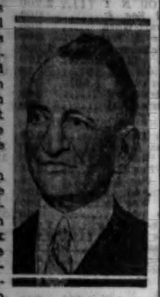
RESERVE BARES A PLAN FOR ONE BANK SYSTEM

List Three Powers of Congress.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 29.—Three constitutional powers under which congress could force all commercial banks in the country into one system and six devices which would accomplish that end were set forth today by the federal reserve board.



SEN. CARTER GLASS.

Adding fresh impetus to the movement for doing away with the state bank systems, the board made public a memorandum drawn up last December by its general counsel, Walter Wyatt, for the use of Senator Carter Glass [Dem., Va.]. Although President Roosevelt is understood not to want sweeping legislation at this session, the reserve board is known to believe that now is the time to strike.

Beside setting forth legal ways for forcing all banks into one system, the memorandum reiterates the reserve board's contention that basic banking reform must sweep away the dual banking systems. Competition is steadily weakening banks both in and out of the reserve system, it is said.

List Congress Powers.

The Wyatt memorandum sets forth the three powers which congress might use to unite the banking system as follows:

1. The power to create the national banking system and the federal reserve system as useful instrumentalities to aid the federal government in the performance of certain important governmental functions includes the power to take such action as congress may deem necessary to preserve the existence and promote the efficiency of those systems.

2. Having provided the country with a national currency through the national banking system and the federal reserve system, congress may constitutionally preserve the full benefits of such currency for the people by appropriate legislation.

3. The existence of a heterogeneous banking structure in which there have been more than 10,000 bank failures during the last 12 years constitutes a burden upon and an obstruction to interstate commerce, and congress may enact appropriate legislation to correct this condition.

The reserve board has already drafted these powers into the emergency banking bill.

Means of Forcing Unification.

Six devices which could be invoked in order to force a unified banking system are listed in the Wyatt report. They are:

1. It could forbid the receipt of deposits subject to withdrawal by check by any individual, partnership, or corporation other than a bank organized under the laws of the United States and provide suitable penalties for violations of this prohibition.

2. It could impose a prohibitive tax on all checks and similar documents drawn on, or payable at, banks not organized under the laws of the United States.

3. It could forbid any officer of the United States or any reserve bank, national bank, federal land bank, joint stock land bank, federal intermediate credit bank, or federal home loan bank to receive in payment, on deposit for the purposes of exchange or collection, or for any other purpose, any check drawn upon any bank not organized under the laws of the United States.

Might Curb Loans.

4. It could forbid any bank organized under the laws of the United States to make loans or extend credit to, or deposit any of its funds in, or permit the use of any of its facilities by, any commercial bank not organized under such laws.

5. It could forbid the deposit of public funds of the United States in any bank not organized under the laws of the United States.

6. It could exempt all national banks from taxation, state or federal, except taxes on real estate.

Weekly Index Shows Easing in Wholesale Food Prices

New York, March 29.—(AP)—The index of wholesale food prices, compiled by Dun & Bradstreet, Inc., stands at $1.57 this week, against $1.60 last week. The drop of 1.9 per cent contrasts with a decrease of 10.8 per cent in the corresponding period of 1932.

Cleveland Gets Big New Bank with U. S. Aid

Washington, D. C., March 29.—(AP)—The government today agreed to lay down dollar for dollar with Cleveland citizens in opening a new national bank there to replace the Union Trust company, the city's largest bank.

A committee representing Cleveland banking interests, headed by J. R. Kraus, chairman of the board of the Union Trust, reached satisfactory terms with the Reconstruction corporation after an all day conference.

The agreement, approved by Secretary Woodin of the treasury, stipulates that the corporation will take one dollar of preferred stock for every dollar of common stock invested by Cleveland citizens in capitalizing the new institution. Originally the Cleveland group wanted the corporation to subscribe on a 2 for 1 basis.

The new bank is to have a capital of not less than $10,000,000 and not more than $20,000,000. It will be known as the First National Bank of Cleveland.

Offer Stock to Citizens.

The first step, Kraus said at the conclusion of the conference, will be arranging the flotation of a $5,000,000 stock issue for subscription in Cleveland. In the event $10,000,000 in common stock is subscribed the Reconstruction corporation will subscribe another ten million of prefered. The capitalization of the new bank, however, may be at any figure between $10,000,000 and $20,000,000.

It is planned to pay out to depositors 40 per cent of their deposits at once. Under restricted withdrawals placed in effect a month ago by the Union Trust company 5 per cent already has been available. The additional 35 per cent is to be realized through a $20,000,000 loan from the Reconstruction corporation and proceeds of liquid assets of the Union Trust.

"The old bank," Kraus said, "will be liquidated gradually and in an orderly manner to the best interests of the depositors. Assets of the old bank will be purchased by the new bank strictly at their face value."

Detroit Company to Dissolve.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Detroit, Mich., March 29.—Late this afternoon Thomas G. Long, attorney for the Detroit Bankers' company, filed a petition for voluntary dissolution of the company. This move, he said, was regarded by a majority of the board of directors of the company as the best step possible, and of much benefit to stockholders and creditors. Pending the appointment of a permanent receiver, Long asked that a temporary receiver be named.

At the same time Long filed an answer to a suit instituted for depositors asking for the appointment of a receiver. William Henry Gallagher, attorney for the depositors, told Judge Richter the purpose of the suit would be served by the appointment of a receiver as requested by Long.

In the answer to the suit filed by Gallagher the Detroit Bankers' company denied that the First National bank, Detroit, is unable to pay its depositors or that it is now insolvent, saying the bank could proceed under the protection of the emergency banking act if so permitted by the controller of the currency.

The answer also denied that there inevitably will be an assessment of $25,000,000 against the stockholders, but admits that some of the constituent companies of the Detroit Bankers' company may be insolvent.

Confer On Priest's Charges.

While the court hearing was in progress, Prosecutor Harry S. Toy, Gregory H. Frederick, United States attorney, and John S. Pratt, special agent of the department of justice investigating national banks in Detroit, conferred on charges against Detroit banks made by the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin in a radio speech. Neither Toy nor the federal officials would discuss their conference further than to say that they had "agreed to cooperate."

EIGHT BREWERIES AGREE TO SHIP BEER IN TANK CARS

Announcement was made yesterday by the General American Tank Car corporation that it has signed contracts with eight nationally known brewing companies for the transportation of beer in refrigerator cars. These companies are Schlitz, Pabst, Blatz, Miller [High Life], and Gettleman, all of Milwaukee; Schoenhofen [Edelweiss] and Prima of Chicago, and Goetz [Country Club] of St. Joseph, Mo.

The General American company operates some 20,000 refrigerator cars, of which it is prepared to put 2,000 in beer service at once if required. The company also will provide special tank carriers for the transportation of beer in bulk from the parent brewery to local bottling works.

Before prohibition the company operated 300 special tank cars in the transportation of California wines and is ready to put this number into service again.

Leaders Seek Way to Loosen Insurance Knot

In an attempt to bring a centralization of effort into life insurance affairs badly tangled by a hodge podge of state moratoria and governors' edicts, executives of twenty-five midwest and southern life insurance companies met all day yesterday in closed session at the Palmer house.

Present were important members of the American Life Convention from practically all states in the Mississippi valley, as well as a number of representatives of companies not belonging to the organization.

Individuals who attended the session asserted that the delegates present were concerned primarily with building up a uniform plan of action on suspension of policy loan and cash surrender privileges.

Restrictions in Most States.

Speakers pointed out that the majority of states now have restrictions on policy loans and surrenders—notable exceptions being Louisiana and Oregon. No two, however, have quite the same rules.

The result is, according to the speakers, that companies operating in a number of states are badly confused and bookkeeping methods are greatly complicated.

Particularly desirable, it was pointed out, is an immediate agreement of some kind upon the extent of the power of the various state commissioners. When the Illinois insurance commissioner declares a moratorium on policy loans, for example, does this mean that companies domiciled in Illinois may not pay out policy loans in Louisiana, where no restrictions have been imposed?

An attempt was also made to determine what will happen when various states begin to remove the moratorium lid. Delegates expressed dismay at all the publicity accorded the policy loan and cash surrenders by the various moratorium actions, pointing out that a lot of policy holders who hadn't thought much of these privileges might begin to think of them now.

Regret Banking Activities.

Emphasis was laid upon the fact that policy holders are not actually losing money and that the prime functions of life insurance have been carried on without interruption. Death claims are being promptly met, maturing endowments are paid, and payments on annuities and installments to widows are regularly made.

It was explained that life insurance companies had never expected to be forced so heavily into the banking business. The banking moratorium forced the lid on. Now the executives present agreed the big job is to get it off.

Company representatives asserted that the moratorium has had a decidedly depressing effect upon the producing of new business.

FREIGHT TRAFFIC SHOWS INCREASE IN LAST WEEK

New York, March 29.—(AP)—Further improvement in freight traffic last week was reflected in loading reports made public today by leading railroads.

New York Central's volume totaled 72,976 cars, against 70,694 in the previous week. Chicago, Rock Island and Pacific handled 17,597 cars, against 15,970 in the week ended March 18, while Chicago, Burlington and Quincy loaded 17,135 cars, compared with 15,054.

The Pennsylvania's traffic increased to 70,892 cars from 68,261. Chicago and North Western loadings totaled 11,934 cars, against 10,987. Illinois Central's traffic totaled 22,304 cars, against 19,632. Wabash handled 10,700 cars, compared with 9,901.

Other figures were: St. Louis Terminal, 26,273, against 24,194; Missouri Pacific, 17,193, against 15,620; International-Great Northern 5,061, against 4,239; Gulf Coast lines, 2,079, against 2,167; Missouri-Kansas-Texas, 6,008, against 5,414; St. Louis-SanFrancisco, 10,858, against 10,223.

U.S. Gains $1,494,400 Gold; Earmarked Stocks Reduced

New York, March 29.—(AP)—Monetary gold stocks of the United States gained $1,494,400 today through a decrease of $1,452,800 in foreign earmarked stocks and receipt of $41,600 from China.

H. A. Brassert & Co. to Build Coke Ovens for Oil Concern

H. A. Brassert & Co., engineers and contractors, have contracted with the Globe Oil and Refining company to build a battery of Knowles coke ovens for the Lemont, Ill., refinery.

CLUB'S STAINLESS STEEL BAR WON'T BAR THE THIRSTY

The private clubs in Chicago are preparing for the return of beer. The Chicago Athletic association, 12 South Michigan avenue, has placed an order for a 30 foot stainless steel bar with the Bastian-Blessing company, one of the leading manufacturers of soda fountains, bars, and bar equipment. Installation of the new bar will begin Monday.

L. G. Blessing, president of the Bastian-Blessing company, said yesterday that the plant working force has been doubled since the passage of the beer bill. The working schedule of the force has been increased from three to six days a week, he said.

Beer Brings New Problem for Life Insurance Chiefs.

The return of beer has created a new problem of the life insurance companies. In the old days before prohibition extra rate listings were imposed on employés of breweries because of the hazards of brewing. Since then improvements in manufacturing conditions and the adoption of safety decives in bottling works has removed a good part of the risk, according to insurance company officials. According to one official, insurance ratings on persons engaged in the beer business will largely be determined upon the production methods which legislation establishes for brewery products. There are 65 distinct occupations in a single brewery, each of which will have to be given individual consideration.

Lake Shore Club Bondholders Offered Privileges of Members.

Here's a club which has taken an action designed to propitiate holders of its bonds, which are in default, and at the same time to increase the revenues of the organization. The Lake Shore Athletic club has addressed invitations to the holders of its 6½ per cent first mortgage bonds to accept courtesy cards which will entitle holders to full privileges in all departments of the organization's home at 850 Lake Shore drive. All the holder of one of the bonds has to do is to fill out a card certifying his ownership.

Federal Reserve Puts Bank on Wrong List; It Stays Closed.

Officials of the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago are still trying to discover how one bank too many got on the list of Illinois member banks authorized to reopen.

The president of this bank, knowing well that his institution was not prepared to reopen, got in touch with the reserve authorities immediately after receiving a telegram authorizing his reopening. "Keep closed," was the gist of the new orders from Chicago. "You got on the wrong list. It's a mistake."

George Reynolds to Be Given Gold Watch by Bank Employes.

George M. Reynolds, former chairman of the board of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, before his departure for California on Saturday will be presented with a gold watch, the gift of officers and employés of the bank. Accompanying the gift will be a handsomely engraved book containing the signatures of 1,400 donors.

WEATHER HELPS POWER OUTPUT IN LAST WEEK

Electricity output for the Chicago district for the week ended March 25, in harmony with the increased national output, rose to 90,526,000 kilowatt hours from 87,533,000 kilowatt hours for the week ended March 18.

This represents a decrease of 6.1 per cent from the output of 96,400,000 kilowatt hours for the corresponding week in 1932. The electricity output for the week ended March 18 had declined 10.2 per cent from that for the like week last year.

The improvement in the Chicago district is partially due to more favorable weather conditions this year as compared with last year.

According to Edison Electric institute, electric power output in the United States for the week ended March 25 was 1,409,655,000 kilowatt hours, as against 1,375,207,000 kilowatt hours for the week before.

Bill to Limit Life Company Investments

Springfield, Ill., March 29.—(AP)—Investments and real estate holdings of Illinois life insurance companies would be regulated by the division of insurance under a bill introduced today by Representative George Fitzgerald, Democrat, Chicago, chairman of the insurance committee of the house.

ERNEST PALMER.

Prepared by Ernest Palmer, superintendent of the division of insurance, the bill would restrict life insurance companies of Illinois to investments in the following types of securities:

Bonds or securities of the United States government.

State bonds or securities of the United States government.

State bonds and bonds and securities of counties, cities, and municipalities under certain restrictions.

Valid tax anticipation warrants under similar restrictions.

Mr. Palmer said companies might loan up to 80 per cent of the market value of securities, but only on securities in which they are permitted to invest.

Standard Oil of Ohio Reports $1,206,361 Loss

Cleveland, March 29.—(AP)—The Standard Oil Company of Ohio today reported a loss for 1932 of $1,206,361.

STOCKS LOWER; TRADING BACK IN DOLDRUMS

Roosevelt Plans for Market Weighed.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 29.—The stock market declined again today. Traders took it for granted that the spirited upturn in yesterday's late dealings was due to nothing more than technical conditions. Nothing came out of the overnight news grist to explain the rise, and operations lapsed once more into the give and take routine that has characterized dealings for the last two weeks.

Volume was even lighter than that of yesterday, falling to around 625,000 shares. Prices sagged in all departments. Losses in the more active issues amounted to a point or so.

President Roosevelt's proposal for regulating the sale of securities as a means of protecting the investor was a leading topic of conversation in boardroom gatherings, but, so far as could be determined from the price movement, it had little effect on speculative sentiment one way or the other.

Roosevelt Message Expected.

The President's views on the matter had been fairly well known in a general way and a message to congress had been anticipated, so that it did not take the street by surprise. As the message gave few details of the plan, however, the disposition was to withhold judgment until more light is forthcoming.

Brokers reported that their clients seemed to approve the proposal in its general terms, inasmuch as it suggested fuller publicity and an attempt to prevent some of the more flagrant abuses that have accompanied efforts to raise capital in some instances in the past.

Predominating opinion is that nothing short of some extraordinary development at Washington or a sharp revival in business will jar the market out of its current doldrums and put it in the way of a sustained swing. Outside interest in the day by day doings on the exchange seems almost to have disappeared.

National Distillers Rises.

Two or three individual stocks provided whatever in the way of feature there was to today's session. National Distillers common and preferred rose from 1 to 3 points, the former to a new high for the year and the latter to a record high—later given up—on news of the senate's passage of the Copeland bill permitting larger distribution of whisky on prescription. The company has a lot of liquor in its warehouses awaiting a legal market.

Hershey Chocolate, on which the dividend was reduced to a $3 annual basis from $5 late yesterday, opened nearly 10 points lower, but recovered about a third of its early loss in later dealings.

Fox Film, newly made subject of receivership proceedings, sold down into the penny class under a flood of liquidating orders.

Speculative favorites, such as American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Union Pacific, and United States Steel, approximated yesterday's lows on losses of a point or more each.

The rails made a show of strength in the first hour or so, but declined later.

New York traction shares were in the limelight on announcement of a conference looking to final plans for unification of the different lines.

Cont. Illinois Bank Likely to Close Affiliate

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

An important step toward winding up the affairs of the Continental Illinois company, investment affiliate of the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company, was seen in La Salle street yesterday in the reduction made by the company in its selling organization.

Because of the stagnant bond market the company has been operating for several months with a skeleton force. The further reductions in personnel was regarded as one more step toward closing out the company's business. Activities for some time have been restricted to government securities.

Condition Indicates Divorce.

Anticipation by the bank's management of the eventual divorcement of the affiliate is reflected in the liquid condition which the securities company has maintained for several months.

The Glass banking bill which passed the senate at the last session of congress provided for the divorcement of affiliates by banks within a 5 year period. Several leading banking institutions, including the Continental, have indicated that they would not await for the final enactment of the bill nor would they take advantage of the five year grace period.

More Cash Than Stock.

Liquidation of the Continental Illinois company could be accomplished without difficulty. The company is now capitalized at $2,000,000 with surplus of $500,000. The report for 1932 showed that it had more than $2,000,000 of its capital and surplus in cash. The stock of the company is trusteed for the benefit of the stockholders of the bank.

The company was incorporated in 1929 with capital of 20 millions to take over the bond and securities business of the bank. It acquired one million shares of the common stock of the Chicago corporation. This investment was written down to $1 when the company reduced its capital to the present figure.

CHICAGO MART ASKS VIEWS ON LISTING POLICY

The Chicago Stock exchange has asked officials of all companies whose securities are now listed for their views on the new listing policies recently announced. The exchange particularly seeks the views of corporation executives on the policy of full publicity of financial affairs recommended in the new program.

"We believe such a policy is to the mutual interest of the corporation, the exchange and the security holder," the letter states, "and is merely in keeping with sound present day practices. We ask that you discuss the enclosed principles with your board of directors and that you may be good enough to write us regarding these policies."

Coöperation of the companies whose stocks are already listed is necessary to make the new policies effective. The requirements adopted are not retroactive.

Farm Co-op Seeks to Ship Grain Here by Waterway

Negotiations for facilities in the Chicago area for receiving grain shipped via the Illinois waterway have been completed by the Farmers' National Grain corporation, George S. Milnor, general manager, announced today. Milnor said it is expected to increase grain movement to Chicago. He said the grain corporation made extensive use of the waterways in 1932 for transporting of oats and corn.

ILLINOIS BANKS MOVE STEADILY TO SOUND BASIS

Reorganizations to Be Started Soon.

BY HOWARD WOOD.

With approximately 98 per cent of Chicago's banking resources freed from all restrictions imposed during the moratorium and with approximately half the downstate Illinois banks already having resumed business, the task of reorganizing the state's banking structure next week will move on to the second stage—the reorganization of class B banks.

For two weeks state banking officials, headed by State Auditor Edward J. Barrett, have followed a program laid out during the moratorium. According to this program the restoration process was to proceed in three stages.

1. The opening of the banks that were entirely sound and able to withstand any strain, that is, class A banks.

2. The reorganization of class B banks, those which were not strong enough to meet emergency demands and which could not readily raise the additional capital needed to place them in an impregnable position.

3. The liquidation of class C banks, those which were found to be impossible to reorganize.

Keep to Program.

This program will not be deviated from, Auditor Barrett said yesterday.

"I am aware that in other states banks are being reopened with restrictions on deposits," Mr. Barrett said. "In Illinois, however, there is no basis under the law for that type of reopening."

The first step—that of reopening class A banks—has not yet been completed, but probably will be by next week.

The Stock Yards Bank and Trust company, biggest banking institution outside the loop, is expected to announce a reopening on Friday as a national bank. The announcement may follow the regular meeting of the board of the Federal Reserve bank of Chicago.

Into this bank F. H. Prince, railroad and stockyards magnate of Chicago and Boston, has poured the $4,500,000 which was required to place it in an impregnable position.

Will Open 26 Others.

Twenty-six downstate banks and others in Iowa, Minnesota, the Dakotas, and Montana will be able to reopen simultaneously. These outside banks have had to remain closed simply because they carried their balances with the Stockyards bank.

It is understood that stockholders of the Stock Yards bank at first wanted to liquidate, but have since come to the conclusion that the stockyards district needs the institution and that eventually the investment will be highly profitable.

The Mid-City Trust and Savings bank, at the corner of Halsted and Madison streets, is another which is working hard to meet the requirements for reopening. This bank, it is understood, will open as a national bank when and if its backers raise the $750,000 which is required to place the institution on an entirely sound basis.

The Madison-Kedzie Trust and Savings bank and the West Side Trust and Savings bank, 1201 South Halsted street, are likewise attempting to meet requirements set up for their reopening.

Increased Estate taxes

. . . and your family

The Federal estate taxes which became effective last June are many times greater than they were and may seriously affect your plans for providing an income for your family after you are gone. These taxes may properly be minimized in various ways. We shall be glad to discuss this with you and your attorney at any time.

RISE IN WHEAT ENDED BY SALES OF FARM BOARD

Early Advance Canceled; Finish Irregular.

WHEAT IN U. S. FUNDS

Wheat prices in world's markets reduced to United States funds at rates of exchange when they closed:

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Houses with eastern connections were again aggressive buyers of wheat futures yesterday, and sufficient orders were put into the pit to cause an advance of 1¾ cents after an early break and lift the May to 54⅛ cents, the highest level since last November with the exception of March 17. Heavy selling, which the trade attributed to the farm board, was in evidence on the way up, but it was not until the May crossed 54 cents that it was effective in checking the bulge.

According to trade gossip the buying was based on inflation talk, rather than on crop damage reports, and the persistent efforts to draft a farm relief bill at Washington to bring about higher prices is also being commented on. Profit taking on the advance was heavy and there was also selling against offers. The finish was on a fair reaction from the top, with prices ⅛ cent lower to ¼ cent higher, May wheat showing the decline. The May option was 53⅛ to 53⅝ cents at the last, with July at 54 to 54⅛ cents and September at 54⅝ to 54⅛ cents.

Cash Corn at New High.

Cash corn continued to gain on the futures, with No. 2 and No. 3 white selling at 32 cents, a new high since last September. The basis was up as much as ¾ cent, compared with the May, with the best shipping demand in a number of days. Sales by Chicago handlers were repotred at 250,000 bushels.

The brisk demand for the cash corn, with No. 3 grades at May price to 2½ cents over in the sample market, increased the buying of futures. May sold up to 30⅛ cents, a new high since last November. Profit taking caused a setback from the best figure, with net gains of ¼ cent. May was 29⅜ to 29⅞ cents, July 31⅝ cents, and September 33¼ to 33⅝ cents at the last.

Oats and Rye Strong.

Oats and rye followed other grains, with oats closing unchanged to ⅛ cent higher. May was 18⅜ to 19 cents and July was 19⅛ cents at the finish. Rye gained ⅝ cent for the day, with May and July at 39⅜ cents. Cash barley was quoted at 1 to 2 cents higher, which failed to have any effect on futures.

STEEL OUTPUT RISES TO 15 PCT.; INQUIRIES GAIN

Steel production has risen to 15 per cent of the country's capacity from 14 per cent last week, says the Iron Age today. Chicago steel output has increased fractionally. The Daily Metal Trade has observed the same improvement.

"The tone of the finished steel market is decidedly stronger despite the absence of active demand," states the latter magazine. "Considerable forward inquiry is in the market. At the same time a sprinkling of spot business is furnishing some encouragement to the mills."

Special circumstances, rather than a broad improvement in business, have impelled the increase in national steel production.

While the brewery business has not been of large proportions so far, the steel trade has received additional orders for plates for tanks, and has sold some hoop steel for beer barrels, according to the magazine.

"A prospective development is the introduction of tin cans as a substitute for bottles," it is said.

'STAY AT HOME' FASHION BOOMS TOY BUSINESS

The American Toy fair, introducing more than 50,000 new items for children's educational play and adult amusement, will be held May 1 to 13 at the Stevens hotel, under the auspices of the Toy Maufacturers of the United States, it was announced yesterday. Over 2,000 store buyers have agreed to attend.

"A steadily enlarging market is being opened for playthings, in spite of the depression, due to public education on the value of play to build character and counteract delinquency," said William C. Lehman, president of the Toy Manufacturers association. "Due to adult interest in home recreation, game sales have increased 100 per cent during 1932 and for 1933 are already 30 per cent ahead of last year.

"In 1932, unsettled prices delayed store buying 50 per cent until the eleventh hour and created a toy shortage. For 1933 the toy makers have been planning 12 month production programs."

NATIONAL STEEL DOESN'T INTEND TO CUT SALARIES

Pittsburgh, Pa., March 29.—The National Steel corporation, sixth largest steel company in the United States, has no intention of redusing salaries or hours of work of its salaried employés, say the chairman, Ernest T. Weir.

"My recent statement opposing wage cuts in the steel industry represented the unanimous opinion of those with whom I am associated in this company and intended to apply to salaried employés as well as wage earners," said Mr. Weir.

"We have not in any way changed the opinion which it expressed. Salaried employés have done their part equally with wage earners in bearing the industry's burden of depression."

BANKS CLEARING MASS OF CHECKS DUE TO HOLIDAY

Chicago, as Center, Adopts Unique Methods.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

The bank holiday and the slow reopening of banks throughout the country has thrown a huge amount of detail work on the major banking establishments. This is particularly true of the Chicago banks which, because of their central location in the nation, are said to handle a greater number of checks daily than the banks of any other city, including New York.

The situation at the Continental Illinois National Bank and Trust company is typical of the other Chicago organizations. This house has what it calls its "figure factory" operating above the third floor, a section that the public seldom penetrates. In one of the divisions of this department there are endless belts carrying bundles of checks from one group of workers to another, just as automobile parts are carried on conveyors in the great assembly plants.

Machines Save Many Workers.

Dominating every activity in the "figure factory" are batteries of hundreds of adding machines and calculators. Without these devices it is stated that under present business conditions the bank would have to have around 100,000 workers on its pay rolls instead of the 2,700 it now employs.

During the time the holiday was in effect many large establishments continued to take checks from their customers to be put through when the banks reopened. Many persons, believing that the holiday might last indefinitely, paid bills by checks. They figured that their creditors might as well hold the checks as themselves and if the banks reopened, all well and good. These and other factors resulted in a great accumulation of checks awaiting the reopening of the major banks.

The end of the holiday found the Chicago banks facing a situation which was without precedent. The big bankers had thousands of checks drawn on banks in every corner in the country and they didn't know whether the banks were open or not. At the Continental the officials established a department which was to keep a record of the open banks. Checks received were to be sent to this department before being put through for collection.

Keep Check on Reopened Banks.

Then, too, the task of compiling lists of open banks, with batches of twenty-five or so opening their doors coming in every half hour, became so complicated that it interfered with the original purpose of the department.

A large room was hastily fitted up on an upper floor which was occupied by around 150 employés in a newly organized section called the return item department. This was to supplement the service of the transit department by handling all checks returned for various reasons.

All persons wanted to have checks collected speedily. With checks coming from cities and villages in all parts of the country, it was impossible to know when a bank was reopened. And most people wanted their checks to be presented for payment coincident with the reopening of banks. Many guessed wrong.

The consequence was a steady stream of returned checks. Some of the checks had as many as seven bank stamps on the back, with the result that it was often difficult to decipher the name of the last bank to handle the check or of the original depositor. The microscope became the most useful instrument in the department.

This department has been handling around 14,000 checks a day, compared with 2,000 daily in normal times. The transit department was taking in around 175,000 checks for a day or two after the end of the holiday.

R. H. MACY & CO. SHOWS EARNINGS OF $2.20 A SHARE

New York, March 29.—(AP)—The pamphlet report of R. H. Macy & Co., Inc., for the fiscal year ended Jan. 28, 1933, shows net profits, after taxes, depreciation and reserves, amounting to $3,287,151, a decrease of $1,912,339, or 36.7 per cent, compared with the preceding year.

Earnings per share on the 1,509,556 shares of common stock outstanding, less 12,143 shares owned by the corporation, amounted to $2.20. For the previous year, on the 1,437,672 shares then outstanding, less 4,094 shares owned by the corporation, earnings were $3.62 per share.

Total sales amounted to $118,879,251, against $144,611,817, a decline of 17.79 per cent.

AM. RADIATOR HAS '32 LOSS OF $5,990,986

New York, March 29.—The American Radiator and Standard Sanitary corporation, and subsidiaries, had consolidated net loss of $5,990,986 in 1932, after all charges. This compares with net income of $200,646 in 1931. The foreign exchange loss for the year was $422,596.

Gross sales for 1932 totaled $61,295,561 against $98,731,385 in the previous year. Current assets on Dec. 31 were $50,988,891 compared with $64,116,432 at the end of 1931, while current liabilities were $6,674,865 against $7,816,655.

Winnipeg Grain Market Names Group to Move Pit

Winnipeg grain exchange members have appointed a committee of six to work out a plan for removal of the exchange and its facilities to Fort William to escape the high taxation in Manitoba province. It is reported that more than 90 per cent of the membership is in sympathy with the move.

COTTONSEED OIL.

New York, March 29.—(AP)—Bleachable cottonseed oil was quiet but steady on a little covering and local buying with the market closing 3 to 7 points net higher. Sales were only 3 contracts or 450 barrels. Bleachable spot closed 3.80c. May 3.97c, July 4.10c, September and October 4.25c.

HOGS STRONGER AT OPENING, BUT CAN'T HOLD GAINS

Packers Say Prices Have Outstripped Pork.

The hog market made a good start yesterday, prices being strong to 5 cents higher and for a short time prices touched the highest level since last Saturday. Little support was behind this mild upturn however, and prices soon began to ebb. The close was barely steady with the average of Tuesday and as much as 5 to 10 cents under the high point yesterday forenoon.

Packers complain that the "cut out" value of the hog is not as satisfactory as it was several weeks ago. The wholesale market for pork, both cured and fresh, is above the low point of the winter, but has not kept pace with the advance in live costs.

They point out that at current wholesale quotations, top grades, the kinds that sold yesterday at $4.00 and $4.05, are cutting out at $3.70 wholesale. This means hogs are 30 cents per hundredweight away from breaking even, were the packer able to move all pork into consumption immediately at going prices.

Cattle Prices Mixed.

Price trends were mixed in the cattle market yesterday. Light and handyweight steers cleared quickly at steady to strong prices, with places slightly higher in the best grades averaging under 1,100 pounds. Weakness was uncovered in mediums, while some of the heaviest steers went at slight declines. Good action was found in the plainer classes again, particularly the steers selling at $4.25 and under.

The trend for several days has been toward a narrower price range. Steers of beef merit sold within a range of $3.75 to $6.40, the two extremes showing a spread of $2.65.

Good to choice cows at $3.00 to $4.00 yesterday were fully steady. Those of cutter flesh brought $2.50 and below, with canners at $2.00 and under. Yearling heifers at $4.25 to $5.25 were steady. Choice veal calves at $5.00 to $5.50 showed 25 cents loss.

Lambs Come Heavy.

Lambs are coming heavier and fatter. In yesterday's arrivals were 400 that averaged 124 pounds and sold at $5.00, which is about the heaviest average for a consignment of that size seen on the market in many years. Stock without fleece averaged 96 pounds at $4.85. Light shorn lambs sold up to $5.30, while most of the light and handyweight wooled stock cashed at $5.25 to $5.50. City butchers paid the $5.65 top for light weights. The market was a draggy affair and mostly 25 cents lower than Tuesday. Matured sheep maintained a steady basis, light ewes going for slaughter at $3.00. Yearling wethers, including a few twos, brought $4.10.

ROSIN AND TURPENTINE.

MEN

On account of the steady progress and growth of our company, we are in position to take on a few additional men from time to time; the requirements for these positions are quite reasonable so that the average man of good habits and clean cut appearance will stand a fair chance of being employed.

This company has been uniquely successful throughout the depression; in fact, 1932 was our third successive record sales year. In line with our steady gains in business, the earnings of our men are higher; not only are most men earning $100 and $150 a week but in recent months we have issued many weekly pay checks running between $100 and $250; throughout the entire country. These earnings, it should be remembered, are made by more experienced men, but there are exceptions where new men have quickly advanced themselves to the higher incomes.

Similar positions are available in our local office to a few more men who are qualified to learn this work, and who would be satisfied with earnings of $127 monthly while learning, provided they saw opportunities for increases with experience; the men accepted for these positions will be given a very thorough course of training free of charge.

For personal interview, call at 430 Hyde Park Bank Bldg., 53d and Lake Park-av., Thursday morning, March 30, 9 to 1.

INVESTMENT BANKING.

EARN WHILE YOU LEARN.

Are you ambitious? Have you a good personality? Have you a better than average intelligence? Have you good standing in your neighborhood? If so, you can obtain an opportunity to learn the investment banking business with a firm which has been in business a long time and one whose business has been growing during the depression. You will receive an intensive course in the fundamentals of economics and related subjects under a plan which will be given opportunity for advancement and good pay is limited only by your ability.
